DALLAS TO HAVE TOWN QUINTET

Dallas, Or., Oct. 31.—Dallas will have a town baseball team again this season and the boys are promising the fans an aggregation that can bring some of the best talent in the valley here this winter for games.

An organization has been completed with Walter Craven as business manager, Jack Hayes as coach and an advisory committee consisting of L. S. Fineth, Charles Blyden and Jack Hayes to back up the team. Snappy new suits have been ordered and business men of Dallas have contributed to a fund to support the team.

The first call for practices will be issued for November 4 and the boys will practice three nights each week—Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Games will be played this year in the Dallas armory instead of the high school gymnasium as last year.

Practically the entire squad of last season is available and there are many other promising players in the city.

INDEPENDENCE

Independence, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Ann Robinson entertained her Sunday school class of eleven girls at a dinner and party Saturday evening.
