

OREGON HOPS SHOW ADVANCE DURING WEEK

Portland, Oct. 31.—Oregon hops closed strong at 2 1/2 cents today with buyers eagerly seeking supplies. This is an advance of 1 to 2 cents a pound over a week ago. A local broker is reported to have purchased 250 bales of clusters at the 2 1/2 cent level. Growers, however, are inclined to be more bullish than ever now and it is doubtful if good hops can be purchased under 2 1/2 cents.

Health buyers are interested in the remainder of the northwest crop and keen competition is expected from now on. Oregon has approximately 75,000 tons of hops according to one broker's figures. Some place the total around 7500 bales.

Figgs closed firm in the local market with fresh standard extras posted a cent higher at 54 cents; other grades were unchanged. No change was made in the local butter market for the week end. All grades closed steady.

Although little change in actual prices is shown, the live poultry market is looking up. Receipts are only moderate and the demand is increasing.

Country dressed meats ranged lower for the week with choice light calves closing at a 15 cent top and choice light hogs at a 17 1/2 cent top.

The local potato market has responded fully to the advance in the east. Growers are making all the way from $2 to $3 for good Burbanks while wholesalers are quoting locally up to $3.

POLK COW SETS RECORD

Lady's Lady Ann, owned by Harry D. Huff of Independence, will be featured by the American Jersey Cattle club as being the only cow in the world with two daughters having produced over 1000 pounds of butterfat. The two daughters are: Mrs. Maves Lady's Lady, world's record senior yearling, and Mrs. Maves Lady's Lady, world's record senior four-year-old, says the Independence Enterprise.

Lady's senior yearling record is 822 pounds of fat. She is now a junior four-year-old record of 1022 pounds of fat. Price record is 1022 pounds. Both cows are owned by Mr. Huff.

MUSICAL ACT IS HEADLINER AT BRIGHT HEATER

History is repeating itself. The world has gone dancing mad, so the world up to the Times, the management has engaged to appear at the Bright heater today Babe Du-Pres and company, in "A Trip to Harmony Land," a singing, dancing and musical extravaganza with beautiful scenery and effects. An offering consisting of gems from the latest hits of the present day, with an unexceptionally furnished royal entertainment. They are clever dancers; sing most delightfully and are expert musicians. An usual combination seen now-a-days in vaudeville.

Miller and Ivors in "Darktown Frivolities," ebony hued singers, characters and hoofers. Both members are comedians of the dual type and much amusement can be expected from this clever team.

Rooney and Russell, a colorful dancing revue. They are experts of the light fantastic and present a selected program of dance numbers with pretty costumes and effects.

Bob Marshall, "The Confidential Snake Artist," in twists and turns. His ideas are his own and done in a flexible and business manner.

Crowden Chums, "A Supreme Novelty," comes highly recommended. A novelty that never fails to register. A versatile couple and three educated dogs. An entertaining offering with many difficult feats and comedy stunts that will entertain the ladies and children.

VAUDEVILLE AT HEILIG SCORES

Complete versatility of program again marked the Association vaudeville acts as given at the Heilig theater Friday night. Each time the crowd goes away from the theater after going Friday night's program, it finds it impossible to see how the entertaining quality of the circuit can be kept up without introducing a somewhat new idea.

Last night even the ushers appeared in new uniforms. The old ones, with their smart looking frockers, natty looking caps and other features, had been abandoned in favor of white flannel trousers and cool looking little sweaters.

The program itself included a brief play and a roller skating act, both entirely new to the Association circuit so far as Salem is concerned. The skating stunt, entitled "The Nifty Twirlers," was given by Gallick and Clarify, and both impressive with the difficulty of the stunts and pleasing to the eye.

On two occasions one of the skaters fell to the neck of the other while he whirled around and around his partner. On one occasion he hung by his hands, but the second time he hung on his toes, skates and all.

"Two Special Delivery Males," by Harry Coily and Jack Trigg, was a combination of chatter, banjo music and song.

The play, "Kissed," wasn't exactly a triangle story, and had more than pure business in it, and yet in a sense it might be considered a combination of these and other elements. Anyway, they sold him the insurance policy.

"On the Boulevard," with Charles Tony and Mihal George, was an act combining a routine with simplicity and an uncanny skill in the things they did—the kind of a combination that always takes so well with the audience. What seemed to make the greatest hit of all was the way the two men, one standing on the shoulders of the other, would walk back and forth across the stage, the upper one swinging his hands in the air, and the lower one in the world. The stunts, such as turning a complete summersault in the air, springing from his partner's shoulders and lighting on them again, were hard to beat.

