POLICE THINK MURRAY MAY REPEAT TRICK

the Florence bank, and at the time made it clear to officers he never intended to come to Portland again if forced to hide out as he declared no man had a chance in Portland against the stool pigeons.

Officers believe that Murray has seen in following up his usual system, a chance to avoid the stool pigeon danger entirely and keep himself in the clear.

Chance Not Great.

The main chance he would run would be in relatives or friends of the family held in hostage of inquiring into their absence from their usual scenes, and it would be a simple matter for the visitor to be forced to join the involuntary hosts.

Officers state that in Portland it often happens that next door neighbors do not even know one another's names, and have no interest in each other's actions, and it would be possible for the three convicts to lay out this way for some time, live on the fat of the land, face but little danger and make their getaway in a leisurely fashion, possible in a luxurious limousine, and attired in the height of fashion from the wardrobe of their captives. By using members of the family as hostages and imposing the same threats that were imposed on the Newman family, they could eventually place a long distance between themselves and Portland before officials were advised as to what had happened.

Chehalis Has Clue.

Chehalis, Wash., Aug. 21.—Three men in an Oregon licensed automobile who are believed to be the escaped convicts from the penitentiary at Salem, stopped at Toledo, 20 miles south of here at 10 o'clock last night.

Word was flashed here to Sheriff Frank Roberts and all his deputies as well as the city police took the field at once, covering all roads in this vicinity.

According to the officers here this is the most reliable clue on the missing men that has developed in southwest Washington.

The word came from the owner of a service station at Toledo, known as the Teapot Dome station. The car containing the three men drove up to the station and asked to have their gas tank filled. The man complied all the more readily when he noted the men all carried rifles. When the tank was filled the motorists told the man to "go to hell" and sped away.

Sheriff Roberts was at once notified by telephone and deployed along the highways on both sides of the city and a dragnet was thrown out all over Lewis county points.

CHILD VAGRANTS FOUND IN RUSSIA BY THOUSANDS

Moscow, Russia.—One of the soviet Russia's greatest unsolved problems is to relieve the thousands of vagrants, destitute children, beggars and unemployed which overflows every city. The greatest of these evils is the appalling number of vagrant and destitute children, which Commissar of Education Lunacharsky characterizes as "the most terrible ulcer on the soviet union's body." Many of these juveniles are addicted to drugs. Others are infected with disease. All are a positive menace. "Hundreds of thousands of these children," said Lunacharsky in a recent appeal on behalf of them, "have degenerated into a state of semi-savagery, some bordering on idiocy, while others have had their wits so sharpened and excited by collision with life that they have become dangerous enemies of society."
