Dinner at Livesley Home

Outstanding among the affairs of the holiday season was the twenty two cover dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Livesley were hosts in their home on Lincoln Hill last night. Complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hoyer of San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. William Klitz of Vancouver, B. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Norman English, also of Vancouver.

A gorgeous arrangement of red carnations and white narcissi centered the dining table with covers for Mr. and Mrs. Hoyer, Mr. and Mrs. Klitz, Mr. and Mrs. English, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thielens, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Slade, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hoyer, Miss Louise Thompson, Carl Gabrielson and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Livesley.

The evening was spent in dancing in the ballroom of the Livesley home.

Favors Spanking

Girls from fourteen to twenty are blamed for "appalling vice" conditions in New York, according to Mrs. Mary Hamilton, head of the police-women's squad. Vicious practices learned at schools and colleges are back of it all, she charges. Spanking would cure the evils, she holds.

The state department of American Legion auxiliary has been very active during the past months in trying to bring comfort and happiness to the "boys" in United States veterans' hospital at No. 77. The 49 units throughout the state have been loyal supporters of the work.

A bedside table, four ferns, 29 bedside lamps, dozens of woven rag rugs, tray cloths, hot water bottle covers, waste paper baskets and brightly colored pillows are some of the things contributed to make the hospital seem homelike.

During the past month the jam closet has been filled and the "cookie jar" is not neglected. Boxes of apples, oranges, homemade cakes and candy are sent by the auxiliaries. Two auxiliaries furnished homemade candies for the boys' Christmas dinner.

Many dozen pairs of leather slippers have been given for the patients. Due to the untiring efforts of the department secretary, Mrs. J. W. McLaturf, and to the department legion adjutant, Carl Moser, the names of Oregon men all over the United States were obtained and a package of some kind sent to every man, 90 per cent of whom were from Portland.

The department hospital chairman, Mrs. Georgie Weber, and her committee, Mrs. Maggie Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Doeneka and Miss Madeline Stone, visited the various hospitals in the city and wherever a man was found who had served his country in the world war he was given some little remembrance. On Christmas eve each man in the United States veterans' hospital No. 77 was given an appropriate gift. The department president, Mrs. Minnie B. Eastman, assisted in wrapping these packages.—Oregonian.

A delightful meeting of the U. D. club was held yesterday when the club was entertained at bridge by Mrs. E. Eckerlin Sr. in her home. Additional guests were Mrs. T. D. McClain, Mrs. A. E. Huckestein and Mrs. E. Eckerlin Jr.

Attractive baskets of holly about the rooms were combined with mistletoe and other Christmas greenery. During the afternoon Mrs. E. Eckerlin Jr. and Mrs. Huckestein assisted the hostess. High honors at bridge were won by Mrs. James Heenan.

In the group of club members were Mrs. J. C. Nadon, Mrs. T. M. Barr, Mrs. C. D. Thomas, Mrs. John D. Nathan, Mrs. E. A. Pruitt, Mrs. S. Breitenstein, Mrs. Harry Weis and the hostess, Mrs. Eckerlin.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Poesal had as their house guests during the Christmas week end their son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ohling, and their grandchildren, Lucille, Bobby and Ralph Ohling, all of Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Fower of Union Hill and Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw and daughter, Marian Shaw.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miles and grandson, Brantson Miles, left this morning to spend a week or more in Portland at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles daughter, Mrs. Will Knight.

Christmas day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Miles were Mr. and Mrs. Don Miles and son Brantson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Churchill, and Mrs. Jullia Goodin of Portland.

Mrs. Nina Wadsworth Kohler of Mill City and her daughter, Nina Belle, are the house guests this week of Mrs. E. S. White. Mrs. Kohler is well known in musical circles in Salem and a number of years ago taught at the state school for the blind.

Mrs. W. R. Bush is presenting a group of her very young students in piano in a recital in her studio on Sixth Commercial street this evening.

