Chapter G Honors Founders

The 50th anniversary of the founding of the P. E. O. sisterhood was celebrated with beautiful ceremonies by Chapter G yesterday in a meeting at the home of Mrs. A. T. Woolpert.

Mrs. William Hughes opened the program with a short talk on the ideals and meaning of the sisterhood. Mrs. A. L. Giffney read the tribute of Mrs. Scott, state supreme president, to Mrs. Alice Boyd Babb, one of the seven founders who recently passed away.

"The Seven Stars," a sketch of the lives of the seven college girls who founded the sisterhood at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, in 1859, was read by Mrs. A. T. Woolpert. The founders were Alice Boyd Babb, Frances Rose Elliott, Hatlie Helgeson, Alice Virginia Coffin, Alice Stewart, Luella Plowson Penfield, and Mary Allen Stafford, the only living founder.

Mrs. Gordon Mettelhorst sang two numbers, "The Task," and "If I Were a Rose." Mrs. Frank Churchill played her accompaniment.

Specialty symbolic candle lighting service was held shortly before the tea hour. Six white candles were lighted in memory of the six dead founders and one yellow candle honored the living founder, Mrs. Stafford.

During the tea hour Mrs. W. H. Byrd presided at the tea table centered with flowers of yellow and white, the chapter colors.

A special guest was Mrs. A. M. Colliers of Klamath Falls, Mrs. A. E. Robins, a chapter member was specially honored yesterday when a number of gifts were showered upon her.

At the next meeting of the chapter at the home of Mrs. W. W. Moore, guest day will be observed with each member bringing one guest.

Mrs. Grace Crizer was elected president of the Salem Daughters of the Nile club at a regular monthly all day meeting of the club held Wednesday in the Masonic temple. Mrs. O. A. Miller was named vice president, and Mrs. Adeline Dunford was again chosen secretary-treasurer.

Members of the club from Suverton served as hostesses on Wednesday. The committee included Mrs. Louise Tatty, chairman, Mrs. Ethel Hubbs, Mrs. Gladys Irish, Mrs. May Hiestegen and Mrs. Alice Eversen.

The monthly meetings are held for the purpose of doing philanthropic work—sewing on garments for the crippled children in the Shriner's hospital in Portland. The work for the past year has been under the able supervision of Mrs. Ruby Seltz. A total of 48 garments were completed and sent to the hospital.

The retiring president, Mrs. Ethel Niles, was presented with a silver token in appreciation of her work during the past year.

Various groups were appointed to take charge of the work during the coming year. The sewing committee will include Mrs. Esther Kuhn, Mrs. Zelma Allen and Mrs. Gladys Yihbert.

Other committees will be named later.

The Fri-Nite club will entertain at their monthly dance tonight in Dearly hall. The committee in charge includes Mr. and Mrs. Reed Howland, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Young, Mr. and Mrs. Jennie George, Mr. and Mrs. LaDoyt Davies and Mr. and Mrs. James Bradshaw.

Scout of Veterans auxiliary will meet at the armory on Saturday afternoon for installation ceremonies.

Mrs. Dolph Craig (Dorothy Patterson) whose wedding was an event of Wednesday evening.

Legislators To Be Guests Illihee Club

An informal dance for the special pleasure of senators and representatives and their wives, and others in Salem during the legislative session will be given by the Illihee country club at the clubhouse next Wednesday evening.

The club dances have proved in the past to be among the most delightful features of the season in Salem social circles and with the addition of distinguished guests from all parts of the state next Wednesday's affair undoubtedly will be a gala event.

For the convenience of guests whose duties at the state house will not permit them to spend the entire evening at the clubhouse, the committee in charge has announced that the dance next Wednesday will be entirely informal.

Mrs. Dan J. Fry Sr. was a special honor guest at a meeting of the Illihee club yesterday afternoon at which Mrs. C. M. Eppley was hostess in her home.

In the group were Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Fred Stensloff, Mrs. W. R. Mott, Mrs. Ida Babcock, Mrs. A. T. Wain, Mrs. Carl Webb, Mrs. A. L. Brown, Mrs. Kittie Graves, Mrs. George Dunsford and the hostess, Mrs. Eppley.

The afternoon was spent in sewing and conversation.

At the tea hour the guests were served about a long table in the dining room which was centered with a bowl of violets.

Werrenrath To Sing Here Next Week

Few singers who come to Salem are assured of an enthusiastic welcome as Reinald Werrenrath, famous baritone, who will sing at the Elks club next Tuesday evening, in the last concert of the Salem artist series. The work of this baritone, in the years that he has been before the public, has been followed with great interest by all who are in touch with music and the assurance that he would be included in the list of concert attractions of the season was one of the biggest drawing cards in the artist series.

