Work has begun building a new $3000 elevator at the dock of the Salem Transportation company. It was announced yesterday by Fred Carr, head of the company. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, he states in an effort to get it completed by Sept. 15, when it is hoped to bring the Northwestern through to Salem. The elevator, when completed, will make it possible to unload and load the vessel in 8 hours, where now it takes more than 12 for a maximum cargo of 200 tons. The platform of the elevator will not move straight up, but will be lifted on an extremely steep incline. Use of the elevator will also eliminate most of the danger of breakage, Carr states.

A move to establish a service club day at the state fair this fall, died when put up to the Salem Rotary club here this noon. At the request of Mrs. Ella S. Wilson, secretary of the fair board, the matter was put up to the Rotary club here, with the understanding that if the matter was actively taken up it would be sponsored by the local Rotary and other service clubs. Members of the club expressed their desire to help out with the fair board program, but stated that in their belief it would be impossible, on short notice, to arrange for fitting entertainment for visiting members of service clubs from other cities in the state. They believed that unless the proposition was put over in first class style it should not be put over at all.

1200 Pounds of Butter Stolen By Monmouth Thieves

Monmouth, Or., Sept. 2—Thieves who broke their way into the Monmouth creamery about midnight last night stole 1200 pounds of butter that had been prepared for shipment this morning and carted it away in a truck. People living near the creamery heard the truck about midnight, but did not think it unusual until they heard of the robbery this morning.

MOTHER NOT TOLD OF PLIGHT

Havre de Grace, Md., Sept. 2.—(A. P.)—Word of the plight of her son, Flight Commander John Rodgers, on the navy seaplane PN-9 No. 1, reported down in the sea between San Francisco and Honolulu, is being kept from his mother at the Rodgers' home in Sion Hill, a half mile from here.

Admiral John A. Rodgers, U. S. N., retired, has kept in touch with the search for his son through the Associated Press. Commander Rodgers' mother, who is advanced in years, was worried over her son's attempted San Francisco-Honolulu venture and it has been feared that she would not withstand the shock of learning that he had met with mishap.

Fourteen years ago John Rodgers flew from College Park, Md., to the home of his parents after having studied aviation under the Wright brothers. That flight attracted national attention.

PN-9 NO. 3 TOWED TO PORT FROM OCEAN

This we did after we had passed over the destroyer William Jones at the 200 mile station.

"Darkness had fallen and no ships anywhere in sight. We broke an aerilon and stabilizer in alighting. The ocean was fairly calm and we were not greatly perturbed.

"For several hours we drifted about, waiting for help. It was not a pleasant experience. The wind was rising and our disabled craft was tossed about considerably.

Jones To The Rescue

"Finally we discerned a speck to westward and the lights of a ship. We knew that help was at hand. It was the William Jones. She was a welcome sight. She overhauled us and a boat put out. Then we were taken in tow. We stuck to our craft while she was towed in. That's about all there is to the story."

Among those who greeted the intrepid airmen on their arrival at Crissy field was Mrs. Arthur Gavin, wife of Lieutenant Gavin, next in rank to Commander Rhody. Mrs. Gavin flung her arms about her husband and clung to him for several minutes. The other members of the crew were N. H. Craven, pilot; C. J. Sutter, machinist, and C. W. Allen, radio operator.

"We'll be ready to make another start tomorrow, if ordered," declared Lieutenant Rhody.

Whether PN-9 No. 3 would accompany the PB-1 when she takes off from San Pablo bay at 2 p. m. Thursday had not been determined early today.

Breaking of the oil feed line was similar to the trouble experienced by the PN-9 No. 3 on her recent flight here from San Diego. Similar difficulty disabled the PB-1 on her test flight from Seattle more than a week ago. Mechanics are devoting their efforts to remedy this weak spot on both seaplanes.

GIBSON GIRLS PLAY AT BLIGH

An unusual attraction appearing at the Bligh theater is the famous bathing girl act of the Gibson Girl orchestra.

