QUEEN QUEST OF CENTENNIAL

a bouquet of orchids. After presentations and the supper in the dining room the guests returned to the ballroom for dancing. The queen does not dance but Prince Nicholas and Princess Heana took part and apparently enjoyed it immensely.

The reception was given by the Society of the Friends of Hamauna. William Nelson Cromwell, the society's president, and Mrs. Cromwell were in the receiving line. Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor and others of prominence were among those present.

The queen was free from formal engagements this morning, but arrangements were made for the royal party to leave for Philadelphia at 3 o'clock today on a ten-car special train.

At the request of Queen Marie, the Philadelphia plans were changed enough to permit her to attend a late afternoon service in a Rumanian church. After the service a reception will be held in her hotel followed by a dinner in her honor given by Mayor Kendrick. This evening she will attend the "ballet fantastique" in the Sequel-Centennial auditorium and then tour the exposition grounds.

After reviewing the midshipmen at Annapolis yesterday in the rain, the queen had a slight cold. A physician said she was physically and emotionally exhausted from her strenuous day. He warned her to conserve her strength for the long tour of the country yet to come.

"Now I am afraid I shall have to look after myself," Queen Marie said with a smile. "What a bore!" Such a disposition was not over a benefit performance at the Metropolitan opera which the queen will attend Sunday night that Mrs. Charles H. Sahin, wife of the president of the Guaranty Trust company, named as a patroness, has repudiated her connection with the affair.

The use of Governor Smith's name as "honorary chairman of the reception committee," was unapproved, it is stated on the governor's behalf.

New York.—A $30,000 diamond and pearl necklace seems destined to become the property of a Harlem negroess shortly. She said she found it in the street and tried to pawn it for $5. The police seized it and have held it for nearly the six months stipulated by regulation but no claimant has appeared.

WOODBURN CLUB PAYS TRIBUTES TO OLD TIMER

Woodburn, Or., Oct. 21.—The first fall meeting of the Woodburn Community club, held at Bonhoff's restaurant last night, proved to be one of much interest. The annual election of officers was held and resulted in the election of Blaine McCord as president; C. J. Espy, vice-president; Ray J. Glatt, secretary-treasurer; E. J. Allen and W. F. Norman, directors.

Stephen C. Curtis, 100 years old on October 11, was the honored guest of the club and was presented with several gifts in behalf of the club by President Hunt. New members received were C. P. Hanson of the Ford Motor company, Rev. Aaron J. Neufeld of the Methodist Episcopal church, W. L. Stark of the Standard Oil company, Roy Wolf, athletic coach of Woodburn high school, and Henry Neldert of Henry's cafe. Mrs. John P. Hunt, Mrs. Blaine McCord and Miss Gladys Renn were guests of the club and a vocal solo by Miss Renn was much enjoyed.

An invitation was extended to the Salem chamber of commerce to furnish speakers for the next meeting of the club. A letter was read from the Portland chamber of commerce asking for photos of the different industries of this section, some of the city and county homes and other things which might be of interest to tourists and the matter was referred to a committee appointed last spring for this purpose, consisting of Eugene Courtney, Ray J. Glatt, M. A. Schreiber, John Ramage and J. J. Hall.

The club went on record as endorsing the movement to present the Silverton-Newberg highway, including the Newberg bridge to the state of Oregon, in order that this connecting link between the Pacific east side and west side highways may become a state highway. The club also went on record as favoring the closing of business houses during the Silverton-Woodburn football game which takes place on October 25.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers of the club for their faithful work during the past year.

age, but few of them" collapsed. The monument erected by Cuba for the 266 Americans who were killed in the explosion which sank the U. S. battleship Maine in Havana harbor in 1898 was razed. Only the base and two ten-inch guns, relics of the battleship remain.

The heaviest damage occurred in the port of Havana, where two steamers, five schooners, forty fishing vessels, numerous launches and two barges were sunk. Four steamers and one schooner were seriously damaged. The Havana Coal company's elevator was wrecked. Its skeleton was a mass of twisted steel today. Three large docks and many smaller ones were wrecked and all the others were damaged.

Most of the persons killed were struck by falling walls or flying debris. After the storm had passed out over the Gulf of Mexico the streets were littered with electric light and telephone wires, signs, parts of roofs, sheet iron shutters, trees and balcony railings wrenched loose by the wind. The intensity of the storm was indicated by the wrecking of the Belven college wind gauge when the storm had reached a velocity of 96 miles an hour before it struck the city with full force.

Troops and policemen patrolled the streets under orders of President Machado to shoot any persons caught looting.

The inundation in the lower parts of the city due to the high tide caused great damage and there was much need for temporary aid and shelter for the people. The water at times was several meters deep along the Malecon for three or four blocks south of the sea wall.

During the height of the storm thousands of barrels of oil and gasoline were destroyed when tanks caught fire.

The people of Havana awaited the storm calmly preparing for more than 12 hours for it to reach the city. All windows and doors were braced or nailed up to protect them from the force of the wind. To this was due the fact that little real damage was done to strongly built houses.

FOOTBALL BANNED STUDENTS STRIKE

Hornell, N. Y., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Disregarding the board of education's edict forbidding football, 1000 striking students and alumni of the Hornell high school, today proceeded with plans for Saturday's gridiron clash with the Bolivar high school eleven.

The rebel students and graduates served notice the game would be played even if the Hornell high school team were forced to appear as an independent organization.

This ultimatum followed an open strike of the student body yesterday against no-football order, a revolt which culminated last night in a parade of protest coupled with formal demand for resignations of board of education members. The alumni body of the school has retained counsel and announced today an injunction against the school board would be sought. Blame for the board's action has been laid at the door of a Methodist minister whose sermon against alleged gambling at school contests in said to have impelled school officials to move to abolish football. The board of education displayed no signs of retreating from its stand.

New York.—Nina Wilcox Putnam's defense in the suit over a note for $3,500 is that the plaintiff, John J. Schwarz, an attorney, represented he could obtain for her a divorce in New York from R. J. Sanderson by collusion. Schwarz denies this. She finally obtained a divorce in Florida after a decree was vacated in Rhode Island.

Belgrade.—Five ringleaders of the Lucretia club, which taught its members, unhappy wives, how to mix medieval poison, are in jail. Six murders of husbands are attributed by the police to the club.
