COLUMBUS DAY UP TO BANKS TO OBSERVE

Governor Pierce will not issue a proclamation or take any other action declaring Monday, Oct. 12, Columbus Day, a legal holiday. Attorney General Van Winkle today refused to render an opinion on the question, stating that unless a question of state business were involved, it was not incumbent upon him or the governor to be observed as a legal holiday. This apparently leaves it up to the Clearing House association, of Portland, to observe the day as a legal holiday or not as it sees fit. The association yesterday asked the governor for an official proclamation.

Warden in His Home

"Did you see the warden at all?" asked Judge King.

"Yes."

"Where?"

"In his house when I went back there to see if I could get a gun."

Wright E. Gardner, who was in the guard's quarters at the time of the break, testified that he ran at once to tower No. 1 and was standing beside Guard Holman when the latter was shot. He said that he assisted Holman down through the tower and laid him on the ground just outside and to the north of the tower. At that time he said Holman was shot only through the arm. When he next saw Holman, a few moments later, Holman had been shot through the head and was dead, Gardner said.

WILLAMETTE TO PLAY NORMAL ON HOME GROUNDS

It should be a stronger football team representing Willamette university against the Oregon normal school Saturday morning than went up against the University of Washington and O. A. C. the first two games of the season. In the opinion of local football critics, with the experience of two tough games behind them and little damaged by injuries, the Bearcat aggregation should be able to show a distinct start in the way of good football at the first home game of the present season.

It is reported that the Month-mouth team is somewhat stronger than usual this year, being built around Ferguson, stellar quarterback, who comes from Portland.

A tentative lineup was announced by Coach Hathburn of the locals this morning as follows: Linebackers: Woodworth and Evans; guard: Madra and Rhodes; tackles: Mumford and Reidell; ends: Winslow, quarterback: Hollingsworth and Waddell; fullback: Stolzhelme, fullback.

Mort, 193-pound freshman line-man, is still slightly sore in the leg, but will play the game, Hathburn stated. Baker and Zeller, backfield men, will also remain on the retired list for the present. Scout will probably go in at tackle for part of the game.

The game has been slated for 9:30 in the morning to allow spectators and players to get away for other games later in the day.

CONDITION IN AFRICA IMPROVES

Conditions in Africa are rapidly improving due to the efforts of American missionaries on that continent. It was declared this morning by Miss Mary Cone, who addressed the 33rd annual session of the Columbia River branch of the women's foreign missionary society, meeting in Salem.

Miss Cone related an incident of a large group of negro children sent out by the association. "After eight o'clock, when we sent them to bed," said Miss Cone, "we can often hear them for blocks, praying for our welfare."

Miss Cone cited instances to show that "gentlemen's" chivalry in Africa, long thought not to exist, is really waking up. In one village the men went on strike following an expedition in which a number of women were carried off as slaves, she declared, with the result that the women were returned. "They never had thought anything of it until they saw the women," she said.

Most of the day was taken up with routine reports.

MOTORISTS INTERESTED IN NEW AIR CLEANERS

"Possibly, no automobile device has met with the immediate acceptance of the general public," says the Newton-Chrysler company, local dealers, who last Saturday held a demonstration of AC air cleaners. They also say "the keen interest displayed in this product proves the automobile owners of this day have a good appreciation of what constitutes practical and economical equipment."

The AC air cleaner, employs the simple principle of centrifugal force to separate dust and grit from the air before it enters the carburetor, thus eliminating the cause of two great motor evils—wear and carbon deposit.

WINTHROP PLEADS GUILTY TO LARCENY CHARGE

Bend, Or., Oct. 9.—Robert A. Winthrop pleaded guilty before Judge T. E. J. Duffy yesterday to the indictments charging larceny in the amount of $1000 and the sale of stolen property. Winthrop, who was returned last week from Pasadena, Cal., to face the Bend charges which grew out of a series of deals here in October, 1924, made no statement at the time he entered his plea although he had pleaded previously to officials that he had to make provision for what he had taken and blamed his liquor for his actions.

not see him again. At that time three of the convicts armed with rifles were running across the yard toward the tower, firing. On cross examination Fout said that while he was behind the oil barrels near the garage while the convicts were going through the tower, he did not see Warden Dalrymple there.

Warden in His Home

"Did you see the warden at all?" asked Judge King.

FILE BILL FOR STATE OWNED POWER PLANTS

water, water rights, easements, electric energy, and also to construct, complete and operate works, dams, reservoirs, canals, pipe lines, conduits, power houses, transmission lines, structures, roads, railroads, machinery and equipment, and any other property necessary or convenient for the conservation, development, storage and distribution of electrical energy and water for irrigation and domestic purposes, provided, however, that no plant shall be purchased for a consideration of more than $500,000 unless such purchase shall have been approved by a vote of the people.

Sale of Bonds

State bonds, not to exceed 5 percent of the assessed valuation of the state may, under the provisions of the bill, be issued and sold from time to time to carry out the purpose of the amendment. The bonds would be sold by the water and power board.

All revenues of the board, including proceeds from the sale of bonds, shall be paid into the state treasury, and shall be applied first to payment of the expenses of the board, costs of operation, maintenance, depreciation, insurance and losses, and second to the payment of interest on and principal of the bonds.

