

ATHLETIC GAMES FEATURE INDIAN SCHOOL PROGRAM

Chemawa, Or., Dec. 26.—The Reliance literary society of the Indian school won over the Excelsior representatives at the school gymnasium yesterday afternoon by a score of 15 to 10. The Nonpariel and Winona, two larger girls' societies, broke even, 5 to 5.

The Excelsiors started out with a dash, taking the first two events and looked as though they would be able to romp off with the major portion of the events. Laray Weaver of the Excelsior society won the decision in the boxing match over Gus Brunoe of the Reliance team. Lauree Erenux of the Excelsiors won the wrestling match, taking one fall from Gifford Meacham of the Reliance.

Percy Morrison of the Excelsiors and Louis Isadore of the Reliance fought two rounds to a draw. The first round went to the Reliance fighter by a wide margin but Morrison came back strong in the last round. The fight should have gone to Isadore, however. Things were evened up when the referee gave the decision to William Johnson of the Reliance wrestling team over Charles Fagerstrom of the Excelsiors. Fagerstrom had the best of the match all through the time, having Johnson on his back three times, twice Johnson averting losing a fall by wriggling off of the mat.

The Reliance team won the tug-of-war from the Excelsiors, ten men represented each side. The Excelsiors and Reliance teams would have tied with a score of 15 to 15 had Tom Anyah of the Excelsiors touched the cross piece in the rope climbing contest. The contest was to be decided by the man touching the piece first. Ben Nathan of the Reliance team could get up but Anyah failed to touch the cross piece and the event went to the Reliance society.

The Reliance society basketball team won over the Excelsiors by a score of 18 to 6. The score at the end of the first half stood 6 to 5 in favor of the Reliance, the Excelsior boys holding them down during the first half. In the last half the Reliance team got started and were never in danger after that, the Excelsior five failing to score a point in the last half.

The Winona, the larger girls' society won over the Nonpariels in the girls' tug-of-war, but the Winona basketball team was outclassed and the Nonpariels won by a score of 9 to 2. The score stood 4 to 2 in favor of the Nonpariels at the end of the first half.

The program for Sunday includes the Christmas pageant, the feature event of the holiday program. At 9 o'clock the students quarters will be inspected and at 10 o'clock religious services will be held. In the evening the pageant will be given in the school auditorium.

The program for Monday will include sports in the gymnasium and the spelling contest between the four larger literary societies—the Reliance and Excelsiors, the two boys, and the Nonpariels and Winonas, the two larger girls' societies. At 2 p. m., the juniors will meet the sophomores in the tug-of-war, rope climbing, boxing, wrestling and basketball. Both the girls and boys of the two classes will compete. At 7 p. m. the spelling contest will take place in the school auditorium.

The reception for the larger boys and girls was given in the gymnasium last night.

LAMAR TOOZE NAMED LEGAL AIDE OF NEWELL

Washington, Dec. 26.—Senator Stanfield was advised Wednesday by General Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, that Lamar Tooze, son of Walter L. Tooze Sr., has been named legal advisor to W. K. Newell, the Oregon prohibition administrator. His salary has been fixed at $3000.

The salary of Newell has also been adjusted at $4000, a slight increase.

Two County Budgets

(Oregon City Enterprise.) The Enterprise is in possession of an authorized copy of the budget for Marion county, which, compared with the budget submitted recently to the people of Clackamas county, shines like a summer sun. The county court of Marion went to work seriously and conscientiously to prepare a budget which is comprehensive, plain and complete, and is attested as to its correctness by the county clerk of our near neighbor to the south.

In the Marion budget there are no garbled figures. The adding machine operator in Marion is ready to prove his calculations. The budget carries a tabulation of the expenses and obligations, including bond payments, both principal and interest, and a document which the taxpayer may read and study with some intelligence.

Under the head of "probable receipts" appears an item of $12,000 from interest on county deposits and licenses paid the county treasurer. In the Clackamas budget this item does not appear. Marion lists an item of $4000 from fines and licenses from all sources. In this county we receive a considerable sum from the same sources, but the budget does not mention it. There is a little item of $150 in the Marion budget from sales of agricultural products, rock, junk and miscellaneous. Presumably we have nothing to sell in Clackamas.

The estimated amount of state tax is listed in the Marion budget. It is a blank in our own budget, although the estimated figures were available. Marion estimates receipts of $78,000 from the state on account of automobile licenses. In Clackamas we shall probably receive $65,000, but the budget is silent about it. The state of Oregon will pay Marion county next year $70,000 for market roads, but down here we get nothing at all, according to our budget, although we have reason to believe our receipts from that source will approximate $65,000. According to the Marion budget there was cash on hand of $132,993.53 as of November 1, but it appears our own treasury is empty, for the taxpayers are not advised that we have any money at all.

