

WHEAT PRICE SOARS FIVE CENTS BUSHEL

REPORTS OF CROP DAMAGE IN SOUTH AMERICA CAUSE

Chicago, Nov. 24.—(A.P.)—Soaring prices carried the wheat market five cents a bushel higher today almost as soon as trading began. December delivery shot upward to $1.53 3/4 as compared with $1.58 3/4 to $1.59 at yesterday's finish.

In subsequent trading the initial gains were outside, the more distant deliveries, May and July, showing quickly an advance of a fraction above five cents compared with yesterday's finish.

Buying fever was especially aroused by reports that black rust had developed in the principal wheat areas of Pampas and Buenos Aires provinces, that extremely wet weather was prevailing in the central section of Argentina, a condition likely to make crop before the day was ended wheat prices had climbed as much as 13 1/2 cents in some cases. Big selling through to take profit led to declines in the final hour.

PRUNE MARKET HOLDS STEADY

The California prune market is steady at quotations which are, with the exception of the most plentiful sizes, at present firm on the basis of the Prune Association's opening, says the California Fruit News. Oregon prunes are in very small quantities. One authority estimates as little as 200 tons unshipped in growers' hands and the estimates of Pacific Northwest prunes unshipped in all hands vary from 25 to 45 per cent of the production as being left there. Considering the small tonnage of their last crop, this is a very small amount to be moved. Present asking prices for Italian prunes are quite below, but vary as to seller more than usual. 20-20s are practically cleaned up but a few are quieting at 17 1/2 @ 18c. An occasional offering of 25-30s at 12c is learned of and some are holding as high as 14c. 30-40s constitute the principal Oregon size available. There are but few 35-40s and practically no 40-50s in the Oregon crop. The few Oregon French prunes that there have been active during the last few days and foreign inquiry far such has about cleaned them up, we understand.

FRENCH PRUNE CROP IS SHORT

Under date of October 13 American Vice-Consul Alfred D. Cameron of Paris, France, furnishes the following statement, according to the California Fruit News:

"Prunes are always a good market for American prunes but the amounts taken depend very largely upon the size of the French domestic crop. The crop of plums and prunes has been seriously affected by bad weather and it has been generally assumed in the trade that imports would be somewhat larger than usual. But the estimation of the probable dried prune crop during the growing season is hazardous, as a large and varying proportion of the total crop is used on the farm as fresh fruit and for home-made preserves and large quantities are also used by small brandy distillers who produce strong alcoholic drinks from the juices of various fruits."

"From the report made by the American consul at Bordeaux based upon personal investigation in the leading prune producing region of France, it now appears that the 'Prune d'Ente' crop will be less than a half crop and it is believed to be the worst that the prune region of southwest France has experienced since 1903."

"Agents for Jugoslavian prunes have been making heavy deliveries in France in recent months and are said to be cutting prices so as to offer serious competition with the American product."

EUROPEAN RATE ON FRUITS CUT

The action recently taken by the international steamship lines, increasing rates for the coming year on various commodities of interest to coast shippers to Atlantic Coast ports, is now followed by the announcement of similar purposes from the European line, says the California Fruit News. It is understood that the European steamship companies operating out of Pacific Coast ports are arranging to put into effect in May next an increase in rates. This will include, according to the present understanding, a 10c advance on the canned goods water freight rate and a 5c advance on dried fruits. These advances indicate a return to pre-war levels in water shipping costs and it is understood, suggest the falling in line of trans-Pacific and coastwise companies a little later, in completion of the whole movement. Steamer lines have been complaining that regardless of the amount of cargo handled, low rates prevailing have made it impossible for them to make any money.

IDAHO TURKEY BRINGS 42 CENTS PER POUND

Paying 4 cents per pound higher than the average bid, The Peter Fox Sons company of Chicago purchased the entire state pool of Idaho turkeys at Boise, Idaho, this week—nine cars of turkeys in all. Mrs. C. O. Brink of Boise, the organizer of the pool says: "The Peter Fox Sons company of Chicago purchased our pool, paying 42 cents a pound. The average bids this year were 38 cents a pound. This year's price is 10 cents higher than last year's highest bid of 32 cents."

It is believed that this is the first big pool to be sold this fall. Undoubtedly this purchase practically established turkey prices for this season.

LAST OF CELERY CARS ICED HERE PRICES SOARING

Telling of celery cars for the Lake Erie district was completed yesterday with prices reported to be soaring high for the late celery running as high as $3.75 to $4. This year 277 cars of celery were sent for the district as compared to 188 for the last year, indicating the steady advance in production.

Celery was shipped all over the western territory and into the south. Prices started off fairly low, increasing in price as the cars advanced.

The lake country is producing a high quality product and is finding a ready market wherever it goes.

It is reported that next year considerable planting will be done to bring on November celery as the demand is very large and the prices high.

1,599,000 ACRES DRY BEANS IN CULTIVATION

There were 1,599,000 acres of edible dry beans cultivated in the United States in 1925 as compared with 1,400,000 acres in 1924, according to the Federal Department of Agriculture. This resulted in an increased production of nearly 8,000,000 bushels, according to preliminary estimates for 1925, more than in 1924, the total for this year being put at 18,549,000 bushels, compared with 12,619,000 bushels a year ago.

