

EGG VALUES AGAIN DROP 1 TO 2 CENTS

FRESH RECEIPTS MODERATE, BUT DEMAND IS LESS

Portland, Ore., Nov. 2.—(A.P.)—Egg values are easier in the local market with quotations on the daily exchange 1 to 2 cents lower. Fresh standard extras and firsts are off 2 cents at 54 and 51 cents respectively. Ungraded eggs are a cent lower at 31 cents.

Fresh egg receipts are still moderate but the demand is less than during the past month approximately 12,500 cases were received in the local market or an average of 430 cases per day.

The local butter market is steady and unchanged. Cooler stock are very light with only 101,639 pounds reported on the first of November as against 195,334 pounds on October 1.

Approximately 275,307 pounds of butter were received and 207,183 pounds manufactured in Portland during the month of October.

Cheese production is still running behind the consumption on demand with a strong market the result. Receipts for the month amounted to 298,786 pounds of triplets and 117,995 pounds of loaf cheese.

There is little likelihood of local potato prices easing off as long as eastern markets are booming. Today Idaho sacked Russets are bringing $4.50 per hundred in the Chicago market. At Yakima, U. S. No. 1 Nelsens are held at $7.00 per ton with combination grades bringing $4.50 to $6.00 per ton. This means at least $3.70 per hundred for No. 1 Nelsens delivered to Portland and around $2.35 to $3.50 for combination stock. Few U. S. No. 1 Burbanks are being offered locally. The few available are being held firm at $2.50 f. o. b. shipping point by the growers.

Steady improvement is shown in the local poultry market with prices on the upward trend. Receipts are moving out promptly at top levels. Today light hens are strong at 17 cents with heavy hens at 25 cents. Live broilers are up to 25 and 30 cents with ducks at 23 to 25 cents. Turkeys bring 30 to 32 cents with No. 1 dressed birds up to 40 cents.

Country dressed meats still quiet with the market sluggish. Values are barely holding.

RATE ON APPLES TO CALIFORNIA IS PROTESTED

Washington, Nov. 2.—(A.P.)—The order of the interstate commerce commission that discrimination be removed in the adjustment of rates between Oregon and California, the apple growers' association of Hood River, joined with Jacobs, Malcolm & Hart, San Francisco dealers, has filed a brief with the commission in opposition to increases on apples carried by the railroad schedule.

Instead of removing discrimination by reducing branch line rates, says the brief, the San Francisco group rate was increased, resulting in a 63-cent rate in place of 53 cents from Hood River to San Francisco and a like 10-cent increase from Parkdale, Dec and Van Horn.

The apple increase arises from alignment to preserve existing relationships. It is stated, and avoid fourth section violation, without proper regard to the rates themselves.

In substantiation of the importance of the business moving from the Hood River valley to California, it is pointed out that 448 cars of apples were shipped in 1924 and 206 in 1925. California is in particular a market for Yellow Newtowns, but in competition with California-grown fruit.

Country dressed meats still quiet with the market sluggish. Values are barely holding.

40 SACKS POTATOES STOLEN

Reed, Ore., Nov. 2.—Forty sacks of potatoes were taken from the root cellar of S. D. Mustard near Powell Butte last Saturday night, according to reports received in Reed today. Members of the family said they found automobile tracks in the yard after discovering the loss of the potatoes Sunday morning.

Mustard, who is one of the big potato growers of Powell Butte on the Central Oregon Irrigation project recently sold for delivery at Redmond, three carloads of potatoes at $3.50 per hundred, field run.

ter of the block. It happens that in the block involved here there are two alleys, one of which runs only partially through. Obviously it would be unfair to assess part of it to the first alley and the other part to the center of the block.

Personalities were hurried in vigorous fashion last night between R. R. Ryan, a North Front street property owner, and Alderman Wenderoth, the councilman from that district. Ryan was granted the courtesy of the floor and defied the council to make him install a sidewalk in front of his property, declaring that the council could not do so under its charter until the street had been brought up to grade. It would be foolish to make the improvement unless the street were brought up to grade he said.