So it goes. We have placed the Marion budget in our files, and it nestles close to the Clackamas budget. We hope one will not disturb the other. In any case, our file is fireproof as well as sound proof.

KOLB AND DILL OFFER MUSICAL SHOW NEXT WEEK

Important and delightful is the announcement made by Manager Holt of the Hellog theater that Kolb & Dill, two names synonymous with laughter, will appear here for one night only, on December 30, in their latest fun concoction, "Fair O' Fools." The play is a new musical comedy from the pen of John Emerson and Anita Loos, with a lilting musical setting by Arthur Freed.

An ever welcome Kolb and Dill chorus, an array of beauty, talent and captivating dance, the whole flanked by orchestral strains which will live long in memory are elements which combine in making "Fair O' Fools" the hit of a decade.

In addition to the sweet voices in the cast of principals, the company offers the Cunningham dancing troupe, twelve bits of youth, grace and beauty without peer on Broadway. The most modern dances, including the much discussed Charleston and a toe dance novel in the extreme are in the repertoire of this year's Kolb and Dill girls.

"Fair O' Fools" is far from plotless, as run many musical comedies but provides a laugh-punctuated story which involves the two principal comedians in a maze of trouble by the time the climax is reached. Kolb as Andy Simmons, a big lumberman and Dill as Rudy Valentine, some more lumberman, have roles which fit them to perfection, according to those who have seen this big hit.

The costuming, executed by a noted Hollywood modiste who has been responsible for some of the most startling creations displayed by screen stars, surpasses anything offered by a Kolb & Dill production. Seats are going exceptionally well, states Manager Holt. These two stars always play to capacity houses and those who want to see them are given a warning to get there early.

FIRE WARNING NOTICE ISSUED

Will Moore, state fire marshal, in a bulletin from his office, declares that most people are like Nero—they fiddle while things burn up. His remarks are made in a mid-winter warning issued to the public.

"In thawing water or other pipes that may have become frozen," says the bulletin, "don't use open flame or open torches; wrap the frozen parts with cotton cloth and pour on it boiling water. There is no danger of igniting combustible material with this process, and you will get better results than with the dangerous open flame."

"A proper building code, suitable for the city in which it operates, will do much toward preventing fires and reducing the fire loss ratio. Too many places try to 'rock along' with antiquated specimens, with lax enforcement of the inadequate and ancient requirements.

To be modern, use asbestos flakes about the Christmas trees, not cotton, and specially prepared and approved electric lighting effects instead of the deadly candle which has cost entirely too many human lives in the past. Likewise avoid fireworks at the yuletide. There is too much death and destruction in them to run the risk of their use; their record of the past is too alarming. Sparkers? Yes, they are dangerous too."

STUDEBAKER CONTRACTS COOPERATIVE INSURANCE

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 24.—(A.P.)—As a Christmas gift to its 25,000 employees, the Studebaker corporation has contracted for cooperative insurance covering death, accident and sickness. All active executives and employees of plants and offices throughout the world are eligible.

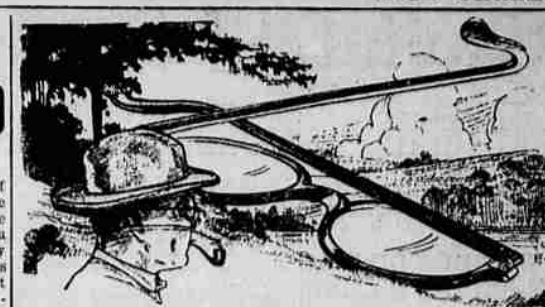

It was estimated the life insurance would aggregate $40,000,000, the accident insurance the same amount and the weekly benefit insurance $6,000,000.

INDIAN SCHOOL TEACHER TO WED

Chemawa, Or., Dec. 26.—One of the most attractive events of the holiday season at Chemawa will be the wedding of Marie Dorothea Catherine Vesper to Clyde Roy Cardy of Salem on New Year's evening. They will be married at the C. S. Guthrie home on the Pacific highway at 7 o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. C. Vesper, who have been employed at the school for the past year and a half. Miss Vesper has also been one of the instructors at the school, teaching domestic art. The wedding will be a quiet affair with only a few of the friends and relatives being invited. Thirty-six have been invited.

Pink and white colors will be carried out in the color scheme. Pink roses and white narcissus will be used about the rooms. G. Frake, employe at the school, will act as best man for Mr. Cardy. The couple plan on a short honeymoon after the wedding. Both have to be back on duty shortly after and they expect to spend only a few days in Portland. Mr. Cardy is employed by the Valley Packing company in Salem.