Werrenrath has created for himself an individual place in American music. Few artists are able to offer as interesting a program as he always provides, one which never drags, every item of which has its own delights, and makes its appeal to both men and women of all ages.

There are numbers which have become peculiarly his own, especially "Mandala," and which are always included in his program by request. Werrenrath says, however, that identifying a number with an artist is a calamity as it is practically impossible to sing a concert without including it, which after a time becomes just a little tiresome to the artist.

Werrenrath not only comes by his voice through heredity but also his physique and strength through a long line of famous Danish forebears. His father was a well known tenor, his mother a famous singer and his grandfather was also a singer, who married a fine musician and the fourth generation back also boasted of a generation of rare beauty in his great grand grandfather. That is a heritage of which to be proud and it is not strange that the present Werrenrath possesses one of the finest musical libraries in the world, and an inestimable fund of musical lore and story.

The baritone has not only written several songs himself but has probably read more American songs and given them a hearing than any other singer in the world today. Werrenrath believes in the future of the American composer and American compositions. When he let it be known a few years ago that he would give assistance to American composers of merit who wanted to get their music before the public, he admits quite frankly that he didn't know what he was letting himself in for. Songs flooded in by the thousands.

Just as everyone seems to think he or she can write a story, everyone seems to think they can also write a song, so Werrenrath was compelled to call a halt. Only a few good numbers were found—in fact songs of real importance are very difficult to find. Werrenrath will sing several new numbers here, and some of his old favorites too.

Honoring Mrs. Ralph Kellogg of Portland, who was Mrs. George's house guest, Mrs. Carl Armstrong and Mrs. Jesse George entertained at a three table bridge tea in the Armstrong home on Wednesday afternoon.

Pussy willows were used for decorations about the living rooms. High bridge scores was won by Mrs. E. C. Purvine.

In the group were Mrs. Kellogg, Mrs. Carl Paulsen, Mrs. Elmer Dune, Mrs. Lawrence Inlah, Mrs. E. C. Purvine, Mrs. Stanley Laine, Mrs. Edwin Armstrong and the hostesses, Mrs. George and Mrs. Armstrong.

Leisure Hour Club Honors Mrs. Fry

Mrs. George Purvine and Mrs. E. C. Small entertained members of the Leisure Hour club in Mrs. Pearce's home on Wednesday afternoon at a travel party which specially honored Mrs. Dan J. Fry Sr., who with Mr. Fry will leave shortly for a trip around the world.

A handkerchief shower was given for Mrs. Fry. Each of the group told travel stories during the afternoon.

A luncheon was served at a long table in the dining room of the Pearce home centered with a tiny travel scene. A small train travelled on its own track and other travel means such as aeroplanes, automobiles, tiny ships and push cars were used for favors. Covers were placed for Mrs. Fry, Mrs. T. G. Hopkins of Albany, Mrs. W. H. Steusloff, Mrs. Alice H. Dodd, Mrs. U. G. Shipley, Mrs. E. Lamb, Mrs. Willis Moore, Mrs. Klippe Graver, Mrs. Milton Meyers, Mrs. R. E. Lee Steiner, Mrs. John Scott and the hostesses, Mrs. Small and Mrs. Pearce.

Last Wednesday evening at 7:30 the Standard Beaver girls of Jason Lee Methodist church motored out through the snow to the home of Mrs. Albert Faustman to hold their January meeting. The evening was spent in reading dolls for the missionary box while they had their business meeting and mission study.

At ten o'clock refreshments were served by Miss Marcia Faustman and Miss Frances Graham. Those present were Hazel Emogene Pro, Evelyn Cummings, Adeline Seymour, Catherine Barker, Marion Driggs, Frances Custer, Lella Armstrong, Frances Graham, Marcia Faustman, Leah Fanning and the adviser, Mrs. Welborn.

Durbins Hosts To 500 Club

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Durbin, Sr., entertained members of the Capitol "500" club, one of Salem's oldest and most exclusive card clubs, at dinner and cards last night. Seven o'clock dinner was served in the Chinese room of the Gray Bells.

Pink carnations and lavender candles centered the table, with covers for Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Baumgartner, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Daney, Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meredith, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Meyers, Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Lee Steiner, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Olinger, Mrs. George Rodgers, George G. Brown, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Durbin.

Cards were played during the evening in the Durbin home on Fairmont hill. Prizes for high score went to Mrs. H. H. Olinger and George G. Brown.

Joy Turner Moses entertained 26 of her younger violin and piano students at her residence studio on north Capitol street Sunday afternoon.

An interesting program was given, after which musical games and contests were enjoyed. In the musical afternoon contest Margaret Burns was the successful one, while in the composer's contest