"This is just a scheme by the councilman from that district," he said, "to gain a little prestige. But when the next election rolls around he will be the worst defeated candidate who ever came up for election in this town."

"You wanted the sidewalk two years ago and were notified to put it in, and I'm going to see that it is put in and assessed to you," asserted Wenderoth.

"I haven't put it in two years and I won't put it in two more or 10 years," shouted Ryan.

Wenderoth contended that the street had been brought up to grade.

Before the two got through talking Mayor Glynn had to bar personalities from the argument.

next Monday night, but City Attorney Kovitz said the tentative budget could not be ready by that time.

Wednesday night, November 11, was objected to because it was Armistice day. Some thought the following Friday night ought to be satisfactory to everybody, but the very fact that it was Friday brought an objection from one member who thought so important a matter as the city budget ought not to be subjected to the dangers of the Friday link. Then someone happened to remember that Friday would also be the 13th, so Friday had no chance at all.

While Thursday night was thought to be a little early, considering the fact that the tentative figures are lacking, it was finally accepted as a compromise.

has stumped the state for them, saying that as he intends to retire to private life, he wants them to be his heritage to the state in gratitude for the honors it has shown him.

Although there has been some republican machine opposition to the amendments several leaders of that party have endorsed all or some of them. Former Governor B. B. Odell, republican last night expressed his approval. Republican opposition has been especially keen against the proposed bond issues.

The campaign for the amendments has overshadowed the city campaign in state interest since Governor Smith's sensational fight against William Randolph Hearst and Mayor John F. Hylan to win the democratic nomination for Senator Walker. Hearst, several days ago, endorsed Walker, and yesterday he came out with a criticism of the governor, saying he had made the mistake three times of supporting him for governor and that was three times too many. The publisher accused the governor of "always making deals with the big interests."

MARKET TREND INDICATES $5 SPUDS IN SIGHT

Apparitions indicate that good spuds this year are not to be counted in the nature of good omens before the winter is over.

Reyes Cunningham, local grower, has just sold his entire output of 1925 spuds to Doyle & Company at $2.50 a bushel, but this does not tell the whole story. The spuds were sold field run, just as they come for that price and are a poor quality figured to be equivalent to a $3.50 price for No. 1.

A letter received by a local man from Yakima states that buyers have been buying here and where ever potatoes are for sale packing prices are at a premium.

Yakima farmers who are being offered 45¢ a ton are holding out in some instances for $1.00 a ton and predictions are being made there of repetition of the conditions in 1919 when spuds sold for $2.00 a ton after the heavy Christmas freeze.

A Portland buyer telephoned to a local man today instructing him to buy spuds, the price not being made.

It is confidently expected that first class spuds will run along to $5 a sack before the year is out. Difficultly already is being encountered in local people in some instances getting their supplies and while there still are potatoes on hand all right they are not nearly so numerous as when a few weeks ago they were scarce.

of the council to make an individual investigation and bring the subject up later.

After the original petition for concrete and the remonstrance against it had been presented to the city council, and the people presented another petition for blacktop, the council voted it down. The reason is now too far advanced to pave the street this year.

The Associated Charities of Salem is still without quarters for the winter. Alderman Engstrom of the public buildings committee reported last night that the committee had found only one building in the downtown district, and that one is the Meyers house on State street near the Ellis temple where the organization claimed the rent is too high. The rental price is $25 a month.

Order Light Installed

The light committee reported favorably last night on the petition for a street light at Jefferson and North Church and the report was adopted. On condition that the new Hellig theater sign is properly cabled the committee reported favorably on that sign, which has been the subject of some controversy in the council. The report was adopted.

A letter was read from Allan Mitchell, a tourist who was severely burned when a pot of coffee turned over at the Salem camp around last summer, declaring that unless some move is made for settlement of damages he will bring suit against the city. The letter was referred to the city attorney.

