4 Year Old Finds Frost Covered Pipe Not Piece of Candy

Mr. Angel, Oct. 8.—The beautiful, white glistening pipe in one of the cases in a local meat market is not ice cream or a stick of candy learned the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elsen very painfully yesterday. The youngster attempted to lick one of the pipes running from the ice plant through the show cases. A physician was called to pull the boy's tongue loose as it stuck fast to the frozen pipe. Today young Jack is being fed through a tube.

DERRY ON TRIAL FOR VIOLATION OF LIQUOR LAW

Dallas, Or., Oct. 8.—The case of the state of Oregon vs. Tim Derry on a liquor violation charge was started Wednesday afternoon before Judge Ramsey, following the Lloyd case. Two important state witnesses had not arrived and the court adjourned until this morning after selection of a jury had been completed. The Derry case has been handled around for several months. It originally came up in January but on a motion of prejudice against Judge Ramsey it was set before Judge Kelly in Marion county. Judge Kelly sent it back to Polk county, holding that a change of venue could not be granted and that a judge could be sent in. Judge Ramsey then ruled that a recent supreme court decision held no affidavit of prejudice could be filed in a case in which some previous motion had been made, and decided that the case must be tried before him. Derry led prohibition officers a wild chase in Deschutes when they followed his rooster out of Dallas, through Mouthout and Independence and finally overtook him near Albany, after wrecking one pursuing car. They found no evidence but he was fined on a speeding charge. A raid later on quarters alleged to have been occupied by Derry in the southern part of Polk county uncovered the evidence on which he was indicted. He is represented by Attorney E. K. Plasecki, and the state by District Attorney Helgerson.

HOME MADE AIR PLANE FATAL TO ITS AVIATOR Michel Field, New York, Oct. 8.—(A. P.)—Harry Bunnell, civilian aviator, was killed and Clarence D. Chamberlin, pilot, was injured today when their home built monoplane crashed in the first event of the national air races.

With the appointment of a special commission within the next two days, work of formulating a zoning system for the city of Salem will be actively launched. Mayor John Giesy told the Marion Polk County Realtors association at their luncheon this noon. Mr. Giesy declared that the zoning system is the logical way to regulate building in the city.

City Zoning Board To Be Announced By Mayor This Week

Efforts were made for years to get rid of the old laundry building, formerly a Methodist church, on South Liberty street, before the building was finally disposed of the city, the mayor announced, with himself, the city engineer and the city attorney being ex-officio members. "I believe Salem is starting this thing at the right time," he concluded.

State Treasury Forced To Draw From Deposits

To get money for ordinary state business it has been necessary for State Treasurer Kay, he said today, to draw over $3,000,000 of state deposits from Oregon banks in the last month. This has been necessary because no state tax deposits, on second half payments, have yet been received from the counties with the exception of $100,000 from Multnomah county. The withdrawal of state money from the banks has in some instances worried the banks, though it is the policy of the state treasurer not to draw too heavily from any one depository. Most of the withdrawals have been from western Oregon and Portland banks. The payment of the second half of state taxes by the counties will bring in about $3,500,000, but of this only about $1,500,000 can go into the general fund of the state for ordinary state purposes. The remainder is mainly millage taxes levied for specified purposes such as support of state institutions of higher learning. Payments from the counties will relieve the situation, says Mr. Kay, only temporarily, and soon after the first of the year the treasury will be at a low ebb again. The lack of funds in the state treasury is probably more serious than for 10 years. Had the state tax commission last year, through the arbitrary action of Governor Pierce and State Treasurer Myers not arbitrarily cut the state levy in half the state treasury would now have about $1,000,000 more to work with than it has. Pierce in retaliation because of the repeal of the state income tax law by the people, and attempting to fulfill his promise to cut taxes, caused the state levy to be cut approximately $1,000,000 short of the normal levy.

ALLEN ELECTED PRESIDENT BY IRRIGATIONISTS

Grants Pass, Oct. 8.—Wilford Allen, of Grants Pass, was elected president of the Oregon Irrigation Congress at the concluding session of the annual meeting here last night. He defeated James M. Kyle, of Stanfield, who has been president for two years. The vote was Allen 157, Kyle 153. W. T. Power, of Oregon Agricultural college, was elected secretary succeeding Walter E. Meacham. The fight against Kyle was led by Ralph Cowhill, of Medford, who headed a group of Medford people. He was supported by Percy Cupper, former state engineer.

