The Vital "V"

FLORIDA FEVER

By Kenneth L. Roberts

In 1925, two-and-a-half million seekers after sunshine, and color, and warmth—and wealth—poured into a state whose normal population has been only about a million.

So tremendous an influx of settlers and tourists has created such vast demands for everything—from real estate to sandwiches, from a night's lodging to a palace—that our old standards of business judgment totter.

But the man who buys real estate blindly will be burned just as surely in Florida as elsewhere. Read Mr. Roberts' articles beginning in the Christmas Post, Now On Sale, five cents!

A $200⁰⁰ CHRISTMAS PRESENT for $2

- Last year there appeared in The Post:
 - 21 Full Length Novels
 - 11 Shorter Novels
 - 339 Short Stories
 - 413 Articles
 - 784 Features in All
- Next year there will be even more.
- Last year 39 books were published which had previously appeared in The Post.
- These 39 books retailed for $97.00.
- These 39 books contained less than half the total material that appeared in The Post.

Here's your chance to make a wonderful Christmas present—to somebody; perhaps to yourself. Just slip $2 in an envelope with the name and address to which you wish The Post sent, and mail it to The Saturday Evening Post, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa. Then, in the Christmas mail, the friend you have remembered will receive a charming announcement of the gift subscription in your name—a beautiful reproduction in full color, 7x11 inches, cardboard protected, suitable for framing, of an original oil painting by Maxfield Parrish, entitled "A Florentine Fête." And, thereafter, every week throughout the year, your friend will recall your kind thoughtfulness.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST, 976 Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please send THE SATURDAY EVENING POST for one year to each of those whose names and addresses are given in the attached list. I enclose Two Dollars for each. Mail your Christmas Gift Announcement in my name.
