CHERRIANS SEEK TO BAR LADIES

A special meeting of the Cherrians has been called suddenly for tonight, King Bing J. C. Perry having been approached with a petition signed by 40 members of the organization asking that the question of making the annual fiesta in January a ladies' night be reconsidered.

At a recent meeting of the Cherrians it was voted to make the occasion a ladies' night. It was understood the vote was unanimous after a little discussion.

Since that time, however, for some reason, there apparently has been a change of heart on a rather substantial part of the membership. The petition directed to King Bing Perry, it is stated, is aimed to bring up the question so that a vote to reconsider the whole proposition may be taken and eliminate the ladies' feature of the annual event.

Two years ago a ladies' night was held. Last year that feature was done away with. It is probably some interesting discussion will arise tonight on the subject of the next annual meeting.

SCHUNKE ELECTED KIWANIS HEAD

Edward Schunke was this noon elected president of the Salem Kiwanis club. Other officers elected were as follows:

Vice president, Carl Gabrielson; district trustee, O. P. Coehow; treasurer, George M. King; directors, Carl G. Becke, Fred Ellis, Bert T. Ford and Alfred J. Wick.

Two ballots were necessary to decide the presidency, each candidate for the office receiving exactly 37 votes on the first ballot. Schunke's rival was James H. Nicholson. Both men have been prominent in Kiwanis club affairs.

The new men elected today will take office the first of next year.

REDS THINK LOCARNO CRUSADE AGAINST RUSSIA

Paris, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Tschitcherine of soviet Russia who is visiting France regards the Locarno security pact, as "preparation for a crusade against the soviet republic."

Asked what the soviet attitude would be toward a possible Locarno pact for the east the foreign minister replied that he did not know what that might mean. However, the Moscow government was ready to enter into agreements with each of the Baltic states individually.

MOTHER HELD FOR DELINQUENCY OF DAUGHTER

One of the most revolting cases of perversion ever heard of in Salem, according to allegations in a complaint filed in justice court, came to light with the arrest last night of Mrs. Anna Springer, a resident of north Salem, who is accused of contributing to the delinquency of her own daughter, Beulah Springer, 14 years old. The woman made an appearance in justice court today and asked further time before arraignment in which to consult an attorney. Her bail was fixed at $1000, which she has not furnished, and she is in the women's ward at the city jail.

Three men are already under arrest in connection with the same case and two others are sought by the police. The first to be arrested was Wesley Smith, 36 years old, married and the father of a child. Smith is in jail on a statutory charge involving Beulah Springer. He has not been able to raise the $1000 bail fixed by justice of the Peace Small.

A few days after his arrest, the police took into custody Charles Chittick and William Elliott on similar charges involving the girl. Chittick at once put up $500 bail and was released, and today Elliott produced bail in the same amount and was freed temporarily from jail.

In the complaint against the mother of the girl the names of two other men appear, Albert Cox and Roy Smith. The two Smiths are apparently not related.

It is alleged that Mrs. Anna Springer with her in the company of Cox and Roy Smith, and that she allowed Smith to have illicit relations with the girl. Further, the mother is accused of having allowed Smith to take liberties with her own person in the presence of the girl.

United States Marshal Clarence Hotchkiss is expected to arrive in Salem this afternoon to take into custody Mont Miller, against whom a charge of white slavery is to be filed today in connection with his coming to Salem and living here with Mrs. Oscar Hancock after having crossed the international boundary line from Saskatchewan, Canada. Whether Miller is taken to Portland today depends on whether he waives a preliminary hearing but this he is expected to do, in which event he will be taken to Portland to await action of the federal jury. Otherwise an information will be filed here before United States Commissioner Lytle J. Page.

The case came suddenly to light Saturday when the woman's husband, having trailed the pair from Canada, arrested them in Salem, and traced them to their apartments where he might have started trouble had not Miller gotten away. Mrs. Hancock faints, but Hancock got her into the custody of the police matron, together with her child, and the police later arrested Miller. Hancock tried to attack Miller while the latter was in custody of the officers and Hancock also was jailed for investigation.

Early today Hancock was released on order of federal authorities, but a few hours later appeared at the police station where he is said to have threatened the lives of Miller and others. He was immediately locked up again and will be held for deportation.

Hancock is said to have stolen his way across the Canadian line into the states, and according to his story to Chief Minto, was shot at while doing so. Mrs. Hancock is ill and is at the Deaconess hospital.

HOUSE VOTES APPROVAL OF TAX CUTTING BILL

Washington, Dec. 15.—(A.P.)—The house today approved terms of the revenue bill which would relieve 2,500,000 income taxpayers from federal levies as a result of increased personal exemptions. The section of the bill approved would increase the exemptions for single persons from the present $1000 allowance to $1500. The exemption for married persons would be increased from $2500 to $3500.

CRISIS FACED BY KIMBALL AS TO FUTURE

heard, meeting a few weeks ago, went on record in favor of continuing the support of the school in case it should be moved to Seattle. The action of the committee does not definitely bind the board itself, but those connected with the workings of the board feel confident that the committee's action will steer the board in the same direction.

The Kimball board of trustees is understood to have specified, among other things to be cleared up before the proposed move is started, that the theological school administration make a satisfactory deal with Willamette university, upon whose campus the Kimball building is located, regarding the disposal of the building.

The Willamette administration, upon the other hand, while not putting itself out to keep Kimball here, frankly intends to do nothing to assist the school to move, feeling that it is somewhat better to Willamette interests to keep Kimball at Salem. Furthermore, Willamette has no use for the building now occupied by the theological school, and the administration does not intend to pay out university money for a building that will be useless in its hands.

If all goes well with Kimball, the change being agreed to at Thursday's meeting at Seattle, and financial support being found to justify the move, the school cannot be moved for another year. It is believed. The move would not be attempted without first asking the sanction of the Puget Sound, Oregon and Columbia river conferences at their meetings next fall. No doubt is held but that the action would be given by all three conferences, if everything else looked favorable, but for diplomatic reasons the move would nevertheless not be attempted without the formality of the sanction.

and toys which symbolize Christmas to the minds of most kiddies had not even presented itself to the little girl who wrote: "I would like to have a pair of shoes, 4 1/2 in size. I have a sister 5 years old. Please remember us."

From out in the country another boy writes: "Please do not forget me. Please bring me whatever is left over and some nuts and candy."

But unless Salemites open up their hearts and purses to help, Santa will have no "left-overs" for the boy who is willing that all the rest be remembered first, no shoes for the little girl and no doll for the baby sister.

They are only a few of the 200 or more children that can be remembered by Santa only through the Christmas Cheer movement of the Capital Journal and the Salem lodge of Elks. Every quarter, half dollar, dollar or larger contribution is needed. It is the small donations which, in the aggregate, will spread the Christmas cheer over the darker spots in Salem.

Have you left your contribution at the Capital Journal office, or your bundle at the Elks temple?

Only nine days remain before Christmas.
