The pumps for the new West Salem municipal plant were set in operation this week, it was stated this morning by John Gosser, mayor of West Salem. With the complete installation of the new pumps the plant is now finished. The pumps are kept running about ten hours a day, Gosser stated, pumping water into a large reservoir built on a hill half a mile west of the city. The plant turns out a stream amounting to 5000 gallons of water per hour. The pumps cost $1665. The sum of $1600 was paid to dig the well.

All men who attend the men's class at the Bligh theater find worthwhile values for five cents daily experiences. Come and see. The hour is 9:45.

WHITE ANSWERS CHURCH ATTACK AGAINST LEGION

Attacks on the American Legion made in the November 19 issue of the Christian Century, Chicago publication, and condemnatory resolutions of the Omaha Council of Churches, are unjustified and unfortunate, declared Brigadier General George A. White, one of the founders of the American Legion in France, when asked today for comment on the attacks. He was asked if, in his opinion, there was any basis for the Christian Century's contention that the American Legion has reached "the parting of the ways" as the result of alleged disorders at the recent national convention.

"Denunciation of the American Legion by the Christian Century, based on resolutions of the Council of Churches at Omaha, because of allegations that some of the delegates at the national convention were drunk," said General White, "is just as narrow and unjustified as would be a denunciation of churches by the American Legion based on charges that some pillars of the church drink on the sly. There may be a narrow justification for either charge, but there would be a larger justification for neither."

"The high purpose of the American Legion as a whole in fostering and sustaining the patriotic life of the country, in promoting higher regard for law and order, and fostering the highest ideas of citizenship, is just as firm today and just as general as are the purposes of the Councils of Churches in promoting the moral betterment of the country. There are individuals in ranks of both that fall but the thousands of posts and camps of ex-service men throughout the country are working just as true to the basic purpose of their existence today as are the churches."

"In undertaking to make a maudlin show of a few delegates to a national Legion convention at St. Louis of a few years ago, the Christian Century entirely ignores the action of that Legion convention in shouting down a resolution adroitly presented for the purposes of committing the Legion to the support of light wines and beers. In selecting Past Commander James F. Drain of Washington, D. C., as an outstanding example of virtue at the last convention, the Omaha Council of Churches, in its apparent eagerness to brand the Legion as a whole, ignores the fact that Colonel Drain was a leader and sponsor for the unsuccessful movement at Kansas City to commit the Legion to a national law for light wines and beers. That was Colonel Drain's right, if he felt that way about it, and I do not know the incident in criticism of him but rather as emphasizing the inconsistency of the Omaha Council of Churches unless, of course, that body too favors light wines and beers."

"A permanent Salem health council will be formed at a meeting Monday night at the city chamber of commerce rooms. The meeting was authorized at a tentative gathering Nov. 18. At that time T. M. Hicks was elected temporary president of the council and C. E. Wilson was temporary secretary. At Monday night's meeting permanent officers will be elected. CADETS HAVE SLIGHT EDGE IN HARD GAME cadets opened up a fresh attack. Hewitt broke through center for a 15-yard gain to put the ball on Navy's 45-yard mark but a 17-yard penalty for off-side play upset the cadet march.

Trappell dropped back to punt but fell, then fumbled and Navy recovered on Army's 45-yard line. The tide switched the other way again when Daly intercepted a Navy pass.

From Navy 45-yard line Hewitt led an Army drive that steadily pushed the middle back. Hewitt made first down on the 12-yard line. When three downs yielded only seven yards, Redder was called in to try a dropkick again just as the third period ended and shifted the forces to the other end of the field.

Fourth Quarter. Reader made good his field goal attempt on the first play of the fourth period, lifting the ball between the bars from the 15-yard line for three points, making the score Army 10, Navy 7.

Army got a "break" when Born blocked one of Hamilton's punts and recovered for the cadets on the Navy's 28-yard line. A pass, Harding to Trappell, helped make a first down, but the Navy stiffened and took the ball on downs on their own 13-yard line.

In a desperate rally the Navy filled the air with passes but after advancing 45 yards to the 38-yard line the middle lost the ball on a fumble by Hamilton with Daly recovering for the Army.

IF YOU WERE A CITY COUNCILMAN?

should. Have noticed proposals by some to erect more buildings on the grounds extending from the court house to the supreme court building. As a city official I surely would oppose this. The beauty of these open spaces should not be marred by other buildings. The people need these open park spaces near the center of the city, and in years to come they will be untold value to them.

As a councilman I would work for a greater and if possible a more beautiful city, but keep in mind also that the beauty of a city is not alone in parks, buildings and laws, but as well in the good character, health and contentment of the people of the city. Would encourage opportunities to give people employment, and also to make the city a great trading center.

First and last I would do all I could to help get a decent water supply for the city instead of the present very unsatisfactory and unhealthy one. These are some of the things I would work for as a councilman.

