HUSKIES ON TOP IN TITLE RACE; ONE GAME LEFT

Oregon is the only obstacle in the path of the University of Washington Huskies toward their stride for Coast football supremacy. The Huskies meet the Lemon-yellow team at Seattle on Thanksgiving. Should Washington lose to Oregon they would be tied with Stanford for honors. Washington defeated the Cardinals, however. The Huskies may find tough sledding in defeating the Oregon team. Last year Washington was a large favorite to defeat Oregon but the Washington team went down to defeat 7 to 7 in a bitterly fought game which put them in a tie with Stanford and California. This year the Huskies are taking no chances of having the feat of last year repeated. They have been working hard and expect to throw their full strength into the fray.

Stanford fought last Saturday and defeated the California bears 26 to 14. Ernie Nevers, star fullback and captain of the Cardinals was too much for the Bears although they did threaten in the last quarter when they shoved across their two tallies and threatened with another one when the Cardinal line braced and held them for downs on the one yard line.

O. A. C. continued their victorious stride when they defeated the Vandals at Moscow Saturday by a score of 16 to 7. O. A. C. has been defeated but once this season, that at the hands of the Stanford eleven. They have one of their toughest games to play when they clash with the University of Southern California on December 5th.

Washington state and Gonzaga fought to a scoreless tie at Spokane. The Washington state team was a favorite to win but Gonzaga was too much for them.

The University of Washington team had a small practice game when they met and defeated the Colleg of Puget Sound at Tacoma, 7 to 7.

The University of Southern California defeated Iowa 18 to 6 Saturday. They were strong favorites to win by a much larger score. The Iowa team held them to a long touchdown until the heat began to tell and the Southern California team crossed the goal line twice more.

Idaho will play Creighton at Omaha Thanksgiving day. Gonzaga will clash with the Multnomah club team. The Cougars will meet Southern California.

SILVERTON

Silverton, Ore. Nov. 23.—(Special)—The Pythian Sisters Home Temple No. 21 held a most successful special meeting on Friday night of last week. The purpose of the meeting was to initiate five candidates. Orpha Lodge of Portland put on the work and fancy drills. About 125 Knights and Sisters were in attendance.

Rev. O. J. Ordahl of Parkland Wash. spent the week-end at Silverton as guest at the home of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. George Hendrickson. The Rev. Mr. Ordahl is president of the Pacific Lutheran college at Parkland.

Dr. P. A. Loard has gone east to visit the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn. While away Dr. Loard will also visit at Detsy Layne, Kentucky. He expects to return to Silverton in the middle part of December. Mrs. Loard preceded Dr. Loard in going east.

Trinity Young People's society met Sunday afternoon at Trinity social rooms. Lunch was served by Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. John Dybek, and Mrs. N. O. Holman. The program for the afternoon included vocal solos by Mrs. Alvin Legard and Mrs. Pearl Davis of Jefferson, talks by the Rev. O. J. Ordahl, and the Rev. George Hendrickson, piano diet by Jerald Hansen and Alma Neshelm. At the business meeting it was voted to give $100 to the Pacific Lutheran college which is situated at Parkland Wash.

MILL CITY

Mill City, Ore. Nov. 23.—Edward Gregory of this city has joined the Marines and is now located in the training station near San Pedro, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Raines of Detroit spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Raines' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Haseman.

J. W. Vanhook of Portland, sales manager for the Hammond Lumber company, was in the city Saturday transacting business.

Mrs. M. E. Moley of Silverton is visiting a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. T. Haseman.

F. M. French and E. C. Roberts of Albany were here Friday looking after their business interests. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Johnson and daughter Hazel of Portland were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Haseman.

W. H. Jenkins of Portland, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific company, was a business visitor here Saturday.

First call for players on the high school basketball team has been made, and the majority of the material is out practicing hard now to try and make the first team. Present prospects indicate that they will have a good team this year.

Rude Realism Gives "What Price Glory" Novel Stage Appeal

The show that made New York and San Francisco gasp at the rude realism of its language, and laugh and come again, while the newspaper columns spread news of an new departure in the theatre all over the country, is coming to Salem. That show is "What Price Glory," the epic of the United States Marine Corps, by Maxwell Anderson and Laurence Stallings, which is showing at the Heilig theatre Wednesday night.

