K C COUNCILS OF MARION COUNTY HOLD JOINT MEET

Sublimity, Or., Jan. 21.—More than 200 members of the Knights of Columbus from the councils of Sublimity, Salem, Mt. Angel, Woodburn, St. Paul and McMinnville attended the joint county meeting held here Tuesday evening. These district meetings are the idea of Fred J. Schwab of Mt. Angel, district deputy, and are planned to rotate from one council to another.

The Salem council will be the next host at its regular meeting in February, when a joint initiation of the four Marion county councils will be held.

The Mt. Angel council conducted the meeting here, their officers taking charge of the entire business session and social program.

The program consisted of musical selections by the members of the Mt. Angel council, both singing and instrumental music, jokes and monologues. One of the athletes of the Mt. Angel college was present and gave a demonstration of strength. An address was given by Rev. Father Alcun of the Mt. Angel college treating upon the Encyclical letter of Pope Leo XIII. He rendered an interesting lecture on points laid out in this letter as adapted to modern times. His address was followed by an address by Frank Davey, state deputy of the Knights of Columbus. Other short addresses were given by District Deputy Fred Schwab, Rev. Father Laineck, chaplain of the Sublimity council and others.

Stayton, Or., Jan. 21.—Mrs. William Smith, formerly of Stayton and now of Salem, was removed from her home to a Salem hospital Wednesday suffering from appendicitis. It was learned here today, Mrs. Smith has been ill for the past several days and it was at first thought she was suffering from smallpox since she had been exposed to that disease. It is not yet known whether Mrs. Smith will have to undergo an operation. Members of Mr. and Mrs. Smith's family from Stayton are assisting in the care of her two children, two years and two months old, respectively.

Strong Politics Brewing In Polk; Starbuck Wants Johnson's Seat In Senate

Dallas, Or., Jan. 21.—Politics have begun to simmer in quite a lively way in Polk county the past few days with the result that one local man has announced himself as a candidate for state senator, another for state superintendent of public instruction, and others will undoubtedly come to the surface in a short time.

A check up reveals that in addition to the state offices and minor local offices that Polk county will be called upon to vote on six important officials this year. These include a county commissioner, district attorney, a joint senator, two representatives and a circuit judge.

The first definite announcement comes from Dr. A. B. Starbuck of Dallas, republican, whose friends have not yet succeeded in getting him into the field as a candidate for joint senator, Polk and Benton counties. Dr. Starbuck aspires to the place held the last four years by A. J. Johnson of Corvallis. The position in the past has been regarded as a turn about proposition between Polk and Benton counties, and this is understood to have kept Senator Johnson from seeking another term, until it was certain whether Polk county would put forward a man for the office. The term is four years.

Dr. Starbuck has been prominent in local affairs and is well known throughout the state but he has never sought a political office before. He is now chairman of the Dallas school board, a member of the city council (by appointment), C. L. Bratcher of here.

Dr. Starbuck was born in the Eola hills, Polk county, 45 years ago and his family is of well known pioneer stock. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon medical school and is well known throughout the entire county. He is a prune grower on an extensive scale. At the present time he is advancing no platform but is running upon his personal qualifications for the office.

The two other legislative vacancies are joint representative, Polk and Lincoln counties, W. V. Fuller of Dallas, republican, present incumbent, and representative for Polk county, C. L. Bratcher of Perrydale, republican, present incumbent. Mr. Fuller is emphatic in his declaration that he will not seek the office. He had been urged to run for state senator but was among those who succeeded in getting Dr. Starbuck out for that post.

Mr. Bratcher's views on a second term have not been learned, but it is probable that he would not be adverse to accepting one. He proved himself an aggressive campaigner in the 1924 primaries and defeated J. E. Fletcher of Independence for the nomination. Mr. Fletcher has since removed from the county.

Captain J. Waldo Finn of McCoy has been suggested as a possible candidate for Mr. Fuller's position. Mr. Finn is an ex-service man, aggressive and well liked.

ANGELS WORKING HARD FOR CONTEST TONIGHT

Mt. Angel College, St. Benedict, Or., Jan. 21.—Coach Joe Kasberger has been giving his Angel varsity plenty of hard work during the past week, and the gold and white quartet should be ready to trim the Northwestern National bank team of Portland where they come down tonight. The Northwestern aggregation, however, is reported to be a fast and furious aggregation, with a high rating in the Portland Bankers league, and they should be able to give the Angels a good deal of opposition.

This week, Coach Kasberger has furnished his hoop aspirants with lots of work with practice games with Silverton, Woodburn, Molalla and Gervais high schools.

For the same offense, Walter Applegard of Portland was fined $7.50 and Robert Breen, also of Portland, was admonished to keep his speed down to 30 miles an hour. Mr. Breen stated that he had never before been to Independence and failed to turn off of the west side highway at Monmouth. Near Suver he found out his mistake and being anxious to make the daily V. & S. train for Valeets came back in a hurry.

STRETCHING THE BUDGET

It is often possible to save a tidy bit of the weekly or monthly food allowance. Many women do it. Some of the most successful of these have told us that their best plan is to map out each meal for several days in advance. By this method they know exactly what their wants are going to be over a considerable period of time. They watch our ads closely—shop in person—and each week or month find themselves with a nice little sum of money saved, to be used for other purposes—or banked—as they see fit. It is a plan that Skaggs Stores recommend.
