

EGGS HIGHER BUTTER FIRM COAST MARKETS

Portland, Oct. 28.—(AP)—In spite of a slight increase in storage holdings this week values were well maintained in the local fresh egg market. Fresh medium and underlined eggs are a cent higher on the exchange at 46 and 32 cents respectively. Other grades held steady at recent advances.

A total of 51,040 cases of eggs were reported in Portland coolers yesterday, while the government report shows more than 57,000 cases at the close of last week.

Receipts of fresh eggs in this market yesterday were approximately 287 cases.

Fresh butter continues to display a good healthy tone locally although prices in the east are some what easier. Bids on the dairy exchange held steady and unchanged for the day.

Receipts of county dressed meats are more plentiful now and prices lower on both pork and veal. Choice light hogs are selling today at 17 to 17 1/2 cents while choice light calves can be had at 14 1/2 to 15 cents.

A few dressed turkeys are coming into the local market now and prices are steady at 26 to 40 cents. Live birds held around 39 cents. Other lines of poultry steady and unchanged.

CHERRY ORCHARD PLANTING BEGUN NEAR MACLEAY

With purchases now going on of 15,000 trees, a large number of them local buys, and with immediate planting of 220 acres of Lambert cherries planned, the new Lambert Orchard, Inc., of Macleay has filed its incorporation papers and is getting down to actual business.

Incorporators are O. E. Brooke, George F. Vick and Alvin H. Berg, all prominent local men. It is stated that there are 20 stockholders in the new concern. The company is capitalized for $25,000, with 25 shares at $1,000 apiece and the stock is subscribed.

The orchard will be located near Macleay on soil said to be ideal for cherry development. Nothing but Lambert will be planted. It was thought first a few Bing might be put in but plans were changed and the Lambert will be adhered to strictly throughout the planting.

It is expected the new orchard will start bearing a fair crop in about six years.

The plan is to use the cherries for fresh shipment. The success had by the Salem Cherry Growers association is largely responsible for the new planting, men prominent in the present undertaking having been active in putting over the growers' association with success. They are confident that Will Lambert valley black cherries will become more and more in demand in eastern markets and that by the time the new orchards are in bearing the situation will be developed for a heavy demand for the product.

PRUNES RETURN GROWERS $58 TON

The Producers Canning & Packing company is paying off its 1925 prune pool at the rate of $1.74 a bushel or $58 a ton, an excellent price for prunes.

While no definite figures are given out as to the number of prunes handled by the company for canning purposes, it was stated that the prunes received were exceptionally large considering the small crop generally in this section and considerably more than was expected earlier in the season.

This also is an exceptionally early cleanup of the canned pack, the pool being paid off only a few weeks after the packing season, indicating a rapid sale of the product.

HOP MARKET UP TO 23 CENTS AND HOLDING STEADY

The hop market has become excited again and is showing a strengthening situation since the drop down to prices ranging from 18 to 23 cents, when hops have been selling at 23 cents.

Not only have a few growers unloaded at that but it is understood there has been quite a little trading among dealers. The cause for revival of the market is said to be more local in its nature than a reflection of conditions in the east. McKinley Mitchell and Pritchard of Albany have sold 168 bales at 24 cents; Sam Irvine sold 199 bales at 24 cents and in addition the trading among dealers saw hops pass from one dealer's hand to another at 23 and 24 cents.

Just how long the excitement will last cannot be prognosticated as it is understood it is based more or less on clearing up on some short sales and the situation may change at any minute.

VALLEY LOGANS SELL IN LONDON

With the heavy demand that has developed in England for Pacific northwest loganberries, a demand which has thrown new pep into the industry and materially enhanced growers' interest in their plantings a letter just received by a local woman from her aunt in England is of interest, as it touches on the loganberry there.

"There are several canning companies furnishing berries," she writes, "I have sent you a list of this season's so far. As the new sorts come in I will keep names and prices forwarded on. They all contain one pound, four ounces."

She here enumerates the packs that she has received and tried as follows:

"The Producers Canning Co., Salem, Oregon, 1 shilling 4 pence. 'These are very good,' she comments.

"Lin-Ton Brand, Western Oregon Packing Corporation, Corvallis, Oregon, 1 shilling. 'These are rather soft.'

"Fisher's Loganberries, Washington, 1 shilling. 'Very pappy.'

"Mount Vale brand, Pacific Northwest Canning company, Fuyallup, Wash., 1 shilling 1 pence. 'Only fair.'

"Libby's are very good. They are 1 shilling 3 pence," she states. All of Libby's logans come from Salem and Estacada yards.

"There were quite a lot of brands came in last winter from Oregon," she continues. "You see when our soft fruits are in this ground, frost damage has been reported from a number of sections and generally the crop is panning out poor."

$4 POTATOES IN SIGHT THIS YEAR

Spuds at $4 a bushel is the prospect, according to Bruce Cunningham, who has been raising 70 acres himself this year and consequently has been watching the situation throughout the county with an eagle eye.

Government reports, he states, show potato production this year in 1925, 1926 and 1927, through out the country and harvest reports coming in indicate a shortage everywhere. Rain in New York state was so bad it rotted vast quantities of potatoes in the ground, frost damage has been reported from a number of sections and generally the crop is panning out poor.

Will your New Home be easy to sell? "Check" Seal wiring is a recognized advantage

Nowadays one of the first things prospective home-buyers look for is completeness and quality of the electric installation. No home is salable which lacks convenient connections for electrical appliances, correct lighting and the installation of standard wiring devices.

If for no other reason than to make your home easy to sell, you should insist on "Check" Seal electrical wiring before you build or buy. The "Check" Seal identifies qualified electrical contractors who make your house a real home of electrical comfort. And when you need electrical appliances, remember that the "Check" Seal identifies electrical retailers who sell quality electrical merchandise.
