

RECENT RAINS INCREASE YIELD OF ENGLISH HOPS

HOP YIELD TO BE LARGER THAN FIRST ESTIMATES

According to advices from England the English hop crop which was recently estimated at 275,000 cwt. as against 505,000 cwt. in 1924, will be increased to 325,000 cwt. by rains which have fallen since the preceding estimate. The news of the increased estimate came in a cable today to a local dealer. Weather conditions are favorable, the cable states.

In a recent issue of the Kentish Observer, English paper just received here, the hop controller for the empire is reported as saying that the stock of hops now held by the controller is valued at 700,000 pounds. The report states that these have depreciated in value in the average somewhat and it would be difficult to give a statement as to their actual value unless the effects of the removal of the control is seen.

The same paper also carries articles regarding efforts being made in the Kentish district to form the hopgrowers into a co-operative organization, and mentions the holding in various places in the district promoting such a plan.

PRICE CUTTING OF EGGS BEGUN BY PRODUCERS

Portland, Sept. 1.—Price cutting in the local egg market started today following an announcement made yesterday before the dairy exchange, by E. J. Dixon, manager of the Pacific County Poultry Producers, that his association would offer eggs commencing this morning at 4 cents under the exchange price.

The announcement means open warfare between the dairy exchange and the egg association.

Relations between the independent dealers and the association on the exchange have been strained for some time and further advances in the market yesterday resulted in the open break.

For the past week the local egg market has been advancing although it is still considerably out of line with other coast markets. Extras were high and sold at 42 cents during the season and another offer of 42 cents was made by a member on the floor. This started the fire works.

In the view of the association manager that the local egg market is being manipulated in the interest of storage operators, as every cent advance in the open market naturally holds the price of storage eggs. Association officials point to the fact that there are approximately 80,000 cases in Portland cases as compared to 55,000 cases a year ago.

Other members of the exchange which consists of dairy produce dealers and jobbers, provision houses and packing interests, maintain that there is another side to the fight. They assert that the association manager has always forced a policy of holding the local market down in order that he can show his grower members a good return on eggs shipped east as compared to the Portland price.

Is Cooperative

The association is a co-operative organization consisting of some 1200 poultry producers in the state. Their eggs are assembled at the Portland warehouse, graded and shipped in cartons to the eastern markets, largely to New York. Under this collective marketing, they reduce costs of handling.

Local prices have been advancing recently, attaining the 42 cent level on extra today. This level is considered unobtainable by the association manager, but other exchange members maintain that it is unobtainable with San Francisco 45 cents, Los Angeles 50 cents and New York 55 cents on coast extras.

Today buyers are offering 37 to 38 cents in the country for white henner's extras and 33 cents for mixed colored standards delivered Portland.

Portland Market

White sprines are now on a parity with colored stock in the local poultry market, both being quoted at 25 cents. Light hens are firm at 15 to 16 cents; heavy hens 24 cents and Pekin ducks 25 cents. Receipts moderate and the demand good.

Country dressed calves are strong at this month, 25.00 to 26.00, little offered along the street. Choice light calves quoted up to 16 1/2 and 17 cents. Hogs tender with choice light pork selling at 18 1/2 to 19 cents.

Lower grades of cube butter are higher today with prime firsts and firsts each posted a half cent up at 46 1/2 and 45 1/2 cents respectively. Extras and standards firm and unchanged.

OSTRANDER GOES EAST TO ATTEND RATE HEARING

Ed Ostrander, member of the public service commission, will leave tomorrow for Chicago where he will be among representatives of western commission opposing an increase in freight rates to be asked by western railroads at an interstate commerce commission hearing here on September 3. The railroads ask for 10 days in which to present their case. Clyde B. Altchison, chairman of the interstate commission, has suggested that the hearing be limited and that local conditions be brought out at hearings held in various western localities at later dates.

The western railroads first asked for an increase amounting to approximately 11 per cent, but later modified their application so that about 5 per cent is asked. Among other things they proposed a uniform advance equivalent to 1 cent a bushel on grain, 15 cents a ton on coal, 7 1/2 cents a ton on gravel, sand and stone, and 20 cents a ton on lime and plaster.