The company is the original Pacific coast cast of the play, the cast which recently finished an engagement of several weeks in San Francisco. Emmett Corrigan, well known in New York successes but comparatively new to the west, plays the role of Captain Flagg, the character that is said for realism and all-aroundness to rival many of the barrack-room acquaintances of Klondike, the man like whom all male drivers are said to curse, who fights because he likes it and know nothing else and can understand nothing but fighting.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT HAYESVILLE

The Hayesville Community club held their annual meeting Thursday at the Hayesville school. After a brief business meeting, the rest of the evening was spent with a very delightful Thanksgiving program.

There were several fine numbers on the program, one being a concert given by an Orthophonic Victoria, courtesy of the Moore Music House. The music was well chosen and enjoyed immensely by all.

Charles Archard, the speaker of the evening, gave a very interesting talk to the children. Benefit was derived by all.

A number of very clever Scotch songs selections were given by C. R. Muston, accompanied on the piano by Wendell Helm. Each number was followed by a hearty appreciative applause.

Another added attraction was a delightful program given by the pupils of the school, which was as follows: Song, school; recitation, Margaret Sammons; recitation, Robert Brady; pageant, school; recitation, Maxine Welch; recitation, Kula Bailey; song, school; recitation, Hazel Utterback; recitation, Earl Hunt; song, five school girls; recitation, Lila Morarity; recitation, Roy Hunt; song, school.

Salem Takes Valley Grid Title; Defeat Corvallis High 7 to 0

By outflanking and outsmarting the Corvallis high school football eleven the Red and Black warriors of Salem captured the high school football championship of the Willamette valley, Saturday afternoon, on the Corvallis gridiron. There was some misunderstanding as to the final score, as it was at first reported 7 to 0 and then later as 6 to 0. Not many of the spectators were sure of the final standing. The locals were granted the extra point although the ball did not go between the goal posts, a Corvallis man being offside.

The locals made the winning points in the first three minutes of play and then proceeded to play defensive football most of the time.

Salem kicked off to Corvallis, who touched the ball and then permitted the locals to recover the ball on the Corvallis 25-yard line. Taking heart the locals started a march down the field and crossed the goal line when R. Lyons took the ball. The attempt to convert failed, but an off-side on Corvallis automatically gave the point to Salem. The two teams were so evenly matched that it was anybody's game until the final whistle. Both sides made consistent gains through the opposing lines, but were weak on the defense.

Twice the Corvallis eleven threatened, once dropping the ball after it had been pounded across Salem's goal line where it was recovered by Kelly and then booted to safety. The second chance came in the last few minutes of play when Corvallis, following an aerial attack, came down the field and a pass was muffed on Salem's five-yard line with the way clear to the goal line.

The locals threatened in the final period when they attempted to drop kick from the 20-yard line. Another Corvallis rally was stopped when the Red and Black team braced on the five-yard line in the second period after Corvallis came down the field, rolling off first down with regularity.

J. Drager made an excellent run and brought the crowd to its feet when he rolled off 30 yards from punt formation in the second period. The final quarter was the most exciting, the Corvallis eleven pounding the line for good gains until a wild pass from center stopped the advancing team on Salem's 33-yard line. The third down found the teams lined up on the two-yard line when the disheartened fumble occurred, losing for Corvallis the chance to at least even the score. Several passes and a penalty gave Corvallis the ball on the Salem 15-yard line but another pass was intercepted and the ball returned to the 25-yard line as the final whistle blew.

Several hundred rooters accompanied the Salem team to the game. A serpentine between the halves was formed, at least 200 students participating. In spite of the fact that Corvallis advanced the ball 324 yards to Salem's 73, the locals won for the first time in four years, the Corvallis team winning the championship for the three previous years. Corvallis made 14 first downs against Salem's seven. The locals have only suffered one defeat this season, that at the hands of the Chemawa Indians.

To the Editor:—I would like to ask a question in the Open Forum and get a little information? Is there a law in this state that requires the Governor to send out by mail a nicely printed copy of his Thanksgiving Proclamation to every minister in this state? If there is no such law? then who pays for all the postage paper and printing? If the Governor does not then how is he going to cut our taxes in half? It looks to me as some scheme to get the good will of the ministers on his Volstead record for some future political campaign. Your Truly,
