The commission reports that there are 1131 motor freight and passenger carriers operating on the highways of Oregon against the Iron Hill 1922 miles of road against 3897 miles covered by railroads.

ERA AND IRA FIND MARRIAGE FAILURE

The married life of Era and Ira must have been a stormy era and today Judge L. H. McMahan signed the decree which gave Ira a divorce from Era. The four children of Era and Ira, ranging in age from five to 11, are awarded to the care of Ira, their father.

In the original complaint, filed in April of this year, Ira Blalock charged his wife with deserting him in June, 1925. They were married at Postock, Texas, in April, 1914. The children are Harold, 11; Marcella, eight; Norman, seven and Margery, five. Era Blalock made no answer to the complaint.

The second man to be given a divorce from his wife by Judge McMahan this morning, was H. E. Maurer whose wife was Frieda Phillips Maurer. They were married in Beatrice, Neb., in July of 1915. They had no children. Maurer charged his wife with seeking the company of other men and staying away from home from two days to two weeks at a time.

MAYOR TO ASK FOR CHANGES

opposed to allowing the American Legion to finance the public band concert for this year to the extent of $1500 and further stated that he would insist that the city pay for the concert if the money was in any way available this year. Mayor Livezey announced this morning that he would ask for changes in the budget to include the new budget of a deficit item of $1500 to cover the band concert for 1927 and relieve the legion of the $1500 guarantee it pledged itself to pay and is at this time preparing to pay.

"I am making this recommendation without the knowledge or without having conferred with members of the American Legion. But I do not feel that the legion or any other private organization should be called upon or allowed to finance public enterprises of this nature," said the mayor. "The use of public funds to provide public band concerts has been authorized by the people in a charter amendment, and up until last year these concerts have always been provided for in the annual city budget. Last year, however, the restrictions of the six per cent tax increase limitation became so stringent as to make it impossible to provide funds for the concerts without unreasonably restricting more necessary activities of the city, and the offer of the legion boys to provide the money for the concerts was accepted, conditionally upon my part."

"Since that time the people of Salem have seen the necessity of providing funds outside of the six per cent restriction to care for certain functions of the city. I am therefore recommending that the special tax levied in June will provide adequate funds for that department for next year, more, in fact, than they have ever had before, and it will not be necessary to include any further appropriation in the budget.

"Eliminating the bridge and street maintenance items from the budget will let us have a margin of from $5500 to $6000 under the six per cent limit. I am informed. I believe that I should levy up to the six per cent increase limit in order not to decrease the tax base in future years. I feel that we have here an opportunity to provide for the band concert as a deficit item and include never taken care of at all."

Mayor Livezey also objects to the item of $300 in the budget estimates to help pay for the cost of returning the houses of the city in a systematic manner. The says and in means committee wrote the item in at $300 with the understanding that the merchants of the city and the chamber of commerce would be asked to make up the rest of the $500 estimated to be necessary to complete the work. The mayor's opposition is not to the returning project, but to the policy of asking businessmen and other private individuals to finance a purely municipal project.

"If this is a legitimate expense against the city, the entire amount should be appropriated by the city and the work should be done under the supervision of the city engineer. We cannot appropriate money to be expended by someone else, legally and I will ask that the full amount required for the returning project be appropriated to the budget," said the mayor. "The work should be done and the city should pay for it."

The mayor also intimated that he would recommend that some of

GIRLS' LEAGUE ORGANIZED AT HIGH SCHOOL

Preliminary organization of a girls league at Salem senior high school, an organization to which all girls of the school will automatically belong and to which no dues will be paid, was effected this morning at a "all-girl" assembly.

Virginia Judy Estery, dean of women at the University of Oregon, spoke to the high school girls on the value and benefits of a girls' league, on the plan of organization followed by leagues in other big high schools in all parts of the country, and on the steps necessary for the organization of a league of that type in Salem.

The boys from Oregon was the guest of the new Salem high dean, Miss Mabel Robertson.

A nominating committee composed of two girls, named by the entire assembly of girls, two appointed by the Salem dean, and Dean Robertson herself, will announce nominations for officers of the newly organized league not later than Wednesday, the day before the Thanksgiving recess. Elections will be held next week.

Myrtle Murphy and Edith Findley were elected by the girls' assembly to be members of the committee.

Dean Robertson named Billy Cupper shortly before noon and the fourth meeting of the committee will be announced later this afternoon by the dean.

Girls' leagues in other schools have been successful in sponsoring the big sister movement, explained Dean Estery this morning. By this plan, Salem high will probably name 60 or 70 girls to be big sisters to the freshmen girls. They will assist them in getting acquainted, they will suggest the activities in which they may work, and above all they will aid in keeping up the scholarship of the freshmen.

At noon today Mrs. B. O. Shuckling was hostess at a luncheon honoring Dean Estery. Late in the afternoon she returned to Eugene.

