Mrs. Mary S. Howell died Thursday morning, October 29, at a local hospital after a brief illness. The deceased had been a resident of Salem during a period of over thirty years and was the widow of the late W. S. Howell, a well known citizen. She was a member of the Eastern Star also of St. Paul's Episcopal church. To the latter she made a number of gifts, among which was a large memorial window depicting the Lord's Last Supper. She is survived by one sister, Miss Harriette Jerris, a resident of Portland, Maine, which was also the birthplace of the deceased. Funeral services will be held from St. Paul's Episcopal church at 3:30 p. m. Sunday, after which the remains will be taken to Portland, Maine, for interment.

until during the year 1924 there was more than $20,000,000 worth of business done by telegraph companies in the United States. A multiplex, which Newsome stated is the last word in sending and receiving devices, was displayed at today's luncheon. The sending apparatus operates like the keys of a typewriter, and the receiving apparatus is constructed similar to the typing part of the typewriter. With the multiplex it is possible to send four messages in each of two directions on the same wire at the same time.

Thirty candidates for the Willamette basketball team responded to the first call for candidates yesterday afternoon. Most of the men were inexperienced with the basketball, it was stated by Leslie Sparks, who has charge of the squad until football practice is completed. However, three of last year's team, Robertson, Ericson and Fasnacht, were in suits. Hartley is still in school, but may not be out this season. It is reported that a few of the present football squad have had experience in basketball.

Pajama Parade Will Feature Big Bearcat Rally This Evening

A pajama parade will be held on the streets of Salem at about 7 o'clock tonight, in connection with the Bearcat rally for the Willamette-Whitman game Saturday afternoon, according to details made public this morning by Alvin Bond, yell king at the university. The freshmen will light huge flares at the corners of State and Bligh, Court and High and State and Liberty streets. University men, clad in their evening clothes, will serpentine through the streets of town. The girls will carry flares. Arrangements have been made to carry two buzzsaws on trucks for the purpose of dispensing some additional noise.

Following the parade a rally will be held on the athletic field. The customary freshmen bonfire will be dispensed with, due to the dangers of setting fire to the new gymnasium. The gym nearly broke into a blaze at the time of the freshman fire a year ago. Plans for a huge W, some 10 feet in height, and lighted with numerous railroad flares, have been announced. At the rally the speaker's platform will have a barrel of oil soaked waste at each corner, the waste being lighted when the ceremonies begin.

An attempt, thought to have been by students, was made last night to set the old bleachers on the south side of the field afire. The bleachers have been condemned, and work was begun today tearing them down. The city fire department, called at the time of the fire last evening, had little difficulty in extinguishing the flames before they were well started. None of the bleachers will be used for Saturday's game "except purely at the worst peril," Coach Rathbun stated today.

The Whitman team was expected to arrive in Salem late this afternoon. They are making the trip from Walla Walla to Salem by automobile.

A stiff workout, held by the Bears in private yesterday afternoon, was devoted largely to perfection of defense, the second team using a number of plays similar to the plays Whitman is expected to use.

Incidentally, the Whitman team has a reputation of resorting to a lot of clever stuff. At the game in Walla Walla last year the Missionaries got their lone touchdown on a wide end run pulled immediately after time was taken out and before the Bears had got set. The history of the football relations between the two schools is replete with fumbles made just at the right time when somebody was on hand to recover them, and similar tricks which have kept the jinx working for the past 5 seasons.

Saturday's game starts at 2:30 p. m.

Ruzek of O. A. C. will referee, with Huntington of Salem high school acting as umpire.

THEATER WALLS TO BE READY FOR ROOF NEXT WEEK

Concrete work on the new Elsinore theater, under construction on south high street for George Guthrie, owner of the Oregon theater, should be advanced to the stage where the walls will be ready for the roof by the end of next week, according to Mr. Guthrie.

With the exception of the fire walls the forms are now ready for the concrete on that portion of the building over the stage, which will tower above the rest of the structure, and today the forms are being placed for the third elevation of the side walls of the main auditorium. Forms for the main balcony will be ready to receive the concrete by Tuesday it is expected. The slow work attached to shaping the balcony forms is delaying the pouring of the concrete over the stage, as the contractor wishes to pour the lower elevations before raising the spouter to the elevation required for the stage.

