

EGGS HIGHER; BUTTER FIRM; SUGAR LOWER

Portland, Sept. 29.—Top grade eggs are a cent higher on the local exchange with extras posted at 45 cents, flocks 42 cents and pullets 37 cents a dozen. Peewees and current receipts are steady and unchanged at former levels.

Fresh receipts are moderate and demand brisk. Other markets are ranging higher, although a good shipping outlet for local jobbers. No change is shown in butter quotations. Bids on the exchange are steady with the supply on this market about sufficient for requirements. Light storage stocks continue to give coast markets a firm undertone.

Creamerymen complain about the high cost of butter fat. With prices ranging from 54 to 56 cents delivered Portland and print butter selling at 52 1/2 to 53 cents, the butter makers claim they are hard pressed to break even on their churning.

Country dressed meat arrivals are only moderate on the street today and top grade stock moved out promptly at firm prices. Choice light calves are firmly established at the 17 1/2 cent top with an occasional fancy veal bringing 18 cents. Choice light hogs are selling good at 17 1/2 to 18 cents.

Another decline of 10 cents a sack in sugar has been announced by local jobbers. The new wholesale price is now $5.55 for best cane granulated and $5.65 sack for beet.

Live poultry receipts are only fair and grades moving out well. Good demand for heavy hens and springs. Prices along the street today range from 15 cents on light hens to 24 and 25 cents on heavies. Springs selling at 26 to 27 cents and young white Pekin ducks at 25 cents a pound.

OPENING PRICES ON WALNUTS TO BE ANNOUNCED

This season's opening prices on the regular grades of "Diamond" walnuts will be announced Wednesday, September 29, says a bulletin issued by the California Walnut Growers' association.

Prices should be on the wane to our buyers by 11 a. m. Pacific time and should be received by them within from thirty minutes to one hour thereafter. Our buyers will have until Saturday, October 3, 9 a. m., Pacific time, to put orders in our hands.

Since our last advice to you our estimates have decreased somewhat. Some districts suffered heavily from the ravages of blight; others lost varying percentages through sunburn, and generally the size of the nuts is not holding up to the year's expectations.

Present indications point toward a total California crop of 27,000 tons—an increase of approximately 25 per cent over last year's short crop. The limited harvesting done to date insures good natural quality—substantially better than that of last year. The nuts are well filled and the shells are thin. A regular size picking line holds 60 or more pounds steady, as against an average of not more than 40 pounds last year. The condition alone may bring the total tonnage to a somewhat higher figure than our present estimate now indicates. The harvest is earlier—a week or possibly ten days earlier than last year. Last year the nuts matured irregularly and we experienced a spotty shipping season. This year maturity will be normal, and once we are started, shipments should move along regularly in increasing volume until the peak is reached. Several scores of new machines of whom produce unusually large tonnages, have new dehydrators ready for this season's operation. These machines thoroughly cure walnuts in from 24 to 28 hours regardless of climatic conditions, as against 3 to 10 days, depending upon the weather, required for sun-drying. More than 25 per cent of our output will be stored in dehydrators this season. We expect that all markets will have ample supplies to meet the Thanksgiving demand.

Tuesday, at 1:15 o'clock a flock of 15 pigeons will be released from in front of the grandstand, these to race to Portland, and the results announced later in Salem. The feature is put on by the Flying Pigeon club of Portland.

27 1-2 CENT OFFER FOR FUGGLES IS REGISTERED HERE

The first air hops for 10 days or two weeks has come with offers made by two different parties for a block of fuggles for 27 1/2 cents and the offers were rejected. The highest price paid for fuggles this year has been 30 cents a pound, but this was only for 11 bales and is no correct indication of the market. The bulk of the fuggles sold for from 20 cents up to 25 cents, quite a number of the number moving at the latter figure.

As far as can be learned the cluster flying market remains a dead one. Farmers are reported to be still holding on at 25 cents with no offers made and indications are they intend to hold on. One sale of clusters recently has been reported, but it was between dealers, the report being to the effect that Clifford Brown sold a chunk of the Illhee lot to Louis Lachmond for 21 cents.

How ever, appearances are against any general break in the market for the comparatively few hops left in growers' hands. Farmers seem to feel certain that when orders open up again the 25 cent price will be easily obtainable. Dealers feel certain, however, that they could get clusters at 25 cents if they went after them.

BIG BLACKBERRY DEAL COMPLETED BY EARLY RAINS

The blackberry deal on the coast has just wound up, being closed by heavy rains which caused mold and immature berries. Most of the valley canneries this year were interested in coast evergreens and as a result the deal took on big proportions. Good money was paid and large numbers of pickers employed. The heaviest tonnage was harvested on the coast since 1917, and the berries were of superior quality.

keen competition caused canneries to buy on a cash basis and results were said to be eminently satisfactory to growers. The berry deal in the valley closed about two weeks ago.

Evergreens were packed this year from British Columbia to Ashland and virtually every canner in these lines included berries in their packs.

Earl and Harry Pearey were the largest independent operators in the coast berry deal this year, their output going largely to a local cannery.

Standard Measures of Value

Modern commercial transactions would be impossible without standards of measurement and value. We now take the convenience for granted, often without realizing that it took the world many centuries to agree on the exact length of a yard stick, the exact weight of a pound and just how much liquid the quart or liter measure should contain.

Advertising is a comparatively new phase in marketing goods. It has its standards of value too, but these are not so thoroughly understood.

But circulation is one of the indisputable "measure sticks" by which you can judge the value of an advertising medium.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations issues reports of our circulation at intervals. These reports are a recognized standard of value in advertising.

The facts about The Capital Journal's circulation officially audited are yours for the asking. Buy Capital Journal circulation FIRST when you advertise.