The fame of the Gibson girl was established long before these charming young musicians dreamed of their present careers, and they are worthy exponents of the name, for they present a combination of beauty and ability that is more than pleasing. Their appearance alone justifies their engagement, but they are, in addition entertainers of rare talent, and their act is one of the most delightful of its kind.

The girls of this organization are all students from various colleges. With one or two exceptions they have played together during a period of three years, and with each an artist in her own field, the combination is a happy one.

Manager Bligh has held this company over for two extra nights—tonight and tomorrow night—they will appear each evening at 9:15 and also will appear at the special children's 5c matinee on Thursday at 2 p. m.

The orchestra is managed by and the party chaperoned by Mr. Gibson, father of three of the girls.

INDEPENDENCE MAN SLUGGED AND SHOT BY TRIO OF THUGS

work. Monday he drove Lloyd out to the George Wells farm near Buena Vista.

It was Thursday that Lloyd and his two companions, one of whom is described as being about 22 years old and the other about 40, were first seen together around town. This morning all three were found to be missing. All three are described as being well dressed.

Robbery Motive.

The authorities are of the belief that the three deliberately selected the lonely spot on the road where it runs through an alder swamp to kill Baun, intending to rob the body and steal the car after hiding the body, but that they were scared away before they could get the body into the brush by the approach of Sheriff Richards' car, the headlight of which could have been seen a mile or more back on the higher road.

When Sheriff Richards and Mr. Hoy discovered the body it was lying with the head and trunk almost in the brush and the feet protruding into the road, about eight paces beyond a small culvert. The left hand trousers pocket had been pulled inside out, but the fact that a wallet with $12 or $14 in currency and some silver in the right hand pants' pocket had not been touched supports the theory that the slayers had been forced to flee.

Mrs. J. A. Lucas, who lives about 300 yards south of where the body was found, said that she heard the three shots and immediately afterward heard an automobile speed past going toward Albany. Hop pickers in the Sam H. Irvine yard, also south of the scene of the tragedy also said that they heard the shots and saw a Ford touring car go south along the road at a high rate of speed.

Heard Three Shots.

Sheriff Hooker notified police officers and sheriffs both north and south to be on the watch for Lloyd and his companions and the car last night, but up to noon today nothing had been heard. A complete description of Lloyd has been secured from persons who observed him in Independence and from Cottage Grove, where he formerly resided with his parents. His parents have recently moved to Hillsboro. Lloyd is said to be about 25 or 26 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, stockily built, dark complexioned with black hair and eyes, and weighs about 150 pounds. He was dressed in a blue serge suit and wore a straw hat.

Coroner Keeney, who took charge of the body, said this morning that he had known Baun intimately and thinks it very likely that his slayers sought to get him to carry a load of liquor for them, but that Baun refused and was then killed, perhaps after putting up a fight. Lloyd and his companions die nothing while they were in Independence and it is figured that they were bootleggers getting ready for the hop picking season, when thousands of people flock into the hop yards.

Inquest This Afternoon.

The coroner's inquest will be held at the Keeney undertaking parlors this afternoon, and it is probable that the funeral will be held tomorrow.

Baun was married and leaves a widow, Hilda Baun, but no children. He is also survived by two brothers, Irwin and George Baun, the latter a farmer living two miles west of Monmouth, and three sisters in the east. Baun was an overseas war veteran and a member of Independence Post No. 33 of the American Legion. He had been a resident of this city for the past 13 years.

MITCHELL TO EXPOSE ARMY AIR SERVICE

department until that branch had given approval.

Some months ago at the expiration of his temporary appointment as brigadier general, Mitchell was relieved as assistant chief of the United States air forces and returned to his regular army rank of colonel. He previously had expressed disagreement with his superiors in the war department concerning the defense value of the air forces.

Colonel Mitchell's new book is written for the public and phrased with terms which are not bewildering to the non-flyer. One chapter is devoted to bombing operations against warships bearing the caption:

"United States Air Forces Prove that Aircraft Dominates Seacraft."

The book is replete with cartoons which poke jibes at the war department. The author declared that those had been inserted by the publishers without his knowledge.
