

RETTIG UP ON ROCHESTER Jr., WINS DERBY

FEATURE EVENT OF WEEK'S RACES IS WON HANDILY

Jockey Rettig, who was injured in racing last Monday, riding Rochester Jr., to a whipping finish, captured the Governor Pierce derby yesterday afternoon on Lone Oak track when he came under the wire ahead of three other entries. The fast time of 1:47 3/4 was made for the mile and a sixteenth. Miss Eva Sande of Salem, sister of Earl Sande, America's premier jockey, crowned the winning jockey and horse. A $2000 purse and a large silver cup were presented to Rettig by Governor Pierce, who made a few short remarks on the history of the racing game.

Rettig got his horse off to a good start and led the rest of the field for nearly half a mile before the rest of the field was able to close up on him. Poor Puss, with Buell up, took second place and Bernice E., with Gibson up, came in third. Black Shasta, ridden by Donovan, came in fourth.

Rettig rode a remarkable race and seemed to have totally recovered from his injuries sustained when he fell Monday. Governor Pierce, in presenting the trophy to Rettig, a Portland boy, expressed much satisfaction in the interest shown in the event. "It pleases me greatly that a horse bred in the northwest has taken first place," said the governor. Rochester Jr., was bred by B. J. Bagley of Vancouver, Wash.

In the Paramount special, a sprinter's stake, for a $150 purse, Randolph, with Gibson up, finished first; Bay Man, ridden by Donovan, came in second and Cleo's Rochester, with Jones up, came across for third money. Randolph made a wonderful finish, coming up on Bay Man when he was within 15 feet of the wire. The five furlongs was made in 1:09 3/4.

The Miller stake, the last race of the day and a mile run for a $250 purse was won by Pearce Flax who came from behind at the last minutes and flashed across the wire a bare distance ahead. Shadow Spark finished second and Princess Red Bird finished third. The time for the mile was 1:44 1/2.

LIME BOARD HAS MEETING AT FAIR

The Oregon state lime board held its semi-annual meeting in the agricultural college booth at the state fair Wednesday, to discuss the future policy and the outlook for cheaper lime.

"That is the big problem we are always working on and still hoping to solve at least in part," said S. H. Moore of Corvallis, president of the board. "We have many demands for lime in various quantities but the sticking point comes when the question of transportation charges are considered. Some plan to get an introductory price may eventually be worked out with the dealers."

The state board was created to enable farmers needing lime for

DEMONSTRATION OF BEE TAMING TOO REALISTIC

The "busy bee" had his inning this morning when Cameraman Himes took a close-up of the right and the wrong way to handle the honey makers in finding and negotiating the queen and in getting stung. Lowell Stalker, bee club member of Hermiston, Unatilla county, was the victim. Although Lowell was able to go into the fray to declare that he had not been stung in several years of handling bees, when he entered he carried five wounds to his credit.

So long as he was doing colony work with his bee colony Lowell was able to get away with it without damage. He applied a little smoke, then lifted a section of comb and bee, searched out the queen, lifted her from her mates, and replaced the section without a bobble. Then came the fun.

Grabbing a worker by the wings he advanced it within a few inches of the queen, where he teased it into stinging the back of his hand. He then properly brushed the bee off and likewise the stinging lump of poison deposited by the angry insect. He next repeated the performance with the exception that he became "excited" as most persons do when bit by the bee—except the political sort—and made a bad matter worse by pulling at the stinger and stabbing at the wound. He got three free and unpremeditated jabs in the operation.

FAIR WEEK SEES RAINFALL JUMP NEAR TO NORMAL

With a total of 1.73 inches of precipitation during the month, rainfall during September of this year was 1.1 inches below normal at Salem, according to report issued at the close of the month by Clarence Oliver, government weather observer. Practically the entire month's rain fell during fair week, beginning last Monday evening, September 23, and continuing until the small hours of Wednesday morning, September 30. By daylight Wednesday the threat of rain had nearly ceased. During the period of the rain this week a total of 1.29 inches of moisture was precipitated in Salem, as compared with .53 inches for all the rest of the month combined.

Rainfall during September of this year was slightly more than twice as heavy as August, the previous month, when .77 inches of rain fell. August of last year was without rain.

September of last year shows a heavier rainfall than the month just closed. Rain for September a year ago reached a total of 2.37 inches. During September, 1925, the total was .79, or less than half that of last month.

A maximum temperature of 99 degrees was reached on September 2 and September 23 of this year. The minimum was reached on September 26, when the mercury fell to 42 degrees above zero. Both the high and the low records were exceeded during September of last year, with the official thermometer registering 95 degrees on September 12 and 35 degrees on September 25.