The carriers are demanding increases sufficient to bring them a return of 5.75 per cent on their investments, which they claim they are not receiving now. However, the question of depreciation enters into this phase in an important way, the railroads claiming no depreciation at all and valuations far in excess of valuations fixed by the interstate commission in some cases. In the case of the Great Northern it is claimed by the roads that the valuation is $25,429,340 or 84 per cent in excess of the valuation as fixed by the interstate commerce commission. In the case of the Los Angeles-Salt Lake road it is claimed that while the interstate commission in June 1914 fixed a valuation of $48,569,647, the valuation at that time was really over $70,000,000.

BOBBY FRANKS' FATHER IS SUED BY TEACHER

Chicago, Sept. 1.—Walter T. Wilson, formerly a teacher at the Harvard school, where young Bobby Franks was a student last year when he was kidnaped and murdered by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard J. Loeb, yesterday filed a damage suit for $100,000 against Jacob Franks, the boy's father, his attorney and police officers who took him in custody for questioning before the child's fate was known.

Neither Wilson nor his attorneys would comment on the proceedings.

Tokyo.—C. Della Torre, Italian ambassador to Japan said Italy would pay her debt to the United States.

FLAX GROWN IN BENTON COUNTY OF HIGH QUALITY

Fiber flax can be grown successfully in Benton county. Specimens of flax that are on exhibition in the chamber of commerce indicate that a fine quality of fiber can be grown, says the Corvallis Gazette-Times.

Need for the trials was furnished by the Portland chamber of commerce and the trials were arranged by C. R. Briggs, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber. A large number of different soil types were represented in the tests and there are some large differences in the yield and length of fiber.

"In parts of the Willamette valley it has been shown that early seeding is much superior to late," says Mr. Briggs, "and when it is remembered that we get our seed late in the planting season and that some of it was not sown for some time after its receipt it is easy to see that we did not give the crop the best chance.

"Also, none of the farmers who cooperated in the trials knew that they would be asked to do so. Consequently, they did not have an opportunity to select the type of soil that they would want to under other conditions. They did not have a chance to prepare the land as they would want to under conditions of commercial culture."

Lucie Sells Crop

Walter Locke of Mountain View community is the only one who harvested and sold his crop. From the half acre which he planted and cut with a mower he took 1970 pounds of fiber. This was sold to the flax industry at Salem at the contract price of $22 a ton.

On other plots yields were taken from one thousandth part of an acre. Representative portions of the field were taken so that a reasonable true estimate could be obtained.

It was not possible to get yields from H. J. Lester, Fairplay community; A. A. Larson, Albion; or W. H. Richards, Willamette, who cooperated in the trials.

Results Listed

Others who cooperated in the trials whose flax is on exhibition at the chamber and the results they got on the soil types are as follows: Tom Bell, Corvallis, Wapato clay loam, 27 inch fiber; A. L. Stevens, Willamette, all loam, 3950 pounds 16 inch; George Hulse, Mt. View, Wapato clay loam, 4100 pounds of 27 inch fiber; Fred Richard, Irish Bend, Newberg clay loam, 4800 pounds of 27 inch; W. M. Higgins, Monroe, Chehalis silty clay loam, 2600 pounds of 19 inch; R. A. Billie, Mt. View, Olympic clay loam, 1250 pounds of 12 inch; W. A. Schmidt, Fairplay, Willamette silt loam, 1800 pounds of 16 inch; C. L. Tallman, Mt. View, Cove, 2600 pounds of 19 inch; Jake Rohrer, Wells, Wapato clay loam, 3000 pounds of 16 inch; Virgil Avery, Corvallis, Dayton silty clay loam, 2000 pounds of 18 inch; F. A. Parker, Westwood, Olympia clay loam, 3300 pounds of 21 inch.

SALE OF ROUND UP TICKETS IS STARTED

Pendleton, Or., Sept. 1.—Today officially marks the opening of the "Roundup season" in Pendleton and cowboy hats, fond shirts and high heeled boots make up the uniform in vogue. This morning saw the ending of the long vigil maintained by ticket seekers, who have kept their places in line for a week, with the opening of the Roundup ticket booth. Following the Roundup tradition J. J. Hanley, local saddle manufacturer, was first in line. Tonight a cowboy dance staged by the Happy Canyon association will give the Roundup period an official start.

