KID KAPLAN BESTS HERMAN RETAINS TITLE

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 28.—Louis (Kid) Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., remains featherweight boxing champion of the world, having fought a draw in his 15 round contest with the former Californian, Babe Herman before 20,000 persons at Brannock park last night.

Several experts were inclined to favor Herman, who showed better generalship, but a whirlwind finish had much to do with the referee's decision. After the contest an examination revealed that Kaplan had suffered a broken finger in the eighth round. Kaplan said that after the eighth he had been able to use his right hand only as a guard.

In this sixth meeting between the two men there were clinches and dancing and few clean punches were landed. Herman fought his usual stand up battle while Kaplan apparently had little of the driving power he showed in fighting his way through to the championship last winter in the tournament sponsored by the New York state athletic commission.

Last night's combat was staged after a scolding afternoon in which Kaplan barely managed to scale the 126 pounds which is the limit for his weight. Police had to be called before the weighing had been completed, Herman's manager claiming the title because, as he said, the champion was over the limit. Representatives of the Connecticut boxing body, however, and the arguments by declaring that Kaplan had made the weight.

Approximately 50 singers are expected to take part in the program to be given by the Verden Harmonie, a local singing club, Sunday afternoon at the state fair grounds, beginning at 2 o'clock. A general entertainment has been planned following the song fest. A banquet has been arranged for all those who take part in the singing. It has been announced that singing is not necessarily reserved for members of the club, but anyone who likes to sing may take part. Refreshments will be served by everybody following the entertainment.

Fairfield and Aral Market Roads to Be Jointly Constructed

According to an announcement made by County Judge Hunt today improvement of the four-mile stretch of road past Aral's corner and of the Fairfield market road, will be carried on at the same time during the five-year program and if funds are available in any year for laying four miles of road, two miles will be laid past Aral's corner and two miles on the Fairfield road. The following year the work will be similarly divided, until the roads are completed.

However, before work is done on either, the road will be constructed to Aral's corner from McNary's corner.

The statement of Judge Hunt will set at rest the fears expressed by the four miles past Aral's corner would merely be put on the program as a tail to the kite and that the four miles would not be completed until the balance of the program was finished.

"We are unable to say now whether we can pave any of these roads involved," said Judge Hunt. "We are certain, however, that we will have enough money to complete both of them during the next five years in carrying out the program making good gravel or macadam roads, and it is possible we will be able to pave them. That remains to be seen as to whether we can have the funds available. But no favorites will be played on either road. We will lay an equal amount of road on each one when the work is done."

This will mean that the four-mile stretch past Aral's corner will be completed considerably ahead of the Fairfield road, there is considerably more mileage on the Fairfield road.

at Keno was reported in dangerous condition and the Klamath county court, which was present stated it would repair the bridge at once.

"When we have a bridge that is unsafe there should be no argument regarding the closing of it and its immediate repair," declared Highway Commissioner Van Duzer. "We ought not to quibble as to who should pay for the repairs."

Chairman William Doby announced the state was willing to pay for these needed repairs, but Klamath county announced it would take them at once.

J. C. Smith, of Lone Fir farm near Newberg, presented a petition for the approval of a franchise for a toll road between Portland and Tillamook along Trask river, via Gaston.

It is proposed to make a super-road district composed of Yamhill, Tillamook, Washington, Marion, Clackamas and Multnomah counties, for the voting of bonds for the proposed highway. Smith would hold the franchise in trust for the public road district and would turn it over for $1 as soon as the district was organized.

Opposes Toll Road

He opposed the granting of toll road franchises to private corporations. So does the commission so far as it has refused to approve any of the numerous proposals. Smith stated the Trask river road would make the distance between Portland and Tillamook by an auto road 45 miles.

Bids were rejected on the bridge over Hunter's creek near Gold Beach in Curry county on the Roosevelt coast highway and on the rest room at Emigrant Park on the Old Oregon Trail.