The majority of days during the past month showed the wind coming from the south and west.

The government report shows that there were thunder storms on September 6 and 7.

The Willametta river was practically stationary during the month, its level being 2.1 feet below normal on the first day, dropping to 2.3 feet below normal on the 4th, remaining at that level until the morning of the 5th, when it began rising slowly. Reaching a level of 1.8 feet below normal on the 19th, it remained there the following day, then fell slowly to 2.1 feet below normal on the 18th, remaining there until the 21st, when it rose to 1.7 feet, then dropping slowly to 2.2 by the end of the month. Its level was exactly 2 feet below normal this morning and slowly rising.

There were 11 cloudy days, 11 clear days and 8 days that were partly cloudy during the month.

FORTUNE IN FOX FURS ARE SHOWN

A small fortune is represented in the various improvised structures on the state fair grounds, which are housing the silver and blue fox exhibits. The Oregon Silver Fox and Fur Farms, which take in the Haskindale ranch of 75 pens near Newberg and the Mount Hood ranch of 100 pens, near Hood River, is the largest exhibitor, with seventeen animals. Jumbo, one of these, an extremely lame creature, something not common among silver foxes, the company values at $1000 for show purposes alone. Oregon King, a beautiful fox, together with five others his equal are valued at $4500.

Four pens, aged five months, shown by the Columbia Silver Fox Farms of Warrendale, Oregon, are valued at $1250. The mother and father of one of these does in a cage next to them, not in the least concerned over their valuation, which is $2000.

The Cresmo Fox Farm of Jefferson, is represented by five foxes: three silver and two blue. The valuation of these animals is from $180 down.

The Oregon City Silver Fur Farm has two foxes, valued at $2000 and $1250.

For the first time the state fair board is offering prizes for the best foxes, thus establishing another permanent exhibit. Today boxes are considered just like other

FAST RACES ARE CHIEF FEATURE OF SALEM'S DAY

PORTLAND NIGHT AT HORSE SHOW TO DRAW CROWD

With work on the stadium arena going on right up to date of opening Tuesday, horsemen and women are finding the ring in far better shape than it has ever been before. J. E. Reynolds of Corvallis, manager of the horse show, has been overseeing the work. The horse show promises to attract larger and larger crowds as the week advances. Many Portland folk are planning to drive up especially for the Thursday night show.

Thursday's program follows:

Overture by Douglas County Concert band.

Ladies roadsters.

Heavyweight hunters.

Driving competition, Combination pony.

Gentlemen's three-gaited horses under 15.

Heavy harness single, 15.2 and over.

Under saddle, under 14 hands.

Hunting pairs.

Combination five-gaited horses.

Novice saddlers.

Grafton brand jump.

Among Corvallis folk coming over for Salem day were: Miss Virginia Ringler and Mrs. Dorothy Whitehead of the Oregon Agricultural college, Dr. and Mrs. Buell, A. G. Lutz, C. R. Donham, Fred Miller and Dean and Mrs. A. B. Cordley.

YAMHILL PIONEER OF 1844 CALLED TO REST

Yamhill, Or., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Lizzie Bodwell, Yamhill pioneer of 1844, died at her home here Monday. Mrs. Bodwell was born October 11, 1844, at what is now known as Boise, while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Perkins were on their way from Indiana to Oregon. After spending the following winter with Dr. Whitman at Walla Walla, Wash., they arrived at Yamhill, Or., in the spring of 1845. She was married to H. F. Bodwell in 1864. Although they had no children of their own they reared the following, who survive: A. E. McKern of Yamhill, Mrs. Fred Bunn of Carlton, T. R. Ellis of Yamhill, Mrs. Edgar Balderose of Mill City and Mrs. Elva Adams of Salem. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alvia Russell of Yamhill and Mrs. Lucretia Walker of Bozak, Alberta, Canada, and two brothers, George Perkins and Norris Perkins of Yamhill.

KILLS CATARRH GERM IN THREE MINUTES

Chronic catarrh, no matter how bad, and cases of bronchial asthma now yield instantly to the amazing discovery of a French scientist. This drugless method called Lavex kills the germ in three minutes, yet is positively harmless to the most delicate tissues. Your head and lungs are cleared like magic. Sufferers are relieved in a single night.

To prove it and to introduce Lavex to a million sufferers in one month, I offer to send a treatment free and postage, to any one who will write for it. No obligation. No cost. If it cures you, you can repay the favor by telling your friends—if not, the loss is mine. No matter what you have tried, just send me your name and address for this generous free treatment and prove that you can be rid of catarrh.

W. R. Smith, 5838 Lavex Bldg. Kansas City, Mo.