A resolution was adopted urging the state securities commission to require every district whose interest on bonds has been guaranteed by the state to employ a colonization agent. Rhea Luper, state engineer, declared that only 3800 families would be required to complete settlement of every district. Concerning the proposal of Secretary of the Interior Work that the state should cooperate financially in developing reclamation projects, the congress adopted a resolution saying the state had no power under the constitution or otherwise to cooperate financially in aiding settlers on federal reclamation undertakings.

STEAMER STUCK ON KEIZER BAR DREDGE AWAITED

The river steamer Northwestern was today abandoned at a point some 5 miles down the Willamette river from Salem on its way from Portland to this city. The boat will probably remain in its present position for about a week, it was announced, a which time it is expected that the river will be cleared. The Mathloma, government dredge, will be brought up the river and begin work immediately clearing the channel. The point at which the Northwestern has become stuck is just below Keizer bar. The boat left Portland Saturday with Salem as its destination, and took about four days to get as far as its present position, being forced to "line over" at several places. Yesterday the steamer's wheel was slightly injured, and was repaired today. The boat's crew, which put up in Salem last night, was taken to Portland today. The crew will return in a week and take the boat on up the river to its dock here. "The dredge has done good work in the lower part of the river," said Capt. Kruse, who has had charge of the Northwestern this morning. "We encountered no real difficulty in getting as far up as we are now, although it was slow work at times." The upper part of the river was dredged several months ago, and it is thought that in some cases the channel has become filled in again. Another reason advanced for its present impassable condition is the fact that the dredging was done when the level of the river was considerably higher than its present level. If the steamer once makes the complete run between this city and Portland it will continue on regular schedule.

YOUTH REJECTED; AGAIN MISSING

The shroud of mystery again descended upon the career of Evan Hines when it became known here today that he has been refused admission to the United States Marine Corps, to which he first applied last week. Last seen in Portland when he made his application, he was now completely as he was thought to have disappeared last week, when his guardian, E. J. Ayer, notified local police and school authorities that he had not been heard from since Tuesday morning. The youth, who was 18 years of age, had nothing with him except the clothes he wore and his bicycle.

HOME COMING OCTOBER 30-31

Homecoming day at Willamette university for the present season was this morning set for October 30 and 31. The second day, October 31, is the date of the Willamette-Whitman football game on Sweetland field. Instead of the usual entertainment Saturday evening a play will be presented in Waller hall by Theta Alpha Phi, university dramatic fraternity. The old grandstand at the south side of Sweetland field will be removed. It was announced this morning. The new stand, erected last year, will seat 2600 persons, and bleachers can be set up in case the crowd is larger. A five foot wire fence is to be placed around the grandstand to keep the crowd off the field.

MITCHELL ON STAND SILENT ON DISASTER

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Colonel William Mitchell refused today to testify before the naval court investigating the airship Shenandoah disaster. After he had objected to being sworn before the court under the order of the army directing him to appear a formal subpoena for his appearance was issued today by the naval body; Judge Advocate Foley delivered it in person and Mitchell refused to accept service under advice of his counsel. While the court was in executive session determining its course after Mitchell had objected to taking the oath, representative Frank R. Reid of Illinois, his attorney, made public a communication which the colonel sent yesterday to the adjutant general of the army. Advised officially that Colonel Mitchell had refused to appear, the court directed the judge advocate to communicate that fact to the war department which originally had ordered Mitchell to come before the court and give testimony. Captain Paul Foley, the judge advocate, explained beforehand that Colonel Mitchell was present under orders from the adjutant general of the army issued upon request of the naval court. Immediately after the fiery army files had taken the stand, Admiral Jones explained that his presence was desired so that he might be questioned concerning statements credited to him regarding the Shenandoah disaster. The admiral produced a small Bible, requesting that the colonel be duly sworn in accord with the regulations. It was then that Mr. Reid made his objection.

COOLIDGE RETURNS FROM OMAHA TRIP

Washington, Oct. 8.—(A. P.)—President Coolidge returned to the White House early today from Omaha, Neb., where he attended the American Legion convention. President Coolidge's train, en route to Washington, Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 5.—(A. P.)—A freight wreck near Sir John's Run, W. Va., early today delayed the train on which President Coolidge was returning to Washington from Omaha and forced a detour. President and Mrs. Coolidge were in no danger as the wreck occurred more than an hour before their train, stopped at some distance from the scene, was due.

