SCUTCHING AND RETTING PLANT AT ALBANY URGED

Albany, Nov. 2.—Col. W. E. Bartram and R. O. Snelling, representing the Salem linen mills, were guests at the Round Table Club, Monday, where they made an offer to erect a scutching and retting plant at Albany next year if this community will subscribe to $50,000 worth of the stock of the company.

Colonel Bartram succeeded in convincing the large attendance at today's meeting of the financial possibilities of the linen business and expressions were heard among prominent members that it would be possible for Albany to take $50,000 of the stock if sufficient guarantees were made that plants would be erected here. Colonel Bartram set forth the idea that Albany territory should produce from 500 to 750 acres of flax in 1926, which would require a crew of men working from autumn until early spring in retting and scutching. The next year this should be doubled and by that time he stated that a fair sized crew would be maintained here the entire year.

The investment that the company would have to make here would be more than $30,000 in sheds, retting vats and other buildings and machinery. The speaker predicted that within two years time Albany would be in the market for a linen mill of its own.

A Modern Roman Road

REACHING into her distant corners were the Roman Empire's military roads, built that the couriers or armies of Caesar might have highways that were dependable.

Through the industrial heart of America—from New York to Chicago—a highway for the voice has just been dedicated to service, likewise designed to afford dependability to its travelers. This is the world's longest telephone cable which, buried beneath the streets of crowded cities, and elsewhere held aloft on heavy poles, now offers communication facilities that are practically free from the hazards of storms and other dangers.

In affording rapid and dependable transit to thoughts voiced every minute between great cities, it serves a large territory both alone and as part of a national wire system that is being further extended through cables in response to the people's need.

To men whose pipes burn hotter than 'L and Maria

Gettin' hot under the bat-wing won't cool down the Fahrenheit in that old underslung... For any pipe 'll burn infernally fast and hot if you stoke 'er with tobacco that's cut too blame fine... But ream 'er clean and pack 'er full of Granger—it's cut rough to burn slow and cool—then you'll find it "20 degrees cooler inside" and the smoothest, sweetest piece of smoking you ever experienced.

It's cut rough to burn cool—a scientific fact

The finer tobacco's cut, the faster it burns—and the hotter! The rate of combustion depends on the oxygen around each particle of tobacco so Granger's cut coarse (Rough Cut, we call it)—to burn slower, smoke cooler and last longer.