With the removal of the forms from the front of the building the public is getting some idea of the general design and outline of the structure, which is going to be a novelty in theater construction in the west.

The contract for the mill work in the building was let yesterday to the C. K. Spaulding company for $2,014.

No definite date has been set for the completion of the theater, but it is expected that it will be ready for the opening soon after the first of the year.

sory that anyone was harmed, but it was through misunderstanding. In fact I understood that no one was to be harmed, and I want to say the same thing for Jones, Murray and Kelley. I think Jones simply went wild and began shooting, making things turn out the way they did. Both Kelley and I came back to the prison without handcuffs. We said we wanted to answer to the charge of first degree murder, but we did not think we would have to be hanged for it.

"It was a fine speech," Willow told Kelley. "I congratulate you." "You made a fine speech yourself," said Deputy Sheriff Sam Burkhardt, to Willow.

"I thank you, sir," Willow responded to the officer. "That is the first compliment I have received since this entire proceeding started."

Will H. King, attorney for the two convicts was given until December 26 to file a bill of exceptions preparatory to appealing the case to the supreme court. In the Murray case he has until December 5 to file a bill of exceptions. A crowded court room heard the sentences imposed by the court.

ADMINISTRATOR FLED, IS CHARGE

Gregory Krenn, son of John Krenn, deceased, was named as administrator of John Krenn's estate, drew $560 from his dead father's account and departed for Germany without closing the affairs of the estate or making any accounting, according to a petition filed in probate by Theresa Krenner, a daughter, asking for Gregory Krenn's removal as administrator. She seeks to have her husband, Mike Krenner, succeed her brother as administrator.

According to the petition Gregory Krenn not only drew $560 from the bank account of his father's estate, but he told appraisers of the estate that there was but $75 in the bank account of his father when in reality there was $560 and as a result a reappraisal of the estate also is asked.

Other property belonging to the estate is valued at about $4,000, including real property, household goods and farm implements.

PIERCE SAYS WESTON CASE WAS FRAMED

him to that lonely mountain cabin to witness the killing of Krug. The further testimony of Wilson and Stillwell to the effect that Weston admitted the next morning at the mill, the killing of Krug and the burning of his body, is so improbable that it is ridiculous.

"The testimony in regard to the note found in Weston's possession, varies in every trial. I do not believe that any note was found by Weston from the Krug cabin.

Stay Too Flimsy.
"The testimony shows that the only door to the cabin was off its hinges and that it was placed edgewise across the opening; that men could step over this door and that the dogs jumped over it, as it was only 2 1/2 feet high. Stillwell's story is that Weston struck Krug over the head with a club including real property, household goods and farm implements.

kept it from the public for almost two years. I do not believe their story.

No Murder Probable.
"It is my belief that no murder was committed, but that Weston has been the victim of an old-blooded frame-up as was ever known in the records of Weston's criminal procedure. In the minds of the twelve jurors who debated Weston's fate for 75 hours there must have existed grave elements of doubt, as evidenced by the verdict of second degree murder.

During my term as governor, pardons cannot be bought by money, by political prestige, by powerful influence nor by friendship, but they will be granted freely to every unfortunate one when I am convinced that there has been a miscarriage of justice."

While Harry Howe, who is employed by the Webb mortuary, was driving a car in a funeral procession, he collided with a car driven by Harold H. Lauritzen of Junction City. A misjudgment at a street intersection near the Parish Junior High school caused the crash. Damage was nominal.

Mrs. B. B. Herrick, 233 Richmond avenue, reports a collision between her car and one driven by T. S. Webb on State street near the supreme court building. Elizabeth Ann Herrick suffered some injuries on face, head and knee.

Cars driven by Melvina Summers, 1268 North 17th street, and Harold Vogt of Pratum collided at Court and High streets.

The automobile driven by W. S. Pitts, 216 North Commercial street, collided with a street car at Capitol and Chemeketa streets. The accident was due to glaring sunlight. There was little damage.

Died
ESTES—Mrs. Anna Gott Estes died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Harbert of Salem Hatchie, on Oct. 29, at the age of 91 years. She is survived by her daughter and a brother, Frank Estes.