STATE DRAINAGE MEET PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED
Announcement has been made of the tentative program of the Oregon State Drainage Association's eleventh annual session at the chamber of commerce in Salem to be held Tuesday, December 15. The 15 trustees and other officers of the Oregon Irrigation Congress have been called to meet in connection with the session of the drainage association and the association will be invited to adopt their new constitution and join in a broader program for reclamation to be state-wide.

BUTTER AND EGG VALUES POSTED ONE CENT LOWER

Portland, Ore., Nov. 24.—(A.P.)—Butter and eggs are displaying a weaker tone in the local market. Receipts are heavy and prices have been too high, dealers assert, to warrant a good heavy movement. On the exchange for extra eggs are a cent lower and firsts 2 cents lower at 52 cents and 50 cents respectively. Other grades were posted steady and unchanged.

In the butter division extras and standard cubes were each posted a cent lower at 52 and 52 cents respectively, the lower grades remaining unchanged.

Buyers are paying as high as 16 and 15 1/2 cents for choice light calves along the street today. Choice light hogs are bringing 15 1/2 to 16 cents. The country dressed meat market is steady.

The advance in the local turkey market has slowed down considerably and this morning there were indications of a reaction. At a late hour fancy dressed birds were still bringing 47 cents but there are many good birds picked up at 45 and 46 cents. Receipts are not very heavy but every house has a few turkeys and buyers are not taking hold so rapidly now. Some buyers are holding off, waiting to see how the public takes hold of the high priced birds before they put the remainder of their requirements.

IMPROVE THE MARKET FOR RECLAMATION SECURITIES?
"How much of the Klamath marshes is best suited for reclamation, and how much for bird reserve?"
"How can irrigated land in need of drainage be successfully reclaimed?"
"How can community outlets and farm drains be most economically constructed?"
"Is your land susceptible to economical improvement by drainage or supplemental irrigation, and how can you best proceed to secure such improvement?"

The tentative program is as follows:
9:30 a. m.—Registration; meeting of drainage association directors.
10:00 a. m.—Welcome to Salem.
C. E. Wilson, secretary Salem chamber of commerce, in response, Senator Sam H. Brown, senator Oregon Drainage association; "Development and Future Drainage Needs of Oregon"; reports and appointment of committees; address "A Program of Reclamation for Oregon," President Wilford Allen, Oregon Reclamation Congress; address, "Land Settlement Work of the Portland Chamber of Commerce," W. B. D. Dodson, secretary-manager, Portland chamber of commerce.

12:00 p. m.—Association luncheon, speaker, Governor Walter M. Pierce.
1:15 p. m.—Committee meetings.
2:00 p. m.—Address, W. Lair Thompson, "The Business Side of Reclamation"; tentative regional reports—coast and lower Columbia, Ed Wiat, Seapooce, "Successful Reclamation Project Farms," Willamette valley, Earl Price, O. A. C., "Drainage and Supplemental Irrigation for the Willamette Valley," Klamath basin, Ed Geary, "Utilization of Klamath Marshes," eastern Oregon.

The meeting, it is stated in the announcement, should be of great value to wet land owners, reclamation project farmers, project directors, managers, engineers and attorneys, as well as contractors, investment bankers, material men, chambers of commerce and all individuals and organizations interested in upbuilding the state. It is asked that all persons interested be requested to advise W. L. Powers, the secretary, at Corvallis, as to names of delegates who will attend so that adequate accommodations may be provided.

Added interest is attached to the meeting because of plans that have been formulated for drainage of a large section of territory to the southwest of Salem. Subjects to be considered at the Salem meeting, according to the program, are as follows:

"How to secure further federal aid for reclamation that will return, for the upbuilding of Oregon the six million dollars in the federal reclamation fund derived from sale of public lands in this state?"
"How can we best secure successful settlement and full development of all farm units on constructed reclamation projects, so as to insure their success and gon, Representative Ivan Oakes, "Drainage of Irrigated Lands"; five-minute recess; business session.

APPLE HOLDINGS ARE GREATER THAN IN 1924
The monthly report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture, shows the following cold storage holdings of apples throughout the country:

On November 1, 1925, 3,612,000 barrels, 8,590,000 boxes and 1,772,000 bushel baskets.
On November 1, 1924, 3,172,000 barrels, 6,620,000 boxes and 1,135,000 bushel baskets.
Five-year average, 3,528,000 barrels and 5,202,000 boxes.

Sabbatical leave, beginning in September, was granted 176 instructors of New York city, the first group to be rewarded in this way for their service in the public schools of the city.

THREE MEN KILLED BY SHOTS FROM AMBUSH
Butte, Mont., Nov. 24.—(A. P.)—Shot under ambush of darkness, three men were slain under mysterious circumstances near here Sunday night.
The dead: Joe Ciccarelli, 50; John Derlana, 56; Antonio Favero, 50.
Ciccarelli and Favero were shot as they stepped from the doorway of the Favero home in Meaderville, on the outskirts of Butte. Their bodies were found lying in the front yard. Derlana was found dead on a bridge nearby. The slayer's weapon was a shotgun, police believe.
