The Indians were a little weak at times on the defense but held like stone walls when in the shadow of their goal posts. Only once were the visitors able to penetrate the Indians' defense for a touchdown. Kerr raced through for fifteen yards in the second quarter and scored their only score. The attempt for the extra point failed.

Charles DePoe, right half went through the Commerce on a series of line bucks for the first Indian score in the first quarter, the kick being blocked. The score at the end of the first half was tied at 6-6. Thompson, big, husky, fullback for the redskins was determined in the last half and went through for ten yards gain, time after time. The visitors were unable to stop him and he opened up big holes in the Commerce line. Thompson went through for two touchdowns in the last half. He also carried the ball most of the way to let the Indians complete a forward pass to Charles George to put the ball on the eight yard line. Charles DePoe then carried the ball across. The kick being kicked. From then on it was all Chemawa, with the Commerce eleven being on the defense all the time.

The locals completed two nice forward passes for good gains. One of the Commerce passes was intercepted by Thompson on the Commerce thirty yard line and the Indians were able to score from there. For eight winters past the school has operated a soup kitchen during the winter months and here the children have been able to obtain for two cents a generous bowl of rich, nutritious soup, and should hungry tots be lacking the necessary price, the soup was forthcoming nevertheless. This was made possible through the generosity of the late H. Hershberg, who, each month, made good the deficit. The school board, who have been responsible for the salary of the kitchen manager, expect to take over the financial end of the work that the little folks may still have their hot lunch at a nominal price.
