

WANT DIAMOND LAKE GIVEN TO STATE OF OREGON

Portland, Sept. 10.—Opposition to interference by the federal government with state control of fish and game was voiced before the United States senate public lands subcommittee here at a continuation of a hearing on the question of the use of the public domain. Assertion was also made that Diamond lake, which is in the Unquappa national forest, should be given to the state of Oregon, and should not be made a part of Crater Lake national park.

H. H. Clifford, of Canyon City, chairman of the state game commission and A. E. Burdick, former state game warden, both expressed their views.

Clifford declared that "the people of Oregon are opposed to any further encroachment by the federal government on our game control."

"We feel the state is much better able to regulate these things than they are in Washington," he said. "The attempt to put through congress the Lake and Harney counties game refuge bill, and then turn the management of the refuge over to the forestry bureau was opposed by every true sportsman in the state."

CONTINUE HUNT FOR LOST PLANE

Destroyer Paul Hamilton, off Hawaiian Islands, Sept. 9.—(A. P.)—The first day's search of the waters southwest of the Hawaiian Islands for some trace of Captain John Rodgers and his crew of four men who dropped from eight miles on a non-stop air cruise from San Francisco to Hawaii, resulted in no success yesterday, despite the vigilance of the destroyer squadron.

Working on the lee side of the islands, the searching squadron was about 300 miles from land last night, cruising so as to form a tight cordon around the area where the ill-fated seaplane is believed to have dropped into the sea more than a week ago.

Indications are that little hope exist that the plane will be found on the windward side of the islands so double attention will be given to the leeward side.
