SENATORS PLAY ALBANY-TOLEDO NINE ON SUNDAY

An entire new ball club is in prospect for the Salem Senators when they cross bats with the combined Albany-Toledo nines at Albany next Sunday afternoon. Under college ruling it will be impossible for the college stars to perform which will take five of the Senators off of the list. The men lost through the starting of school will be Ashby, Heinhart, Adolph, Gouton and Maples.

Their loss will be felt to some extent but Edwards has several fast players lined up for their places.

Edwards has lined up a man from O. A. C. to play third base in place of Maples. The new player was a stellar performer on the O. A. C. freshman team last year but is not going out for athletics this year so can play with the locals. Bud Green, star hurler of the Mt. Angel nine, will also be on deck to be used in any position.

Green can hit the ball hard and plays nearly any place he is put. Another Mt. Angel star will be out with the Senators, a man to play the shortstop position. Spec Keene will be bat at first base.

"Lefty" Schroeder is coming down to pitch. Barham will be on deck in case he is needed and probably "Biddy" Bishop, who has been unable to be out for the last couple of weeks due to the hogchicking.

A good outfielder will more than likely be with the locals. Edwards has named his name as a surprise to the Salem ball fans. It is a known fact that the new player will be pretty good and will add considerable to the local chances. Several other stars are being lined up by Edwards and the locals ought to win from the team although they are no cinch.

Edwards is bringing all of the fans to go to Albany that are able to as he thinks that the locals might need a little support.
