The auxiliary of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War will meet in the veterans hall in the armory Tuesday evening. After a short business session the auxiliary will be joined by the sons in a Washington and Lincoln program.

The first definite step toward the formation of an international federation of business and professional women has been taken with the selection of Miss Harriet Taylor of New York city to head the committee of international relations of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, according to word received by the local club.

The appointment has just been announced by Miss Lena Madson Phillips of New York city, president of the federation, who has likewise appointed to the committee other women who travel extensively, or who are now engaged in foreign travel.

Miss Taylor is a director of the world acquaintance tours which carry groups abroad annually. Her contacts are many on the continent of Europe, for she has crossed the Atlantic 22 times and has visited every European country. Miss Taylor was in charge of Young Women's Christian association activities in France during and at the immediate close of the war. She has attended ten international conferences and conventions, and numbers on her acquaintance list many of the most prominent business and professional women abroad.

Other members of the committee already appointed are Miss Ida Anderson of Indianapolis, Indiana, well known newspaper woman, traveler and lecturer; Mrs. Stewart Smith of Stamford, Conn.; Miss Lillian Burton, who is at present in France, and Dr. Lillian Shields of Oakland, Cal., who is making a trip around the world. Other appointments will be forthcoming as occasion arises.

The function of this international relations committee, which is newly created this year in the national federation, will be to make contacts with foreign business women, and to survey informally the business and professional women's field in other countries with a view to determining where the participation of women in business life is sufficiently great to make possible the implanting of federation ideas and ideals.

Results of the surveys made by the international relations committee will be reported as a feature of the convention of the national federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs to be held in Oakland, Cal., in July. Many Oregon business and professional women will be in attendance. Miss Adella Pritchard of Portland, ex-president of the national group, has been selected to act as chairman of Northwest day, and Mrs. Josephine H. Furney, long identified with the national publicity department, has been selected to serve as chairman of publicity for the northwest. Mrs. Furney also will organize and operate the final set-up for a nation wide publicity contest to take place during the convention week. She will be assisted by Mrs. Stella Baker Le Roux, newspaper woman from Troutman, Wash.

Winema chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will be the hostess club for the 14th annual convention of the OAC chapter to be held in Corvallis March 24, 25 and 26. Mrs. George R. Hyslop is regent of the Corvallis chapter, and Mrs. William T.

Women's Danger

Of offending under the oldest hygienic handicap now ended. New way provides true protection—discards like tissue

By ELLEN Z. BUCKLAND

WITH the old-time "sanitary pad" women realize their constant danger of offense, plus the embarrassment of disposal. And thus spend unhappy days.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 2 in 10 better-class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You don't dance, motor for hours in sleek frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus steps all danger of offending.

Discards as easily as tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitation, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Be sure you get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

The Value of Human Life at all ages

"Broke"—but Worth $79,100

Dad earns $50 a week. He has just paid the rent, the grocery bill and the milk bill. He says he is "broke, but happy".... In reality, he and his family are worth a small fortune.... This American family represents $79,100 of the nation's wealth.

ALMOST any man will agree that his life is more valuable to himself than the things he owns. Now he can have the comfort of knowing how valuable his life is to others—from a dollars-and-cents standpoint.

Perhaps the easiest way to realize this stupendous figure is to compare it with the total value of the entire material wealth of our country.

The latest available government reports show that everything we own—land, buildings, railroads, mines, raw materials, manufactured products, crops, live stock—everything included—was 321 billions.... Our lives are worth nearly five times as much as our property.

America can well be proud of the additional insurance placed on the valuable lives of her people in 1926. More than 16 billion dollars ($16,000,000,000) was written and revived during the year by about 300 life insurance companies—making the total amount of life insurance in force approximately 80 billion dollars ($80,000,000,000).

But while the people of this country carry 80 billion dollars of life insurance—or only one-twentieth of the economic value of their lives—they carry more than 160 billions of insurance on property—more than one-half of its value.

You would not insure a $5,000 house for $250—one twentieth of its value. You insure it adequately. But have you insured yourself adequately? Send for the booklet which tells you what you are worth. Study it. Then decide whether or not you carry enough insurance to protect your family.

America is rapidly gaining a better knowledge of the value of its greatest wealth—human lives.

The America of the future will better safeguard its wealth and happiness.