CITY PROPERTY MOVES READILY SALES REVEAL

There is a continued activity in Salem city property, with building sites and moderately priced homes in most demand, according to a statement made today by W. H. Grabenhorst, local realtor. Among recent realty transfers in the city are the following:

Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh and C. A. Hoover have sold a quarter block on North Capitol street to Adam Engel, local contractor, for an apartment house site. Mr. Engel paid $4500 for the property.

Milly Hilbern has sold a modern 6-room house at 1465 Mill street to W. F. Brown and wife for a consideration of $2500.

Mrs. Louise Dowling sold a modern 5-room bungalow located at 1685 South Liberty street to W. B. Lammus and his wife, who arrive in the city recently from Colorado. The property sold for $2600.

John Williamson and his wife sold a modern 6-room stucco finished bungalow to F. B. Ireland at 1265 North Summer street.

M. K. Huntington and his wife disposed of a quarter block in the new Kay addition to G. O. Boyce for a consideration of $2500.

J. E. Harrison sold 7 lots in the new Kay addition to local people for a total of $2500.

Carl Chantz has sold a corner lot in the new Kay addition to J. E. Harrison for $500.

C. A. Hoover has purchased three lots near North Capitol street for a consideration of $1000.

SAYS TAXI SALE MISREPRESENTED

Robert R. Keyes has filed suit in circuit court against Troy D. Wood and R. Hurst seeking to secure damages of $1236.47 because of alleged misrepresentations which he declares were made to him when he purchased the Yellow Taxicab company in Salem.

According to Keyes complaint he says he entered into a contract with the plaintiffs to buy the two cabs from the defendants representing the cab company for $1550, Keyes to pay $400 and $100 a month. Keyes says that the defendants represented the cabs grossed about $7 a day apiece, that the defendants agreed not to use the stand at the Bligh hotel and also that the cabs were free from incumbrances.

SETTLEMENT OF ESTATE CLAIMS IS ORDERED

Under an order in probate Ladd & Bush, as executor of the estate of Chester F. Lansing, for many years prominent nurseryman here, is authorized to compromise a number of claims against the estate for nursery stock which it is asserted Lansing failed to deliver during his lifetime. Claimants who are seeking adjustment from the estate include Martha Jane Johnson, H. G. Black, L. Barnard, I. P. Youkum, J. M. Farley, J. N. Conn, Peter Helgeson, Ben Roseau and E. N. Gilliam.

The order authorizing the compromise, and the other permits the executor to sell certain bonds of the estate up to $1800, including bonds of Salem Elks lodge, the Greater Winipeg Water district, and a note and mortgage of Charles and Anna Vick.

COUNTY TAXES TO BE NO HIGHER IN 1926, CLAIM

While state and other taxes may be higher during the coming year, County Judge J. T. Hunt said today it is the object of the county court in making up the county budget this year to keep it within the limit of last year, and he said he believed, beyond any doubt that county taxes will be no higher.

"Taxes are high enough," stated County Judge Hunt, "and the county court will exert every effort to see that not one extra cent is added to the county taxes if it is possible to keep them down, and I believe it will be."

The court has set out a tentative date, December 31 as the time for the last budget meeting to finally pass on the county's budget in general. The budget committee has not yet been selected. It is necessary to get the budget in this year, and under the law it must be advertised twice, with the last advertisement 10 days before the budget meeting, in order to give all possible time to work out the budget, the last day of the year has been set for the meeting and it is believed the budget can be prepared in time for necessary advertisements to be run preceding that date.

All school district census rolls but one were in the hands of County Superintendent Fulkerson today, that one being the roll for the Champego district. If the district fails to have its roll in today it cannot participate in division of state and county school funds next year, as the county superintendent must have her budget completed by December 1, for transmission to the county court.

old time religious tolerance such as our forefathers established prior to and at the time of the adoption of the constitution, must be continued; and

Whereas, the Anti-Saloon League only sees one issue, that of keeping the prohibition laws on the statute books, whether they are being enforced or not; and

Whereas, the board of temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church declared that while the country needs two strong political parties, the nomination of Governor Smith of New York for president will wipe out all political party lines and that even the south will desert the democratic party and go republican in order to vote against Smith; and

Whereas, we must have strong men to stand where the founders of this republic stood for the com

Whereas, we believe it is the duty of the tolerant, liberty-loving people who reverence the teachings and the founders of the republic, to organize and select such men as candidates; and

Whereas, after due consideration, we believe that Judge Wm. N. Gatens embodies all the characteristics required; Therefore be it resolved by the executive board of the Oregon Prohibition Referendum Corporation, 314 Abington building, Norman S. Richards, president, J. A. McHolland, secretary.

HAROLD WINDUS TO BE ORGANIST

Harold Windus returns to the new Hellig theater for an indefinite stay. Mr. Windus first came to Salem 12 years ago to direct the orchestra in the Westford theater. A few years later Mr. Windus started on the Pope organ and he is rated today as one of the best theater organists on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Windus comes to the Hellig direct from the Columbia theater in Seattle. Since leaving Salem he has played in San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. He also spent two years in Alaska.

Mr. Windus will favor the Salem theatergoers with daily concerts on the new Kimball unit organ. Request numbers will be gladly received.
