University Musicians Coming

Arrangements have been made by James Leake, concert manager of the University of Oregon, with the local theater management, for the annual concert in Salem by the University glee club and orchestra. On March 22 the men's and women's glee clubs and the orchestra, under the direction of John Stark Evans, will give a joint concert at the Hellig theater. Soloists have not yet been announced but it is considered likely that the baritone soloist will be Eugene Carr, new member of the faculty of the school of music this year.

Last spring the concert by the two glee clubs and the orchestra was considered one of the outstanding of the entire year in Salem musical circles and the return engagement this year is welcomed by concert goers.

The engagement of Miss Barbara Stanfield, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Robert N. Stanfield, and the niece of Mrs. W. H. Lytle of Salem, to Henry Tensdale Dunn was announced at a luncheon at the Washington, D. C., apartments of Senator and Mrs. Stanfield at one o'clock today. Twenty-two prominent girls were guests including two Portland, Oregon, friends of Miss Stanfield, Miss Elsie Bristol and Miss Dorothy Shea. Miss Bristol is the house guest of the Stanfields during the holidays.

According to press despatches from Washington, the luncheon table was centered with American Beauty roses and a coronation of bride's roses at each place carried cards announcing the wedding.

Miss Stanfield will be married on the afternoon of January 21 at St. John's church in Washington. A reception at the Stanfield apartments will follow.

Miss Stanfield is well known in Portland and in Salem and visited here during the past summer. She made her debut in Washington last year and recently has been studying music in New York.

Mr. Dunn is a member of an old Jacksonville, Florida, family. He is in business in New York. They will make their home there.

"Accessories that Change a House into a Home" was the subject of the address made by Mrs. J. C. Van Etten of Portland, on Saturday before a luncheon meeting of the Salem branch of the American Association of University Women. The luncheon was given at the Elks Temple on State street, with covers placed for sixty-four.

Mrs. Van Etten, who is leader of the interior decorating study section of the Portland branch of the A. A. U. W., covered briefly the importance of correct accessories in the home.

The membership committee of the local branch reported twelve new members during a short business meeting.

Since the Christmas seal booth sale opened December 1 more than $2300 worth of Christmas seals have been sold in the downtown booths of Portland alone. Mrs. Elizabeth Coe, seal sale chairman, states, Sales have ranged from a penny to a dollar, the saleswomen, members of the women's organizations of the city, all of whom have volunteer service, have reported.

From Washington, D. C., comes the word that Mrs. McNary, wife of Senator McNary of Oregon, entertained at a luncheon Sunday and also after the Wednesday morning musicale. Mrs. McNary was one of the honor guests at the forum dinner of the League of Women Voters and is a member of the reception committee and the committee on luncheons and dinner for the local league.

The woman's foreign missionary society of Jason Lee church will meet Wednesday afternoon beginning at two thirty at the home of Mrs. Thomas Acheson, 1035 Hood street. A special program has been prepared.

Miss Mary Ward, a student at the University of Oregon at Eugene, arrived Saturday and is the guest for several days of her sister, Miss Clara Ward at the Smallwood home on north Sixteenth street. They will spend Christmas with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ward at Sand Lake.

The Amclitian club members entertained at a "kid" party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. White on Saturday evening. The living rooms were attractively decorated with Christmas novelties of all kinds and a number of children's games were enjoyed during the evening. Santa Claus left a gift for each of the guests. A buffet supper was served.

Those present were Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Downs, Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eckman, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Pearey, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Ingey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Tripp, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zinn and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. White.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parker were in Albany yesterday to attend the birthday dinner given in honor of Mr. Parker's aunt, Mrs. Mary Parker on her ninetieth birthday. The dinner was given at the home of Mrs. Parker's son, Hiram Parker, in North Albany. More than twenty-five relatives were present.

Leaping on the running board of a speeding car, Mrs. Bessie Ellinger, of New York, shown here with her granddaughter, helped halt three men suspected of robbing a taxi driver. She was commended by court for her bravery.

Better Health & Longer Life
GORGAS MEMORIAL INSTITUTE

(By Professor C. E. A. Winslow, Yale University, Member Gorgas Memorial Institute.)

