IF YOU WERE A CITY COUNCILMAN?

Number Forty-eight.

Contest Editor:—

Some come to scoff, some to praise,
If I were a councilman I would study different ways
And means to make old Salem shine
As a leading city. And a divine
Place to live, and love and grow—
Not a free-for-all comedy show.
Down 'neath California's sun
Salem is one lively pun;
While away up North where the iceberg are,
It makes the sourdough laugh har! har!
About its fool laws and traffic cops,
Who, for a small offense, an autoist stops;
And makes him pay a fine
For stepping once over the line.
Now Salem's council remind one of the man and donkey fable,
Trying to please as many people as they're able.
A few good laws, is my platform.
Cut out these ordinance for reform,
And some for traffic violation,
Which only cause one agitation;
And hold one's breath, for fear some cop will say,
"You're wanted at headquarters today."
For a fool is a fool, and nothing else will be
If he breaks an ordinance, he pays you see
And breaks another tomorrow, so
You just as well let that ordinance go.
At Mill creek, widen Commercial street,
A bridge on High to make it complete;
As for light, they're already too bright
To allow for spooning on Sunday night.
'Tis the prettiest spot that e'er I trod
But those silly laws they make me hot.
I'd shine her up. Make her look bright,
If I had to do it with dynamite.
I'm sorry to say these words are true,
While in Alaska, I hardly knew
Just where to say my home was at,
For fear someone would, laughingly, ask:
"Is that the place where dogs at stranger bark?
And cops slip upon you in the dark
And order you to the station?"

A WELL WISHER.

Contest Editor:—What would I do if I were a councilman. This is easy to say but hard to do. I would not consider my personal interests. I would not favor friends or persecute. I should post up on the needs of the city as best I could without making it burdensome to the taxpayers. With no salaries to members too many laws are dependent on the whims of committees and a commission form of government would far surpass it but until that time I should be governed in a great measure by the voice of the people through petition. I would not favor cutting down shade trees on account of too much foliage. Four factors draw the attention of tourists to our beautiful city, viz: Neatness, broad streets, shade trees and order generally and since it has been demonstrated that busses can be profitably at 5 cent fares in Salem and parties are willing to operate at this fare I would say put up a good bond as guarantee and proceed. Our writer tells the police to keep their eyes closed and have a wide open town and increase our population to 200,000. Not me. If this theory is good then why not abolish our police system, schools churches and street lights and set our goal at a million. I should vote against raise in salaries but would favor more lights and the paving of 17th street to the fair grounds if finances would permit.
