

WATERS CLASH IN HUGH'S TRIAL

ROY AND RAY TELL TALE OF WANDERINGS

Brothers Boastful When Telling of Narrow Escapes from Capture

Once Witnesses in Court Where Pictures Graced Bulletin Board

Court House, Jacksonville, Ore., June 21.—(P)—Ray and Roy DeAutremont jointly charged with their brother Hugh for the Siskiyou tunnel hold up killings will be arraigned before Circuit Judge Thomas this afternoon shortly after the jury retires for deliberation on the fate of Hugh.

"We will take them back to Multnomah county in a day or two," said Sheriff Jennings. "We planned to take them back tonight but altered our plans. Hugh will go with them if the verdict of the jury makes it possible."

"It is not likely that the twins will be tried in this county. We have entered our jury list in the trial of Hugh. I don't believe we could get a jury in the county. In the two Hugh trials, in the neighborhood of 500 veniremen were called."

Portland, Ore., June 21.—(P)—Living the life of a hunted thing, dodging about the east to escape recognition and arrest, maintaining an aloofness hardly in keeping with their friend-making propensities, Roy and Roy DeAutremont, charged with Hugh, their brother, with four brutal murders and the dynamiting of a mail train, finally fell into the hands of an ever-searching government.

They told about it last night, as between trains, they ate and smoked in the county jail.

ESCAPED DETECTION
They told of being witnesses in Scioto county, Ohio, of greeting the sheriff of the county as they emerged from the court room; of passing the bulletin board in the same court, on which staring at them, were their likenesses on a government reward poster.

And then, in the close custody of Sheriff Ralph G. Jennings and his son, Louis, they were bundled aboard a Medford-bound train at 8 p. m. destined for Jacksonville and arraignment today or tomorrow.

They will be returned, probably tomorrow night, to the Multnomah county jail.

TALK QUITE FREELY
Last night the train bearing them to Portland made a pre-arranged stop at Montavilla station and the party of officers and prisoners alighted and proceeded to the jail.

The two tired youths were searched. Then newspaper reports:

GOOD EVENING SIPS FOR SUPPER

By Don Upjohn

Some of the grangers are now hauling income tax as the Moses who is to lead them out of the financial wilderness—
Very well, maybe—
It required the original Moses 40 years to guide his children 300 miles.
We are satisfied it will take Income like more than 40 years to get over his income tax bill—
Yes, the Starr of Ike's destiny seems to be over.
By the way, what has become of Little Ike, anyway?
He seems to have dropped out of the picture. Do you still twinkle, Little Starr, how we wonder where you are?
Only nine more days left in which to be a June bride.
"Bend-Sisters Highway" reads an editorial heading in the Turner Tribune. We hope none of the Cervian sisters get down Turner way to be treated in that manner.

When Noah Webster was a clerk, and labored day and night upon the monumental work, the list of words that he achieved was, by our standards, small; yet in his blindness he believed he had corralled them all.

The English language of his time was a rather serious crime. To push a new word through. Wherefore the dictionary stood for decades unincreased. And all supposed it would be good a century, at least.

How things have changed! For nowadays they get out new editions to meet each superficial craze. For words and definitions. It is no longer safe to cry "There is no such word"—for lo, it may be hanging up to dry. Coined but an hour ago!

WOMAN ACCUSES DRUGLESS DOCTOR

Dr. F. F. Lewis, naturopath, with offices in the New Bligh building, is out on $500 bail after his arrest and hearing on a charge of assault and battery filed by his partner, Mrs. Viola G. Hannon, a trained nurse.

Mrs. Hannon charges that for 3 months she has been an employe and business associate of Dr. Lewis and alleges they have established a large clientele in their drugless profession of letting nature take its course. For several weeks Lewis has been threatening to skip the city, according to her story, and when she attempted to intercede last Friday, Lewis is alleged to have knocked her down and assaulted her.

She denied any such charge and counter charges that he had planned to leave town because Mrs. Hannon had annoyed him continually with her attentions, making it embarrassing in his practice.

If Mrs. Hannon's charges are sustained, more serious charges against Lewis may follow as the plaintiff's husband, an employe of Glens-Powers has threatened damage suits and more extensive action.

