NEW CITY WELL IN WEST SALEM IS COMPLETED

West Salem, Or., Nov. 6.—The well being dug here for the municipal water system was finished this morning. The well is 30 feet in depth. The contractor, who had agreed to dig it 25 feet, finished their part of the work a week ago, and the city has had charge of putting it down the remaining 5 feet.

A Salem plumbing company is installing a large pump of the plunger type, which will deliver 5000 gallons of water an hour into the concrete reservoir located on the hill about half a mile west of the well. The reservoir has a capacity of 60,000 gallons of water and maintains water in the city mains at about 75 pounds pressure. "This well will be the only one we will need for the next 20 years," said John Gussler, mayor of West Salem this morning. The city water is used for irrigation as well as drinking purposes whenever needed. About half the users are equipped with meters. The average cost per user is said to be about $1.50 per month as an average throughout the year.

The water as produced from the well is entirely free from the rust which has been found in some wells in the vicinity here. It was stated this morning upon completion of the well. It ranks with the purest water in Oregon.

Chapman Not Likely To Hang For Murder Attorney Declares

Chapman was sentenced to be hanged last June but was granted a reprieve by Governor Trumbull when an appeal was filed. He now has the death penalty on the morning of December 3 unless proceedings contemplated by his counsel succeed.

When notified by the prison warden at Wetherfield that the supreme court had ruled against him, Chapman's comment was, "Twas no more than I expected." The supreme court's decision reviewing the bandit's murder of the postman when surprised while attempting to rob a store, concluded that there was no error in his trial.

Chapman has lost his legal battle for life a few days after the killing by a detective in Muskegon, Mich., of his companion in crime, "Dutch" Anderson, really Ivan Dahl Von Teller, blacksheep of a noble family.

Chapman has not been informed of Anderson's death.

Cars driven by Mrs. David, 1222 North Liberty street, and H. K. Stockwell collided at Hood and Winter with slight damage.

C. P. Egan of Portland claims that the reason his automobile and one driven by Wayne Ray, 620 South 15th street, collided at Mission and South Commercial streets was that Ray failed to give right of way.

HOPE SEES A STAR Life is a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the voiceless lips of the unreplying dead there comes no word; but in the night of death hope sees a star and listening love can hear the rustle of a wing.—R. G. I.

PRINCETON AND DARTMOUTH ARE FAVORED TO WIN

New York, Nov. 6.—(A. P.)—Princeton and Dartmouth are general favorites in major football battles in the east tomorrow. In some circles they are two to one choices over Harvard and Cornell, respectively.

Harvard men insist, however, that early season records are not always accurate forecasts. Cornell waits confidently behind an unbroken string of big Rod victories and the pessimism of coach Dobbie.

Harvard is in good condition for the fray at Princeton, with but one position in the lineup undecided. This post, left guard, may be filled by either Tripp or C. Bradford. Check, Miller, Crosby and Coody have been selected to start in the backfield.

Gil Dobbie was more pessimistic than usual as he arranged the big Red battle lines for tomorrow's battle with undefeated Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H., declaring his eleven just an "ordinary team," he hinted changes in the backfield.

Syracuse, one of the four undefeated top flight elevens, will endeavor to maintain its winning streak tomorrow against Ohio Wesleyan.

PLUG HOLES IN DRY LAW SAYS HUDSON

(Continued from page one) the previous leaks fairly well stopped. Even the distribution of this growing loss, he said, because four states—New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California—are credited with more than 60 per cent of the total prescriptions issued for liquor for medicinal purposes. There are 23 states, the questionnaire brought out, where physicians cannot legally prescribe liquor.

Alcohol Leakers The committee of congressmen estimated that there is a leakage of about six million gallons of denatured alcohol a year into bootleg channels for re-distribution of the 135,897,752 produced last year. The production of alcohol has grown tremendously, he said.

OREGON TODAY

Reginald Denny in "California Straight Ahead"

There is a divergence of opinion in the matter of the death rate from alcohol, the committee report showed. "In 1922 the death rate had been 2.6, about one-half the rate when prohibition became effective, but this was increase of almost one per cent over 1921, and 1923 brought the death rate up to 3.2. The lowest rate in the five wet years was 4.1 in 1915. How much of this increased percentage in 1922 and in 1923 is due to synthetic liquors is hard to estimate, but the fact is that there is not left any of the old alcoholism of former days. "A million lives have been saved by the decrease in death rate of Public officials, professional and business men, wet and dry partisans with almost one accord," he said, declared that the best program of 4.4 did not satisfy those who wanted stronger alcoholic liquor. It has not reduced the number of illicit stills, in fact in some places it has increased them. Beverage rooms found themselves unprofitable that it was freely predicted great numbers would refuse to apply for a renewal of their permits, unless the government would assure them that beer of much stronger alcoholic content than 4.4 would be permitted.

Since prohibition exempts no class and was imposed by the people themselves it is neither tyrannical nor summary. Prohibition is the ultimate method of dealing with the liquor traffic."
