INHERITANCE TAXES FORCING NATION IN SOCIALISTIC REGIME

But he maintained that "we should be sure the money raised by taxation is needed and that it is economically spent."

He said that last year in the state of New York $20,000,000 was the total sum collected in state and local district taxation alone, to say nothing of what was paid by New Yorkers into the federal treasury.

INDICTMENTS FOR MURDER TO BE ASKED

(Continued from Page One.) morning, hoping to get a glimpse of one or all of the accused convicts, but there was nothing for them to see. District Attorney Carson announced that none of the accused had made any application to appear before the grand jury, and there is no indication that they will be called.

Fail to Find Gun Led by Ellsworth Kelly, one of the trio of convicts who escaped, two guards of the penitentiary accompanied by Sheriff O. D. Bower and Deputy District Attorney Lyle J. Page searched for more than two hours yesterday in the wooded area ten miles east of Salem near the Willard school house in an effort to locate the gun, supposedly hidden there, with which it is believed Guard J. M. Holman was shot. The search was unavailing. The search was continued today but there to obtain guns and the finding of pieces of clothing at the spot where the convicts left and tied Zina Zinn, taxi driver, and C. V. Ivie. The gun is wanted by the district attorney as valuable evidence which might establish who killed Guard Holman and if found, it is said, will be damaging evidence to the innocence plea of Ellsworth Kelly who denies participation in the shooting fray.

Hidden Under Log According to the story told by the convicts, the gun was hidden under a log somewhere in the region where the three left Zinn and Ivie. Hundreds of fallen logs were searched yesterday as the officers went over carefully the entire region. Kelly displayed seeming cooperation in the hunt, but declared that he was unable to find the trail where the trio had fled after leaving the Zinn car.

The gun, according to Kelly, was secured by him at the order of Bert "Oregon" Jones, the fourth member of the gang killed in the fight at tower 1. It was a single barreled shotgun, he declared, and was unloaded. He maintained that he chose the unloaded gun in preference to two rifles beside it that were loaded because he did not want to take part in any shooting. Authorities.