Magazine To Have History Of Daughters

Through arrangements made by the publishers of the Oregon Magazine with the state board of the Daughters of the American Revolution the March issue of the magazine will be devoted entirely to the Oregon daughters and will give in concise form the history of the organization in this state, its growth and development, its aims and works, and its connection with the national organization. Mrs. E. S. White, who has been appointed managing editor of the Daughters of the American Revolution number, has outlined the articles which the magazine will contain.

Prominent members of the organization in the state will contribute articles. Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson, past vice president general for Oregon, will write one article. Other contributors will be Miss Anne Lang of The Dalles, present vice president general; Mrs. Seymour Jones, state regent; Mrs. James G. Walker Jr. of Portland, president of the Children of the American Revolution. An article on old trails will be included and Leta D. Crandall of The Dalles will write a story on the markers in the state. Mrs. John L. Soule of Baker, state registrar, will be another contributor. Pictures of state officers and of the regents of the nineteen chapters will be included in the picture section. The cover picture will probably be of Continental hall. The issue will also contain a sketch of each chapter in the state.

In addition to furnishing a permanent record of the organization in the state, members are interested in the plan because of the remunerative possibilities it offers each of the chapters. Through arrangements made with the publishers the daughters will receive 60 per cent of all advertising that is procured and if a larger advertisement is received from any present advertiser fifty per cent of the increase is also turned over to the organization. The magazine sells for twenty five cents a copy and if the chapter charges its members that, it is allowed to put ten of the twenty five cents into the treasury. Each chapter is also allowed to retain eighty cents of each two dollar yearly subscription it obtains. Throughout the year the various chapters in the state will receive 1000 word print articles in the magazine.

At the next state board meeting it will be decided to what use the money earned in this way will be put. Both the new auditorium in Washington and the art building at Eugene are considered possibilities. Each chapter will be given credit for all the money it earns and if there is an overplus the chapter may retain it.

Members of the Northwest Poetry society will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. H. C. Wortman on Portland Heights. A number of Salem members of the society will be included in the group. Presidents of the writing societies in the state will be honor guests. In this group will be Miss Grace Elizabeth Smith, leader of the writers' section of the Salem Arts League. In the Salem group also will be Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Franklin, Mrs. W. F. Fargo and Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Paulus.

Mrs. F. G. Brock of Olympia, Washington, is the guest this week of her mother, Mrs. H. Hartman. She arrived Christmas morning. Mr. Brock will join her here on New Year's day.

Mrs. Louise Mendelsohn, widow of the late Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, left today for Los Angeles where she will make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Cooley (Mabel Marcus) of Myrtle Point, are the guests during the holiday week of Mrs. Cooley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Marcus.

Monday afternoon bridge club members entertained their husbands last night at a six thirty dinner followed by an evening of bridge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Poesal. A basket of holly and red candles in crystal holders centered the dining table with covers placed for Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hoyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Shafer, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Pollock, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Poesal.

High honors at bridge were won by Mrs. Shafer and Mr. Pollock.

A watch night service will be held at the Market street Free Methodist church, corner of North Winter and Market streets, beginning at 9 o'clock. The first part of the service will be given to a praise service. There will be three short addresses given at intervals during the evening. The speakers are to be Rev. C. H. Hopkins, Rev. Carl Miller and Prof. E. A. Sayer of La Grande. There will be the singing of some of the old hymns as well as some special music. The last moments of the old year and the first of the new will be spent in prayer.

The story telling section of the Salem Arts League will not meet tonight. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening January 6, in the apartments in the Court of the leader, Mrs. Lola Belle Bellinger. At this time the King Arthur and Robin Hood cycle stories will be discussed. Cycle stories will be taken up at the next two section meetings.

Miss Franz Doerfler, who has been spending the Christmas holidays with her parents at their country home south of Silverton, visited friends in Salem yesterday before taking a train for San Francisco where she plans to spend part of the winter. Miss Doerfler, during the past season,
