The cold spell has brought an epidemic of sinusitis disease, and there are many cases of sinusitis any epidemic, according to Dr. Walter H. Brown, county health officer. "The people of the valley, some of them, have a better idea that cold, clear weather breeds disease," said Dr. Brown this morning, "while, on the contrary, cold fresh air with sunshine, the world's greatest destroyer of disease germs, offers much more resistance to the propagation and transmission of disease germs than does damp warm weather." The danger of the development of colds during this period, according to Dr. Brown is the result of the lack of personal adaptability to the rapid changes in temperature.

Paulson Tackles Cigarette Posters For Second Time

Representative Mark A. Paulson, Marion county, has introduced a second bill providing that no pictures of a person "real or imaginary" can be used in connection with advertisements on bill boards, and similar places for cigarette, tobacco, pipes or any narcotics. Paulson thinks such advertisements encourage young boys to start smoking.

LIONS TOLD OF INSTALLMENT MERCHANDISING

Three classes of purchasers are represented in the present credit installment system of merchandising, those who are able to pay but are indifferent; honest but slow and the out-and-out dishonest, Allen Kafury, president of the Salem Business Men's league, and head of the credit department of Kafury Bros, told members of the Lions club Friday noon.

The most dangerous class—the merchants—is the class which over estimates its earning capacities and takes on obligations in excess of income, Kafury said. This has reached a high percentage in the past two years and the merchants themselves are greatly responsible, being too willing to extend credit.

The dishonest class is in the minority, representing between four and five percent of the total.

Faith that the average American will pay his bills is the basis of installment selling, Kafury said. He explained the system of credit records kept by the Business Men's league and urged the cooperation of merchants in reporting the amount and length of time that credit has been extended in order that a complete record may be made of individual customers.

CITY MUST PAY FOR PIPE LINE

The problem of paying for a pipe line that was installed by the Salem water company at the request of the city, for the purpose of connecting the paper mill's pumps up with the city water system in case of emergency, is faced by the city council, according to information coming to light today.

A line was laid along Trade street, extending 154 feet north from the main line Commercial street last fall. A hydrant was put in near the southwest corner of the intersection of the two streets.

W. H. Dancy, head of the committee of the city council that had the matter in charge, stated this morning that the line as planned by that committee was to connect the water company's main on Commercial street directly with the paper company's pumps through the east end of the paper mill, rather than extend a line along Trade street and connect through the north side of the mill, as was done.

The cost of the work as performed amounted to $553.23, whereas it had been estimated that the cost of doing it the other way would have been only about $400, and would have done fully as well for the purpose desired, according to Dancy, who asserts that the water company changed the original plans and laid the pipe along Trade street because it wanted eventually to extend its line that way.

BIER ESTATE PUT AT $35,000

The estate of the late Nicholas Bier is estimated at $35,000 all in personal property, according to petition filed to admit the estate to probate. Under the terms of a will Dan P. MacCarthy, son-in-law, is named as executor.

The will provides that Eugene MacCarthy and Charles Elmer Bier each receive $500; Dan P. MacCarthy, $1000; Anna Mary Noble, a sister, of Omaha, Neb., is willed $200; a daughter-in-law, Lella G. Bier, is given $2500; a large number of small bequests ranging from $5 to $25 are made to nephews and relatives or friends, and the entire residue is to be divided equally between Lena P. MacCarthy and Lella G. Bier, daughters.

Nicholas Bier was an old pioneer of Salem and a short time before his death sold property at Liberty and Cheimketa streets at a price reported to be $25,750.

TOO MUCH UPLIFT IN BRITISH RADIO

London, Jan. 21.—"Too much uplift" is the complaint many wireless fans are making against British broadcasting since the government took it over. Some of the subjects to which listeners in object are: The Mind of Beethoven, The Growth of Industry, The Colonization of Animals, The Sugar Beet, and Sheep Breeding. The wireless patrons declare the air is laden with dull stuff and clamor for the lighter programs which were offered before the clammy hand of officialdom took over broadcasting.

Corvallis, Ore., Jan. 21.—(By) The biennial report of the Oregon Agricultural college board of regents came from the press here today as a 120 page volume.

One section of 25 pages is devoted to a detailed report of expenditures of every division of the institution and is signed by R. F. Irvine, treasurer of the board.

Regarding the resolution introduced in the present session of the legislature, demanding a detailed account of expenditures of the school, the president's office issued a statement declaring that a complete financial statement covering 145 typewritten pages was submitted to the budget commission before the legislature convened, while a detailed summary list was filed with the secretary of state before the resolution was introduced.

The biennial report just published is one of a series printed since 1883, all of which have contained detailed accounts of income and expenditures and all of which have been available to any citizen of Oregon.

WORLD EXPERIENCES SURPLUS PRODUCTION

Monte, Jan. 21.—(By) The world is now experiencing for the first time the problem of surplus production. Alfred Atkinson, president of the International Wool Growers' association today, in speaking on conditions which have brought about changes in agricultural flows. This surplus, he pointed out, is due to the fact that the world is living in a machine era. Efficiency has been increased by the use of the latest machinery and the investment of more money has lessened the time of the year. Atkinson said, efficiency of production has increased about 400 per cent.

Harbors Bill Signed

Washington, Jan. 21.—(By) President Coolidge today signed the Rivers and Harbors authorization bill.

FIGHT OPENS ON PEDDLERS LICENSE LAW

Fight to have repealed the extra license fee of 50 per cent assessed against automobiles not under the common carrier classification, but used commercially, was started before the house automobile and roads committee last night. The act, known as "the peddlers license law" or house bill 21 which was passed at the 1925 session, provides that machines for commercial purposes and operated beyond a radius of five miles from any incorporated city should pay a fee of 50 per cent in addition to their regular license.

Final action on the "peddlers license" law will likely be taken by the house at 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, it was indicated this morning when Representative Graham, chairman of the automobile and roads committee, motioned that house bill 8 and senate bill 15 be made a special order of business at that time.

The house adopted the report of the committee favoring house bill 8 with certain amendments. Senate bill 15, which is the same as house bill 8 without amendments, was laid on the table with a recommendation that it do not pass.

ASK PROBE OF MALHEUR DEAL

The house has adopted senate joint memorial No. 5 calling for an investigation by congress of a contract entered into by Fred Herick for purchase from the federal forestry service of 500,000,000 feet of lumber in the Malheur national forests.

Under terms of the contract executed in 1923, Herick was obligated to build about 80 miles of railway which was to be a common carrier. The contract has never been fulfilled, extensions of time having been granted from year to year, it was pointed out by Representative R. R. Hamilton of Bend, in speaking on the memorial. The latter suggested that it was on account of Herick's relations with certain parties formerly connected with the forestry service that he had not been forced to carry out his contract.

The house also adopted house resolution No. 5 calling for the appointment of a committee of three to fix the per diem and mileage of members of the house.

APARTMENTS BRING $65,000

Ferry J. Pugh of this city has purchased the Henderson apartment house, recently built on North Summer street near Union, according to announcement made today. The consideration was $65,000, of which part was an 11 apartment building in Albany, owned by Mr. Pugh. The purchase was made from C. E. Frost of Portland.

The apartment house here will be ready for occupancy in about a week, it was stated this morning by J. C. Gibson, Portland realtor, who was in this city on business relative to the deal. The apartments are now being completely equipped, even to a radio set in each apartment. Any occupants of any suite may at any time, by inserting the proper plug provided for that purpose, whatever program is coming in at the main receiving station.

There are 16 apartments in the place, of which 6 are three room and 10 are of two rooms.