Mistaken ideas about fresh air are costing the taxpayers of the United States hundreds of thousands of dollars every year and are decreasing the efficiency and undermining the health of millions of school children.

A generation ago it was believed that the harmful effects of bad air were due to some mysterious organic poison which it was supposed to contain. To remove the supposed danger from these hypothetical poisons, mechanical systems of ventilation were designed to flood the school room with a vast volume of air, and laws were drawn up and are now actually in force in some twenty states, requiring a system which will supply 30 cubic foot of air for every child in every school room.

Unfortunately for the proponents of such laws the progress of scientific study long ago demonstrated that the whole theory of organic poisons as the cause of the harmful effect of bad air must be thrown into the discard. It was proved that the overwhelmingly important factor in bad ventilation was not the presence of chemical poisons but the influence of hot, still air upon the surfaces of the vast volume of hot air, which must necessarily be highly heated in order to avoid drafts is therefore only jumping from the frying pan into the fire, in an almost literal sense. What we really need is not a great volume of hot air but a small flow of cold air; and, in the living room, the office and the school room this can be generally had in amount, not by mechanical systems but by intelligent use of windows and heat outlets. In many crowded factory workrooms and in auditoria fan ventilation may, however, often be essential.

The most convenient practical test under ordinary conditions is the thermometer. Is there a thermometer in your living room, in your office or workroom, in the school room where your children study? Is the temperature always kept at 65 degrees or below? If so, you and your children are enjoying the first essential benefit of fresh air. If not, you and they are suffering in efficiency and in health, day by day and hour by hour. A study of 10,000 New York city school children showed that in rooms averaging over 65 degrees there was 70 per cent more respiratory disease than in rooms averaging below 67 degrees.

Watch the thermometer. If it gets over 68 degrees turn off the heat or open the windows or both. If you can secure this end by the use of a thermometer and a little common sense you are getting "fresh air"; and if a costly fan ventilating system is not securing this end, it is failing of its real purpose.

of raising funds for the activities of the organization.

Miss Margaret Tucker had as her house guest on Friday and Saturday her cousin, Miss Olive Mettler of Portland. Miss Mettler was enroute to Portland from Eugene where she is a freshman at the university.

Miss Dorothy Ostrander, member of the staff of the Falls City high school, is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ostrander.

Mrs. S. Taylor Jones, who during the past term has served as house mother at the Beta Kappa sorority house on the Oregon Agricultural college campus, arrived in Salem Saturday to remain until the beginning of the winter term at the college.

Annual election of officers at the meeting of the woman's union of the First Congregational church on Friday afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Ward on Center street, resulted in the election of practically all of the officers who served last year. The complete list is as follows: president, Mrs. Mark McCallister; first vice president and head of the missionary school, Mrs. T. S. McKenzie; assistant missionary leader, Mrs. W. D. Clark; second vice president, Mrs. H. W. Brose; secretary, Dr. Fannie A. Brown; treasurer, Miss Edith Hazard.

The organization is broad in its scope and field of endeavor and is very strong financially. Last year more than $1600 passed through the hands of the treasurer. Each year $500 goes to the foreign missionary work and the remainder is used locally. More than $500 was paid on a new carpet for the church during the past year and it is planned to pay $300 on the carpet during the coming year. This money is raised through the $3 annual dues which are assessed and by the thank offering and Easter offering services.

Mrs. McCallister appointed a ways and means committee which includes in addition to the officers, Mrs. C. H. Paine, Mrs. E. L. Bonnell, Mrs. W. L. Staley and Mrs. E. M. Hoffnail. This committee will consider at once a meth-

The home of Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Utter was the scene of an attractive affair on Saturday evening when the six men who are members of a dinner bridge club entertained at dinner honoring the group of matrons who are members of the club.

Covers were placed for Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Bates, Mrs. E. S. White, Prof. and Mrs. M. E. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. William Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Smith, E. S. White and Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Utter.

