Beautiful Wedding at Albert Home

One of the loveliest of the season's brides was Miss Mary Jane Albert whose wedding to Axel Eoff was a beautiful and dignified ceremony at the Joseph H. Albert home on the Joseph H. Albert last night. Seventy five relatives and friends of the bride and groom, both of whom are prominent and popular members of the younger set in Salem, came from Portland, Salem and points in Washington for the occasion. Rev. Norman Kendall Tully officiated.

The ceremony itself was performed before an impressively beautiful altar of ferns and flowers. The bride wore a white gown with long stemmed white chrysanthemum and fern were used on either side.

Proceeding the maid of honor, the bride, and her father, Joseph H. Albert, down the stairway two dainty little girls, Mary Elizabeth Benz and Susanne Sigel, in flower like frocks, stretched white ribbons from the foot of the stairway to the altar.

The bride was beautiful in an imported gown of white silk marquisette adorned with clusters of seed pearls and rhinestones. The pearls and rhinestones were arranged in a flower and petal embroidered effect around the neck line and around the skirt. The gown was an one piece model with four godets in the skirt, two in front and two in back which added a lovely touch of fullness and softness. The godets were heavily beaded with pearls and the rhinestones. Her full length veil was a delicate flesh color and arranged in a cap of point lace with a cluster of real orange blossoms on either side. The shower bouquet was a lovely thing of white roses, lilies of the valley and orchids.

The maid of honor, Miss Margaret Rodgers was attractive in a Parisian model of pale green chiffon with a cloth of gold border around the skirt. Dainty appliqued baskets of flowers on the skirt harmonized perfectly with the bouquet of tiny roses and old fashioned flowers which she carried.

Miss Josephine Albert, only sister of the bride sang "God Touch the Rose," preceding the entrance of the bride party. She wore a lovely frock of pale pink georgette with four godets of deeper pink in the skirt over which dropped deep pink rose. Mrs. Rueben Benz (Mildred Wiggins) played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Wolcott Buren served as best man for Mr. Eoff.

A reception followed the ceremony, and Mrs. Albert, the bride's mother, and Mrs. J. T. Whittig, the groom's mother, stood beside the bride party in the receiving line. Mrs. Albert wore a beautiful gown of a deep poudre blue tulle, the bodice of which was entirely embroidered in silver braid and tiny black beads. Mrs. Whittig wore a lovely dark maroon gown trimmed with fur.

The library and halls of the Albert home were decorated with beautiful baskets of zinnias, Michaelmas daisies and gladioli. The serving table arranged in the dining room was a thing of beauty with its cover of real Battenberg and Cluny lace which is a family heirloom. In the center was a long basket filled with deep red roses. Four tall white candles in silver holders were used also. About the rooms were lovely bowls of deep maroon stock and asters.

Mrs. Ed Jorgensen of Portland, and Mrs. Glenn Sigel, also of Portland, presided at the serving table during the evening. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Lewis Griffith, Miss Ruth Griffith, Miss Dorothy Patterson, Miss Josephine Baumgartner, Miss Maxine Buren, Miss Genevieve Junk and Miss Katherine Hartley.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Margaret Rodgers, the maid of honor. A host of lovely gifts received by the bride were on display on the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Eoff left last night for California where they will be going for ten days. The bride is wearing a costume which is a becoming ensemble of novelty check with an extremely good looking scarlet hat.

Federation Values are Outlined

"The federation of business women such as ours means a greater opportunity for service, results in the broadening of our own vision, and tends to make each member a finer and better woman," said Miss Adella Pritchard, formerly national president of the federation of more than 45,000 business women throughout the United States, in an address before the Salem club in the chamber of commerce auditorium last night. A group of the state officers, nine members of the Portland club, three members of the Women's advertising club of Portland, eleven club members from Corvallis, and one from Eugene, and representatives from a number of the Salem service clubs were guests of the Salem business women last night.

Miss Pritchard's address, the main event of the evening, covered the activities of the national federation since its beginning with a list of the 200 representative women in St. Louis in 1919. The growth of the federation step by step, the gradual widening of its scope, and the methods used in following out its avowed purpose—"the making of a better business woman in a better business world"—were outlined in a lucid and inspirational manner by the former president. Each of the seven hundred clubs in the federation has scholarship or other loan funds for the purpose of helping younger girls get their start in the business work, personal research committees are constantly making surveys of the problems of working girls so that their conditions may be bettered.

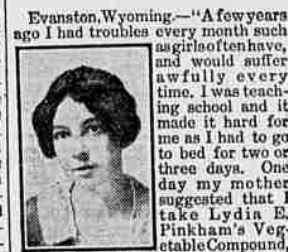

"The Independent Woman" the club's national organ has grown from a tiny pamphlet to an influential magazine. Miss Pritchard also briefly sketched the accomplishments of a number of nationally known women who are prominent in the federation—Mrs. Forrest, Mary Stewart, Lena Phillips, Judge Florence Allen and Judge Jeanne Norris.

Miss Louise Hacker, state president, was introduced by Miss Julia Webster, the Salem president. Miss Hacker introduced Miss Pritchard. Miss Mame Ziegelman, first vice president of Portland, last night formally presented to Mrs. M. E. Brewer, one of the Salem club members, the federation pin which she won recently by submitting the name which has been chosen for the state magazine.

AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as irregular periods, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never feel better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine." —Mrs. VERBENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

STOP—Mr. Husband!

—consider the girl you leave behind you

JUST stop a moment—and think about the way she spends HER day—that girl you leave behind you.

While you're at the office working with your brain, she's at home working with her hands. While you're at the shop or factory, surrounded by every labor-saving device, she's slaving away at the same old routine at home.

—perhaps washing the same cups and saucers she washed yesterday, and will wash on many tomorrows.

—perhaps sweeping a rug whose pattern she could draw with her eyes shut.

—perhaps bending over a steamy washing tub, in a mussy sloppy kitchen, rubbing her knuckles raw over a back-breaking washboard.

In YOUR work is variety—interest—growth; in hers, only dullness—sameness—stagnation.

Other Husbands Encourage This Freedom.

That's why so many husbands are encouraging their wives to take advantage of every short-cut in housework. That's why so many husbands in Salem are urging their wives to use the Salem Laundry—the greatest short-cut of all—the help that does completely away with the longest, hardest, most mental of household tasks.

One Salem husband—a State Street barber—was doing the washing himself. He thought it would cost two or three dollars a week to send the washing to us. But when he sent his first week's washing to this laundry, the bill was only 53c. He got busy and figured the exact cost of doing it himself at home. THAT was costing more than he had thought—about 35c each time. And laundry service, he found, costs so much LESS than he had thought—

Just note how little it costs to send your washings to this laundry—

1. WET-WASH—Saves far more work than electric washer, actually at less cost. Everything scientifically washed with purest of materials and returned slightly damp, just right for ironing, 20 pounds or less, 75c, 4 cents each additional pound.

2. THRIFT-SERVICE—Same as Wet-Wash except all flat pieces ironed, 15 pounds or less, 90 cents, 6 cents each additional pound.