FOREIGN DEMAND FOR DRIED FRUIT AGAIN FALLS OFF

Trade advices from London and Liverpool are to the effect that the improvement in the United Kingdom demand for dried fruits which occurred during April and May was not maintained during the month of June, states American Trade Commissioner John H. Hynes, Rome, Italy, in a report to the United States department of commerce. The business done in Australia, Greece and Smyrna raisins and currants was extremely light during June.

Latest information indicates that the early reports of short Australian sultana and currant crops were exaggerated. Australian 1925 production is now placed at 25,000 tons of Sultana, 10,000 tons of currants and 5000 tons of raisins. While this is a "short" crop considering the low average which came into bearing this year, so far as actual tonnage goes it is approximately the same as the 1924 output.

Early reports that the 1925 crop of Australian Sultana and currants was of inferior quality also appear to have been exaggerated. The first shipments of Sultana which arrived in England in August were below average, but later arrivals are said to be equal in quality to 1924 crop fruit.

WHEAT AND CORN SHOW DECLINES

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The wheat opening, 3/4 cent off to 5/8 up, December $1.53 to $1.53 1/2, and May $1.57 1/2 to $1.58 1/2, was followed by an inactive general advance and then by a drop which took December down to $1.52 1/2 and May to $1.56 1/2.

After opening unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, December 32 1/2 to 33, the corn market rose all around, December touching 33 1/2 cents.

Oats opened at 1/2 cent decline to equal advance, December 43 1/2 to 44 1/2, prices later eased down somewhat.

Provisions were higher, in line with corn.

The finish of wheat was irregular at 3/4 net decline to 1/2 gain, December $1.52 1/2 to $1.52 1/2 and May $1.57 to $1.57 1/2.

PEACH PRICES IN CALIFORNIA NOT YET FIXED

In California peaches it is understood that prices will not be named until after the end of next week when the Peach Association's directors will meet for that purpose, says the California Fruit News.

It may, accordingly, be accepted as a good guess that September 7 may see a peach price settlement by the association. In the meantime, the trade is rather waiting on this latter situation and there is no change in the dried peach market and comparatively little new business passing. Apricots are steady at previous values, as are all of the other lines this week. Peaches are easy under a larger supply than anticipated as a result, for one thing, of the lower prices east for fresh.

Prunes continue to be active and more particularly recently in the foreign demand. England and France have been buying prunes rather actively of late. The French crop is so nearly nominal that they will need to import good quantities from here for home use. Germany is not so actively in the California prune market just now, their markets there waiting rather upon the more definite settling down of the Russian-Serbian situation, and, also, there are no active quantities of the small sizes, which they usually want over there, that are offering from here just now. Packers for the most part have sold out their prunes purchased from the association and are now doing business largely against purchases from growers outside of the association, which are being bought at comparative values so that the list is unchanged. Most packers are quoting steadily upon the same list as the association.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—The wheat opening, 3/4 cent off to 5/8 up, December $1.53 to $1.53 1/2, and May $1.57 1/2 to $1.58 1/2, was followed by an inactive general advance and then by a drop which took December down to $1.52 1/2 and May to $1.56 1/2.

After opening unchanged to 1/2 cent higher, December 32 1/2 to 33, the corn market rose all around, December touching 33 1/2 cents.

Oats opened at 1/2 cent decline to equal advance, December 43 1/2 to 44 1/2, prices later eased down somewhat.

Provisions were higher, in line with corn.

The finish of wheat was irregular at 3/4 net decline to 1/2 gain, December $1.52 1/2 to $1.52 1/2 and May $1.57 to $1.57 1/2.

OREGON GRID STARS TO REPORT SEPT. 15

Eugene, Or., Sept. 1.—First practice for the 1925 football season of the University of Oregon football men will be held September 15, according to Richard Shore (Dick) Smith, coach. The university will open one week later.

The first game of the season for the Oregon men will be October 3, against the Multnomah Athletic club of Portland.

All but three or four members of last year's team will be back this year, and prospects are fairly bright, according to the coach. Some of the players are already in Eugene, ready for the season to open.