Council Undecided Upon Need For Special 2-Mill Street and Bridge Levy

The city council is yet undecided whether it will recommend to the people the passage or the rejection of the 2-mill street and bridge maintenance levy which is to be on the ballot at the special city election June 28. Mayor Livesley last night asked the council to decide what it wanted to do about the measure, and Alderman Fallon moved that the council recommend passage of the measure. His motion was not seconded and no action was taken.

The subject came up in connection with figures submitted by City Engineer Hugh Rogers and Street Commissioner Walter S. Low, showing a total of 53,172 square yards of pavement that is in need of repair. They reported that the county court has promised to do the work for the city and that the cost will not exceed 75 cents a yard. The repair projects are: North Summer street, 17,165 yards; North Capitol street, from Mill creek to Shipping street, 12,271 yards; Court street from Church to Commercial, 9727 yards;

328 PRISONERS IN PRISON MINE STAGE MUTINY

Lansing, Kan., June 21.—(P)—Three hundred and twenty-eight prisoners in the state penitentiary mine here mutinied today, overpowered fourteen guards and blocked the cages, it was announced from the warden's office this afternoon. The prisoners refused to answer the telephones in the mine and were thought to be formulating demands upon the warden this afternoon.

The prisoners placed heavy timbers beneath and above the mine cages so they could not be moved from the top.

A mutinous spirit has been prevalent at the prison since Sunday, it is said, when the prisoners demanded that they be allowed to have cigarettes and cigarette papers sent to them from outside.

Last night prisoners caused a slight disturbance in one of the cell houses, the warden's secretary said. The hideout of the prisoners in the mine is similar to one staged in July, 1926, when prisoners made several demands upon Warden H. Mackey. The demands were not granted, and the convicts surrendered after staying 36 hours in the mines.

BOARD SELECTS DEAN FOR GIRLS

With the recommendation of both the city superintendent and the high school principal, Miss Margaret Robertson, head of the history department in the high school for the last five years, was chosen dean of women for the senior high school at the meeting of the school board last night.

As a special preparation for her new duties, Miss Robertson will attend summer school at Columbia university in New York city. A special course for deans of women is given each summer at Columbia.

Miss Robertson has been a teacher in the Salem school for sixteen years. She was principal of the Highland school for several years. She was graduated from Willamette university and six years ago she took a year of post graduate work at Columbia university. Her salary will be $1800 a year and she will retain her duties as head of the history department in addition to her new work as dean.

Practically all of the larger high schools in the country have found a "dean of girls" a necessity and the movement for a Salem high dean is the result of several years of effort on the part of Principal J. C. Nelson and Superintendent George W. Hug.

JURY TO GET CASE DURING AFTERNOON

Defense Allegation of Framed Evidence Riles George Neuner

Prosecutor Says Attorneys for Youth Appeal to Sympathies

Court House, Jacksonville, Ore., June 21.—(P)—The fate of Hugh DeAutremont, charged with the murder of Charles O. (Coyle) Johnson during the Siskiyou tunnel holdup, drew closer to the jury this morning when at noon United States District Attorney Neuner, approached the close in the final argument for the state. The instructions of the court will then stand alone between the jury and the deliberations of his

INVITED OUTSIDE
"Talk to the jury, not to me," snapped Neuner. "I'll talk to you outside."
"I'll talk to you inside," shouted Neuner, "where I like to talk to you, and I'll talk to you."
The court calmed the rising storm.

The charge of the defense that the evidence was framed nettled Neuner and he constantly left his train of argument to hurl words at defense counsel.

With scathing sarcasm Neuner flayed what he called "the ridiculous reasoning of the defense" and spoke directly at defense attorneys as he roared his charges.

SAYS HUGH CALLOUSED
Looking straight at the defendant and answering the defense mention of his trial companion, Neuner shouted:
"It doesn't bother Hugh any more to have lawyers fling stinging accusations in his face."
"The government official bitterly flayed the defense contention of a 'frame-up' and what he held was 'an appeal to prejudice.'"

"Somebody shot Coyle Johnson in the back when he writhed with seven buckshot in his abdomen. In shells and cartridges don't prove it," cried Neuner, "but it is a circumstance consistent with guilt."
Neuner then discussed the suit case belonging to the DeAutremonts, they claim, and found near the tunnel.

Newspapers Greatest Advertising Mediums Ad Club Delegates Told

Portland, Or., June 21.—(P)—"The manufacturers' salesmen who are calling upon the retailers of our country today place as much stress upon their employers advertising schedule in the local newspaper as they do upon the quality and outstanding virtues of the merchandise itself."