Mrs. H. L. Boeler entertained her bridge club at her home on Friday afternoon. Additional guests were Mrs. Paul Bassett, Mrs. Arthur Loder, Mrs. Charles Chandler, Mrs. Larry Blalodell and Mrs. M. A. Butler.

Members of the club are Mrs. Vern Shepard, Mrs. E. G. Hinkle, Mrs. L. C. Demarest, Mrs. A. J. Jacobs, Mrs. Darl Kenyon, Mrs. A. H. Wilson and the hostesses, Mrs. Boeler.

High honors for the afternoon were won by Mrs. Paul Bassett. The consolation award went to Mrs. Darl Kenyon. A late afternoon lunch was served in the dining room of the Boeler home on north Twentieth street.

The next meeting of the club will be held on January 8 at the home of Mrs. L. C. Demarest, 140 north Twenty-first street.

Miss Edith Ross and Miss Florence Ravenscraft, members of the faculty of the junior high school at Bend, arrived last night to spend the holidays with Dr. and Mrs. Corydon Blodgett and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Utley, on the Wallace road, Miss Ross is a cousin of Mrs. Blodgett and Mrs. Utley and makes her home with them. Miss Ravenscraft's home is in Montana.

Brush College Helpers were brushed at a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crawford on Thursday evening with husbands and children of the club members the honor guests. More than eighty enjoyed an evening of music and other program features.

Mrs. Karl Herritt, president of the Helpers, presiding at a short business meeting. Program numbers included the singing of a cradle song by the little children in the group, a Christmas story by Mrs. Paul Wallace, a solo by Miss Helen Goringe, a short talk by Mrs. Arthur Utley, and the singing of Christmas carols by the entire group. Games were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

The living rooms of the Crawford home were decorated with holly and mistletoe for the occasion. Mrs. W. S. McCall and Mrs. Charles McCarter were in charge of the refreshments. Mrs. Fred Ewing was in charge of the entertainment with Mrs. U. J. Layman directing the devotional part of the program.

The annual Christmas meeting of the Lincoln McKinley parent teacher association will be held at the McKinley school on Tuesday evening, December 23. Christmas carols will be sung and two one act plays will be given by the children. Exhibits of sewing and cooking will be made at this time and refreshments will be served by the cooking class.

An engagement announcement made in a recent issue of the San Francisco Examiner that is of interest in Salem was that of Miss Helen Huntington Holladay of San Francisco, to Henry Norton Ord who is well known here. Mr. Ord is a business associate of T. A. Livley. He is remembered here also as a prominent horseman.

The complete account of the betrothal follows:

"One of the most interesting engagements of the season is that of Miss Helen Huntington Holladay and Henry Norton Ord, which was announced a few days ago by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Burke Holladay of San Francisco and San Marino.

Mr. and Mrs. Holladay, with their daughter and son, have been spending a few days in town at their old home on Holladay Hill. They left last week for their San Marino home.

"Miss Holladay is the granddaughter of the late Judge and Mrs. Samuel W. Holladay, the former of whom was the owner of famous Holladay Hill property in this city and made his home there. Judge Holladay was the alcalde of Auburn in the early days of California, and it was he who named the town. Collis Holladay is the brother of the bride-elect, and she is the niece of Mrs. Ellen E. Meeker and Mrs. Reginald Brooks of London and of Henry Huntington of San Marino. The late Collis P. Huntington was her granduncle.

"Mr. Ord is the son of Mrs. Edward O. C. Ord of Berkeley and the late Major Ord, U. S. A. He is the grandson of the late General Edward Otho Crescup Ord, who came to California in 1847 and after whom the Presidio of Monterey was originally named Ord Barracks. During the late world war, Mr. Ord served on the staff of General Hunter Liggett, but has since returned to private life. He is a brother of Miss Ellen and Miss Mary Ord, Edward O. C. Ord Jr. and of Major James Garcesche Ord, U. S. A., who was stationed at Fort Mason a few years ago. Mr. Ord is the second cousin of his future bride.

"The marriage of Miss Holladay and Mr. Ord will take place in January at the Holladay home in San Marino, and they will make their future home near Vancouver, where Mr. Ord's business interests are centered."
