McAfee, secretary of the Salem Business Men's league. Some grocery stores will not open at all on Wednesday, Mr. McAfee stated, and all will be closed by noon of that day.

Three clothing stores were still holding out this afternoon, he said, having announced their intention to remain open throughout the day. The others had signified their intention to close by noon.

"The action of these three is somewhat by way of retaliation for what happened last year," said McAfee. "On Salem day a year ago they all agreed to close. Then it rained, and one store changed its mind, and opened for business. McAfee expressed the belief that on Wednesday it would be unanimous among the stores to close by noon.

Bank officials this afternoon had not decided about their closing hours.

U. S. MUSICAL COMEDY FIZZLES WITH CUBANS

STORM PREVENTS EFFORTS TO RAISE SUNKEN SUB

New London, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Advice to the submarine base here at noon said sea and weather at the S-51 wreck were so bad that rescue operations had to be suspended.

The Century, 100 ton crane vessel, was ordered to Block harbor and the Monitor, a larger crane vessel, was ordered to a harbor at Block Island near tow.

Although every effort was being directed toward rescue work, only slight hope was held out that any of the 33 men who went down with the craft would be found alive. Naval officials say that the number who went down with the submarine is 33, as one man at first listed as aboard had been found at home in New York visiting a sick relative.

One message only was received at the submarine base, during the night, during the ring of naval vessels on guard and at work during the hours of darkness at the spot where the S-51 went down.

That message received shortly after 10 o'clock by wireless, informed the anxious persons ashore of the futile effort to hoist the S-51 by means of a 100 ton crane, the Century. It also dampened the hopes of the naval men that some of their comrades of sea were still alive in the battered shell of the undersea vessel.

of the operators of concessions were apparently satisfied. Aside from handling the traffic, which gave little trouble, the police were kept principally busy locating lost parents and children.

Two lost children have made things a bit exciting for the fairgrounds police this far. The first boy to lose himself in the grounds was Edwin Daniels, who was picked up Sunday night, and later returned to his mother, who lives in a tent at the corner of Fifth and Gaines avenue. The boy was six.

Little four-year-old Alfred Duncan was returned to his father, David Duncan, a concessionaire on the grounds, after he had found that he had separated himself from his parent, in the rabbit exhibit.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Lawrence E. Kleinke and Lois L. Evans, Salem; Sam Eganuck and Marie Shea, Portland and Oliver K. Beale, Turner and Mable Lucille Cole, Canby.

NEW BOXING COMMISSION

Salem's new boxing commission, which came into being by appointment of Mayor Gley under authority of the ordinance passed by the council in special session last week, organized for work at a meeting this noon with the election of officers as follows:

Harry Levy, chairman; Ralph Thompson, vice-chairman; Dr. H. H. Olinger, secretary; Dr. W. Carlton Smith, physician.

Harry Plant was appointed as matchmaker and the bouts scheduled to be held at the Armory on Thursday night of this week were formerly approved. Local rules and regulations will be promulgated at a second meeting to be held in the near future.

More Important Than the Return

"I wonder if I have selected wisely," is the worry of the inexperienced investor. And this constant worry overshadows the prospect of profitable returns.

The investor who owns our First Mortgage Collateral Trust Bonds are able to see and keep in touch with the improved real property securing these Bonds. The peace of mind this afforded is even more important to them than the 6% return.