Remonstrance Signed

Persons who had petitioned for the improvement of McClellan Avenue between Jefferson and Northway last night signed their names.

to a remonstrance against the project.

Petitions for street light at North Winter and South streets, Marion and 22nd, and North Capitol between Hunt and Madison were received.

Sidewalk resolutions were adopted for new concrete walks on the west side of Winter street.

The city attorney and city engineer were instructed to stop a man named Benjamin from filling a ditch in the parking on Cross street between the railroad and 12th street. The man lives near Gervais and refused to stop filling the ditch when warned by Street Commissioner Low, declaring he had to do it to keep the winter weather water from overflowing some of his property. Should he fill the ditch it is claimed the property of other persons will be overflowed.

Street Commissioner Low reported that just for a Halloween joke some boys took up a section of sidewalk on 12th street and tore it to pieces. He wanted to know whether he should replace it and was informed that he should.

An ordinance bill was passed aggregating the cost of improving North 15th street from D to North.

Two ordinances were introduced. One provides for assessing the cost of improving North Winter street between Market and South, and the other provides for regulation of the installing of radio and radio equipment.

quest which the teachers are expected to make for an increase in salary. A committee from the teachers is expected to appear before the board at tonight's meeting and submit plans which will entail an increase amounting to $10,000 or $10,000 annually. The teachers' committee, which is working with a committee from the board and committees from some of the service clubs of the city, expects eventually to publish showing a comparison between salaries in this city and salaries in other first class districts of the state.

With the request which the teachers are preparing to make, added to the actual deficit faced in school expenses for the current year, a special election by the people for the purpose of voting a special tax, is deemed practically certain to be held.

Thirteen new teachers have been added to the teaching staff of the school system this fall, at a cost of $14,635. Three of the new teachers have been added to the high

In addition to the increase due to new salaries, the so-called natural increase, due to automatic raises in salaries of instructors who have completed certain periods of service, will amount to a total of $3,675 this year over last year.

The 13th new teacher of the year was added yesterday at Parish junior high school. The new instructor is Miss Margaret McCleod.

Money required for the payment of interest and principal on bonds is not considered as part of the same tax as used for running expenses of the school system, and does not come under the state law providing for a minimum increase of 4 per cent annually. The total amount to be paid by the taxpayers, however, is as follows: $10,000 on the $64,650 old bonds now outstanding, $10,000 on the $100,000 paid for the addition to the senior high school addition building two years ago, $20,000 on the $210,000 Parish junior high school building constructed a year ago, and a total of $17,132 in interest on all bonds.

The grand total to be expended this year is $33,632, as against $13,700 a year ago. Interest on the bonds will be less this year than last, due to the fact that the district has less bonded indebtedness than a year ago. Street assessments for work near the McKinley and Grant school buildings, however, is a new expense and amounts to $500.

Increased expenditures for maintenance and repairs this year has amounted to $1500 more than last year. Expenditures on some buildings were less than a year ago, but on the Grant school alone exactly $1500 was spent for kalsomining, painting inside and out, and patching the roof. A new roof on the Richmond school cost $500.

"Home Manager— Purchasing Agent— Art Director—Wife"

JUST a slim girl, maybe, or a motherly woman with sweet eyes and white hair—but what a responsibility is hers!

She is the active partner in the business of running a home. She buys most of the things which go to make home life happy, healthful and beautiful. Through her slim, safe fingers goes most of the family money.

And wisely and well it is usually spent too—far better than the average man could spend it himself. For women are better purchasing agents than men. They compare prices, weigh values and shop carefully.

They read advertisements regularly. Every day you'll find the wise little home manager searching the advertising columns for news that will add to the comfort, convenience and improvement of her home. You will find the same clever purchasing agent studying the advertisements to find where and when to buy, and what too, tell this responsive art director how she can make her home more beautiful, more individual—the kind of home that a man appreciates but never knows how it is done!

Advertisements are the wise counsellors in the spending of money that the clever housewife heeds daily.

The business of running a home is made easier by reading the advertisements