Germany Willing To Enter Nations League With One Concession

Locarno, Switzerland, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Although M. Briand, the French foreign minister and Dr. Luther, Germany's chancellor, in the quietude of a secluded spot on Lake Maggiore yesterday had a heart-to-heart talk on the subject of how best to bring about lasting peace in Europe, Germany continues to pursue persistently a campaign against permitting German soil to be used as a theater of combat in any possible war among her neighbors. Such utilization of German territory would be conceivable under the covenant of the league of nations concerning movements of troops against a warring nation. Both M. Briand and Dr. Luther expressed the determination to do everything humanly possible against future warfare and for an enduring peace. The meeting of the French and German statesmen, was the most outstanding feature of the security negotiations, since they began. It served to inject a high degree of optimism in the observers of the situation here. But Germany still wants the allies as members of the league of nations to subscribe to Locarno to some undertaking obligating their support to the German interpretation of the covenant of the league, which will permit Germany, like Switzerland, to maintain her neutrality. This would mean exceptional treatment for Germany which the allies feel they are not authorized to countenance. The German spokesmen said today that if they could claim the aid of the allies in this respect, Germany would enter the league of nations without any other reservation.

LOYD FOUND GUILTY OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Dallas, Or., Oct. 9.—W. R. Lloyd was found guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of Clint Baun by a Polk county jury which reported Wednesday night. No recommendation was made by the jury and the verdict means punishment by hanging. He will be sentenced Saturday at 9 o'clock by Judge Ramsey. The jury went out at 1:40 p. m. and made its report at 7 p. m. It had reached a verdict about 6 p. m., after four hours of deliberation. Three ballots were taken before a decision was reached. Lloyd was present in the court room but showed no emotion either before or after the verdict was read.

ESPEE SUBMITS EVIDENCE FOR KLAMATH LINE

Portland, Or., Oct. 8.—(A. P.)—Testimony in the interstate commerce commission hearing here on railroad development switched from Oregon to California today, as Dr. Charles Mahaffie took up the application of the Southern Pacific for extensions in northern California after the Hill roads completed their case in behalf of their proposed extension from Bend to Klamath Falls. The Southern Pacific's case was begun after Director Mahaffie refused the request of that railroad that the Oregon-California & Eastern be put in the southern part of Oregon, spoke in support of extending his lines from Sprague river to Silver Lake and also to Lakeview. Numerous witnesses from Klamath Falls and Bend appeared before Examiner Mahaffie yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Oregon Trunk application. Judge R. W. Sawyer, R. S. Hamilton, member of the state legislature, and W. C. Wilkes, Bend merchant, declared the extension south would open new markets for products of the country about Bend. They said the new line would facilitate movements of livestock and open a direct route for California products to reach interior Oregon. This, it was pointed out would increase rail earnings and make rate reductions possible. Witnesses from Klamath Falls told of the benefits to agriculture and resulting general development which come from the extension. Among the witnesses were: G. P. Keller, Langell Valley rancher; John R. Reyer, Mallin, manager of the Mallin cheese and produce company; H. E. Wilson, Mallin farmer; A. M. Thomas, secretary, and R. E. Brodbery and J. L. Jacobs, directors of the Klamath Irrigation district, which had intervened in behalf of the Oregon Trunk program; Fred R. Goddard, mayor of Klamath Falls; E. M. Bubb, cashier of the American National bank, Klamath Falls; John Knowles, head of the Klamath Concrete Pipe company of Klamath Falls.

WITNESSES PUT BLAME ON MURRAY

Bullet Identified As From Stolen Gun—Crawford Relates Incidents of Prison Battle. With the foundation laid for its case and the death of John Sweeney, guard at the penitentiary, at the hands of murderers established by the testimony of doctors who examined his body after death and by the county coroner, the state today commenced to weave the web of evidence by which it hopes to pin the murder upon him around Tom Murray, alleged leader of the three convicts who shot their way out of the prison on the evening of August 12, when Sweeney was killed. Yesterday the state in its statement of the case alleged that it would prove that Murray had in his possession at the time of the break and up until he was captured at Centralia a 32-20 calibre revolver taken from the arsenal of the prison, and that this was the only gun of this calibre taken by the convicts stolen from the arsenal. The bullet extracted from Sweeney's head following his death, a 32-20 calibre shot, was also introduced.

Highway Robbery In Broad Daylight Nets $78 In Cash

A highway robbery on the open road and in broad daylight with A. G. Bach of San Francisco, a tobacco salesman, the victim was perpetrated on the silverton road near the Mathis nursery about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Bach was relieved of $78. Bach was driving along the paved highway when another car drew alongside, the driver signalling Bach to stop, which he did. The other motorist asked the question, "How much money do you have?" Bach was giving him the information he suddenly pulled a gun and ordered Bach to get out of the car. After the stranger had gone over Bach's pockets and taken $78, he ordered Bach to step aside. The robber fled into his own car.
