

BULL MOVEMENT FAILS TO BOOST BUTTER PRICES

Portland, Sept. 17.—Vitalling buttermakers, attending the National Creamery Buttermakers' convention here, were treated to a bit of excitement on the dairy exchange yesterday afternoon when bull cliques sought control of the egg market and were bitterly opposed by "bear" interests. Trading was brisk and the competition keen during the entire session. In the egg division approximately 250 cases were sold to stem the advance.

Extras were forced up to 46 cents, then back to 45 cents. A sale of extras was made at 46 cents just as the gavel sounded but it was not counted and the quotation on extras remained at 45 cents, the previous day's close.

First, too, were higher at former level but an advance in putters and current receipts could not be prevented.

Bullies closed a cent higher at 35 cents and current receipts 1 1/2 cents higher at 35 cents net.

Outside egg markets continue on the upward trend and this factor along with the light receipts of fresh stocks helped maintain the local market in a strong position.

Butter firm and higher. Cubes advanced briskly during yesterday's session of the dairy exchange. Extras closed a cent higher at 53 cents. Standards and prime firsts advanced a half cent at 51 1/2 and 50 cents respectively. The local butter market is in a very strong position. Advances in prices are expected by the trade but no change had been announced by local creamerymen at a late hour today.

The local hop market is now well established at the 26 cent level. Sales of 200 bales were made yesterday at that figure and other sales reported as high as 26 1/2 cents. The market is strong and remaining stocks in strong hands. Buyers are having a hard time interesting holders even at the new levels.

Declines in hog prices at the yards is having a weakening effect on country dressed pork. While not enough pork has come during the last two days to actually test the market, buyers along Front street are unwilling to go over 17 1/2 cents for tops. Choice light veal holding at 17 cents.

FEW HOPS SOLD FOR 26 CENTS

The hop market has jumped up to 26 cents, with sales being reported at that figure, one 500 bale lot near Dallas said to have been sold and William Bell also has sold a block at that price.

Growers are still holding tight, even at these prices, and while great quantities of hops have been sold a number of growers will not talk to buyers at all at the figures now suggested.

UMPOUA PRUNE CROP CONSISTS OF LARGE SIZES

Rossburg, Sept. 17.—The Italian prune crop being harvested in Douglas county this year is unusual in many respects. In the first place small sizes are not to be found. Packers and others interested in the harvesting of the crop state that by far the bulk of the prunes will run 40 or better. Orchard runs are found to be almost straight 38-40s, a condition which is quite unusual. Although peaches are smaller in size, yet they too are running high and are excellent in quality.

Another noticeable fact concerning the Italian, is that they are lacking in "bite" and have an unusually high sugar content. Usually the Italian prune is somewhat tart and has a peculiar biting flavor. This year they are almost as sweet as the French prune.

The prune harvest is rapidly nearing a close, and drying is expected to continue for only about a week more. Driers have been closed down on most of the orchards now, as the crop generally was quite light, but in the southern part of the county, where the orchards had a normal crop, picking will continue several days.

PRUNES SCARCE BUT LARGE SIZE

Reports coming in continue to the effect that the prune crop in this section will not be as heavy as expected, although sizes will be larger and the crop is said to be running very strong to 38s. The prunes also have a heavy sugar content.

Canners are still exceedingly active in their campaign to pick up green prunes for canning.

WALL STREET STOCK MARKET TREND HIGHER

New York, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Buoyancy of the high priced industrial specialties featured the resumption of the broad upward movement in prices in today's stock market. A further easing of money rates stimulated local activity in the low-priced industrial, more than a score of which were lifted to new peak prices for the year. Bear traders feeling for the top of the market indulged in some experimental short selling after mid-day but offerings were generally well absorbed. Rails again lagged behind the rest of the list. Extreme gains of five or more points were recorded before the end of the third hour by American Can, General Baking, General Electric, Kellogg, Wheel, Railway Steel Spring and Pullman. Oil showed a somewhat firmer undertone on reports of a decrease in crude production last week.

The close was irregular. Profiting caused a reversal of the price trend in the late dealings, although trading turned dull on the reaction. American Can fell six points from the day's high, and New York Airbrake receded four, while losses of 1 to 2 1/2 points were common among the railroad, steel and motor issues. Total sales approximated 1,600,000 shares.

 for each $100 invested in the firm. Another minister, the Rev. W. Gilchrist, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of San Francisco, was one president of the company, but is "not actively interested although he still is a stockholder." Rev. Towner declared.

Stock was sold on the agreement that 50 per cent of the earnings would be devoted to religious work. "The basic principle of the corporation," God has approved of this purpose and program in a series of remarkable providences."

Officers and stockholders, Rev. Towner said, are virtually all members of the congregation of his church.

"Those who have subscribed for stock know the officers of the company and know the high purposes for which the project was undertaken," the San Jose pastor said. "Only the most worldly could doubt our motives and purposes and they have no financial interest in the company and have not been solicited."

Portland, Spokane, Seattle and other cities of the northwest, reads Dr. Doney's article, "regard his concert as significant musical events. He has a perfectly memorized repertoire of more than 3000 selections, including the organ parts of such oratorios as 'The Messiah,' 'Elijah,' 'The Holy City,' 'Buck's The Coming of the King,' and others."

The article goes on to say that Professor Roberts is generally known through the city of Salem, belongs to the Salem Kiwanis club, and is "known only to freshmen and newcomers as 'professor.'"

"When it is possible for a blind Welsh immigrant," the article concludes, "to turn tragedy into triumph, both getting and giving the durable satisfactions of life, it somehow raises the question if it is not time for a lot of us to push hard back out of the way and do some driving ahead."

The piece is entitled, "Tommy Roberts With Sight Destroyed Achieved Success as Music Professor in College."
