

BIG STOCK SHOW TO OPEN GATES NEXT SATURDAY

With every indication favorable for a stock show that will surpass all previous records, the fifteenth annual Pacific International Livestock Exposition at Portland will throw open the gates of its immense pavilion, now covering more than 11 acres, next Saturday morning.

All sections of the big building, according to General Manager M. Plummer, will be filled to overflowing with the finest pure-bred livestock on the continent. In order to accommodate the unprecedented number of champion stock entered for the show, it was necessary to build a new addition, approximately one acre in area.

"We will probably also have to build an addition to the 2-acre industrial annex," reports Mr. Plummer, "to take care of an overflow from the great manufacturers and land products show that will crowd this big section to the utmost capacity. The capacity will be taxed in all sections. The great dairy and beef barns will not have space enough left for a single stall, and we are utilizing every foot of space for accommodations in the swine, sheep and goat sections, and the division given over to draft horses. Our poultry show, too, will be a record-breaker. This year's show will not only break all records for size, but will be notable for its excellent balance and for the high standard of entries in all departments."

In marked contrast to the many obstacles and unfavorable conditions with which Manager Plummer and the stock show officials had to do valiant battle last year, conditions this year have been exceptionally favorable from all angles. The show will be staged in a much-improved pavilion, built under high pressure last year when the disastrous fire of July 21 swept away the old pavilion less than three months before the show. With the devastating animal epidemics that wrought havoc among flocks and herds last year now conquered and all bans lifted, breeders in all parts of the country have taken heart, and entries have been pouring in for many weeks from all sections of the Pacific slope, with an unusually heavy representation from eastern and middlewestern states.

The finest flocks of pure-bred herds and flocks from all points of the compass are now moving towards the big stock show of the west, or are already in their allotted stalls at the pavilion, ready to battle for Pacific International honors and the $100,000 in cash premiums to be awarded.

Chambers of commerce and other organizations all over the Pacific coast country are co-operating in advertising the show and stimulating attendance. The attendance goal for this year has been set at 150,000, and an earnest appeal is

Girl Gained 7 Pounds

Nine Years an Invalid

That's just what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for the Babcock girl—and is doing as much for tens of thousands of thin, underweight, weak and discouraged people all over America.

These sugar-coated, pleasant to take tablets should be given to children instead of the vile stomach-upsetting oil itself—they surely do help the frail, delicate little ones and 60 tablets cost but 60 cents at J. C. Perry's, Central Pharmacy, D. J. Fry's or any drug store.

Read this letter if you have a child that needs to gain health and strength:

"My little girl was stricken with infantile paralysis when she was 6 months old and was an invalid for 9 years—when I saw an ad in the paper that McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets would build up wasted tissues, I bought a box and she gained very slowly at first and after taking eight boxes, she gained seven pounds. Thanks to McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, after trying almost everything else on the market, she is on the road to recovery and goes to school every day." Mrs. L. Babcock, Appleton, Wis.

Imitations of McCoy's may be offered but be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine and if after thirty days' treatment you are not delighted with results—why, you get your money back—Adv.

FRENCH LOOK ON SMOOT GESTURE AS CONCLUSIVE

Paris, Oct. 26.—(A. P.)—With the French debt mission back from Washington, they are telling in Paris a story of how Senator Reid Smoot of the American commission put his feet on the table as soon as its use for the deliberations was over.

This story has led L'Oeuvre to suggest ironically that it may become a fashion in France.

"This gesture must not be taken as a sign of bad manners," says L'Oeuvre, "but as marking the end of the conference. The action may not be as striking as the fascist salute, but still it is pleasant, easy, large and symbolic in a way that can be felt intuitively, rather than explained.

"To place a foot on the table is a way of intimating that you have nothing else to put there, and so discussion is closed. It is as simple as a handclasp at the binding of a bargain.

"However, there is no doubt that feet on the table will be 'it' this year. We French don't like the Americans to the points of handing over to them all the money the Germans are now paying us, but we are snobs enough to believe that, although it may be bad form in France to put your elbows on the table, it must be chic to put your feet there, because America does it."