LEGION TICKET GOOD ANYWHERE ARMISTICE DAY

Tickets admitting the holders to any of a number of attractions in Salem are to be sold by the American Legion in connection with the Armistice day celebration to be staged in this city November 11. A ticket will admit its purchaser to the Eugene high school football game on Sweetland field in the afternoon. It will admit him to the Heilig or the Oregon or the High theater. It will admit him to the dance at the armory or to the Crystal Gardens in the evening.

One ticket will admit one person to only one attraction, members of the committee in charge say; nobody can go to everything except by buying enough tickets, but a ticket, once purchased, will admit the purchaser to any one attraction.

Some arrangements have been made through co-operation between the American Legion committee and the proprietors in charge of the dances, the theaters and high school authorities who have charge of the football game.

Legionnaires will sell the tickets. The Salem high school team, although playing in the first half of the game scored 13 points against the Albany high school eleven and won by a score of 3 to 0. Fumbles lost the game for the Albany team. Several times they were on the Salem ten and twenty yard line only to fumble.

The local crowd of their stars due to sickness and Albany out-weighted the red and black eleven eight or ten pounds to the man.

Harold Olinger, Salem end who was switched to quarterback for this game due to the illness of Bob Drager, regular quarter, was hurt in the first minute of play. Albany took the kickoff and after a play punted to Olinger who returned the ball 16 yards. As he was tackled by three men, one low and the other two on top he fell to the ground on his head. The blow could be heard in the grandstand. Olinger quivered and went limp. Dr. Brown of Salem worked over him for awhile and then he was sent to the Albany hospital but came back to Salem later in the evening. It was at first feared that he had suffered concussion of the brain, but developed to be nothing but a severe shock. Olinger was unconscious for an hour and a quarter. It is reported.

Four fumbles, all of them deep back and lost the ball 87 yards for the kick. Nearly 300 Salem routers attended the game. Salem made 60 yards in six straight first downs just before the whistle. Lyons, Ecker, J. Drager featured for the locals. In the last half the locals outplayed the Albany team. J. Drager proved to be the star when he booted the ball for over 60 yards on punts. At one time the ball went over 70 yards but it was called back as Salem was offside. Salem has won all of their games so far this season with the exception of the Chemawa Indians.

A meeting of the writers' club will be held on Tuesday evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Morton E. Peck.

PRINCE PERTURBED OVER LOSS OF HIS INKSTAND

London, Oct. 31.—(A. P.)—The Prince of Wales is much perturbed over the loss of his highly treasured inkstand, which he used constantly aboard the battleship Repulse during his tour to South Africa and South America. The Daily Express says the inkstand was in his baggage when the prince's tour ended, but that since that time he has been unable to find it. He is reported to get off with his own life.

GROWERS URGED TO HOLD SPUDS

Warning is given by Bruce Cunningham, potato grower, that the potato crop is being held up by a shortage of spuds at $2 a bushel will make a cleanup on them at the expense of local growers because of the prospective glut on the market. He states that Yakimas are now being sold by growers at from $30 to $50 a ton and probably will go higher. The Colorado crop was frozen out, he says, and reports from the east indicate that the crop conditions and shortages there.

Cunningham declares that everything looks good in the price way for the grower who will hang on to his spuds for a time and that dealers who can pick them up at $2 stand to make a big killing before the winter is over.

Mrs. Friday Nybert will entertain Friday bridge luncheon for club members in her home on Friday of next week.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Robertson will have as their guests over the week end their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Robertson of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Churchill motored to Newport early in the week. Mrs. Churchill visited friends in Newport while Mr. Churchill attended a teachers' institute in Toledo.

Miss Selma Hillmer is spending the week end with friends in Milwaukie, Oregon.

DENSE FOG GRIPS LONDON

London, Oct. 31.—(A. P.)—London's first real "pea soup" fog of the season arrived at noon today. This city's work everywhere was carried on with the aid of electricity but street traffic was greatly hindered and shipping in the Thames ceased entirely. The weather exhibition authorities turned on all the searchlights in the big fair grounds in an effort to carry out the closing day exercises as scheduled.

SALEM DEFEATS ALBANY BY KICK IN FIRST HALF

The Salem high school team, although playing in the first half of the game scored 13 points against the Albany high school eleven and won by a score of 3 to 0. Fumbles lost the game for the Albany team. Several times they were on the Salem ten and twenty yard line only to fumble.