If at any time the moneys in the state treasury applicable to the payment of interest or principal of the bonds shall be insufficient to pay as it falls due, moneys shall be temporarily advanced from the state general fund, and the bill provides for an appropriation from the general fund such sums annually as will be necessary to pay interest and principal.

$250,000 Available

All moneys paid from the general fund on such bonds shall be returned to the general fund out of the revenues of the board as soon as revenues become available with interest at 6 per cent.

The bill would immediately appropriate from the general fund a fifth estate the sum of $250,000 to be credited to the board, and it is provided that an equivalent amount shall be returned into the general fund out of the first moneys available in the water and power revolving fund.

ONLY TRAFFIC FOR ONE LINE SAYS SPROULE

and valley country lying to the northeast and east of Klamath Falls and the Natron cutoff will care for the remainder, excepting only that which is adjacent to the Oregon Trunk, rather than to the Klamath Falls railroads.

"The Strahor application includes the construction of a line to Lakeview, and in his answer to interrogatories Mr. Strahor mentions an understanding with the Southern Pacific for the use of this line as a through route for traffic between Oregon and Nevada. Speaking for the Southern Pacific, we would prefer that the commission pass upon the application for this particular construction without reference to the use of the line for the purpose stated. It is true that the Southern Pacific has at different times considered the possibility of this line as part of a through route, but it has also had under consideration other routes from Klamath Falls to reach its Central Pacific main line but not passing through Lakeview. In fact, we have reached a decision and have publicly announced what we want to do in this respect. We have applied for permission to construct a line from Klamath Falls to Cornell and have concluded that the most suitable through route to a connection with our Central Pacific main line will be to continue the proposed Klamath Falls line across Tule lake to a connection with the N. C. O. as planned in 1908, but not having determined upon the place at which it would connect we originally applied to the commission for permission to build to Cornell. Since this hearing has been called our engineers have made further reports which point to the general direction of Alturas as the more direct and serviceable route, and we have on October second, filed with the commission in Washington formal application for authority to construct accordingly.

Construction of a line from Klamath Falls to Cornell will open up to rail transportation some 150,000 acres of farming or pasture land. It is not expected that the local traffic will itself prove sufficiently remunerative for a long time, but we ask the commission to consider in connection with our present application that this is part of a through line from Oregon to Nevada, Utah and east to Nevada California-Oregon railroads and Central Pacific through Oregon.

As to construction expenditures, Mr. Sproule said: "Expenditures of over thirty-six and one half millions of dollars for the Natron line passing through Klamath Falls have an intimate bearing upon these applications, one of which, to wit, that of the Oregon Trunk, would impend this large investment, while the other will safeguard it. Further and proposed investments of $15,029,000 are those with which this hearing directly deals. These consist of our interest in the O. C. and E. railroad and its proposed extension, proposed investment in Nevada-California-Oregon railroads and the standard gauging of that road, the proposed construction by Southern Pacific from Klamath Falls to Cornell and its extension from Cornell to Alturas. On the Natron line now nearing completion, we will have spent $26,567,000 which with the $15,029,000 covered by our present investments will make our total investment from Klamath Falls and out to Grass Lake to Klamath Falls, Natron and Springfield on the one hand, and from Klamath Falls and Fernley and Lakeview on the other hand, total $51,596,000.

On cross-examination, Mr. Sproule was asked if the Southern Pacific would build the proposed Klamath Falls-Alturas line if the Oregon Trunk was allowed to enter the Klamath basin. He replied: "If we are assured the business justifies we will build the Alturas line, but our opponents say they intend to net that business. If that is true, we'll have to review our entire program. If we are allowed to develop the Klamath basin as we plan to we could give them much improving the service and giving it greater dispatch."

After noting that Southern Pacific development plans in South central Oregon were tied up for years by the Central Pacific litigation, Mr. Sproule said:

"Oregon Trunk Unimpaired

"It may be pointed out that the Oregon Trunk interests were unimpaired by government intervention and litigation such as we experienced, and were free and able to undertake construction at any time since they reached Bend in 1911. So why did they wait 14 years until the Southern Pacific had received permission to complete the Natron line and had made very heavy expenditures in consequence? Why did they wait until Mr. Strahor had perfected his plans, had built forty miles of his railroad and made application for extensions? Application by us for permission to build a line to Bend to participate in the lumber traffic there would be quite as much in order, and as little serve public convenience or necessity."

"Finally as to the Oregon Trunk Marriage license have been issued to Thomas Francis Pay and Margaret A. Gierke, both of Salem; Estelle Wilcox Moore and Pauline Opal Plomer, both of Salem; Orville W. Nichols and Madeline Pauline Smith, both of Salem.

Why have they been silent and made no move during the long years of our pioneering in which we have been in good faith making such large investments in the Klamath region, which has become productive through the enterprise of its citizens conjointly with ourselves? The obvious reason is that they have been waiting for us to put our money into this region for its development and after we have done so, then come in at small expense to themselves to take from us the just rewards of our enterprise. We have invested all the money and taken all the chances. Had our enterprise failed it would have been our misfortune to have borne the loss. Yet now we are threatened with the misfortune of being unable to carry our plan to their natural conclusion, because the proposed extension from Bend would divert to Trunk lines to the north which have contributed nothing to the development of this region, that business which the Southern Pacific as the parent line may fairly claim to have earned by construction and service."