DEBTS INSPIRE SUICIDE PACT

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—Fear of creditors drove Mrs. Marion Johnson, 30, to enter a suicide pact with George Osland, 35, a contractor, police believed today. Mrs. Johnson died last night, shortly after swallowing "Black leaf 40", a deadly poison. Osland was in a hospital this morning where little hope for his recovery was entertained.

Woodrow Chaplain, 12 year old son of Mrs. Johnson, and Jack O'Leary, his companion, discovered the tragedy. He entered his home and saw Osland staggering toward the door. Mrs. Johnson was lying over the kitchen table.

The boy ran to his mother and cried: "What's the matter mamma?" "Let me alone," she said, "I am dying."

Emergency physicians were summoned but Mrs. Johnson failed to revive.

A note was found in which fear of creditors was expressed.

This is the third death in Portland from "Black leaf 40", a rose poison, this month. On November 11, Mrs. Seville Heysh and Werner Steiger died when they drank the nicotine sulphate thinking it was wine.

BANK PETITION TURNED DOWN

A. A. Schramm, state superintendent of banks, has turned down a petition of 30 Sheridan residents for authority to start a new bank there. The petitioners were headed by Jacob von Well. The petitioners have the privilege of appealing to the state banking board.

The denial of the petition is on economic grounds. The capital proposed was $25,000, the minimum allowed by law. It is said that the petition was presented after an effort to organize the defunct Sheridan State bank proved futile. That bank was closed September 23.

SON TAKES VOWS AS DEED SIGNED

Berlin, (AP)—On the day on which his son, Prince Emmanuel, took the monastic vows in the Benedictine abbey of Norheim as Brother Eusebius of the Benedictines, the Prince of Thurn and Taxis deeded the cloister church and all the vast domain of Norheim to the Order of the Benedictines, which up to then had occupied the premises merely as tenant. The value of the deeded property is estimated at over $500,000 marks. In return the Prince of Thurn and Taxis was appointed patron of the abbey, which was founded by a bishop of Augsburg in 1065.

GRANGE ELECTS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 21 (AP)—Louis J. Taber of Columbus, Ohio was re-elected master of the National Grange here today. It will be Taber's third successive term.

Other officers elected were: Overseer, David H. Agans, Three Bridges, N. J.; lecturer, James C. Farmer, South Newberry, N. H.; steward, Herman Ihd, Waukegan, Wis.; assistant steward, Ralph W. Smith, Newton, Iowa; chaplain, W. W. Beal, Nampa, Idaho.

After days of ritualistic work, the grange today began its consideration of proposals for farm relief, use of Muscle Shoals, Mississippi flood relief, and half a dozen other legislative subjects that are due for action by congress.

Several plans for farm relief are receiving attention of the delegates. National Master Taber said he believed the grange would readopt the farm relief program drawn up at the Portland, Ore., convention last year, which called for the re-natation of congressional legislation embodying an export debenture to give agriculture the same tariff benefits now enjoyed by industry.

PORTLAND CHAMBER TO BE REPRESENTED

The Portland Chamber of Commerce has been invited to send a representative to Chicago in December to attend the Chicago session of the series of grain rate hearings being held by the interstate commerce commission, according to information received by the state public service commission. A member of the state commission also will attend. Two hearings will be held on the Pacific coast early in the year, and the Oregon commission hopes to have one of them set for Portland.

SQUATTERS ON FOREST LAND ASK FOR TIME

Portland, Ore., Nov. 21 (AP)—Emory Davis and E. H. Best, squatters in the Unmpqua national forest today told Federal Judge McHenry that they had tried to move from their holdings within the 60 days allowed them by the court. Their stories were contradicted by Assistant United States Attorney Littlefield.

The judge postponed the hearing until Wednesday when witnesses will be brought from Roseburg to testify for both sides.

Davis and Best, both ex-convicts, men, both disabled and receiving pensions from the government, wanted a place for their families to live and made small clearings in the Unmpqua forest. The forest service ordered them off since the land was classed as non-agricultural. They did not leave and the case was called to the attention of the federal court.

On September 15 they were given 60 days to move and United States Deputy Marshal Loren Cochran brought them into town Saturday to explain to the court their continued presence on the land.

Davis, since his first appearance, has been married to a Mrs. Jennie Love of Roseburg. He claims that he had moved and was back for some furniture he had left when arrested by Cochran.

Best, whose family still lives on the land, told the judge that his wife had refused to move until she had a home to move to. There are three children.

Deputy Cochran contradicted the stories, saying that it was obvious that both families were still living on the place.

A note was found in which fear of creditors was expressed.

This is the third death in Portland from "Black leaf 40", a rose poison, this month. On November 11, Mrs. Seville Heysh and Werner Steiger died when they drank the nicotine sulphate thinking it was wine.

BIRTH PLACE OF OREGON PIONEERS

Champeo park, near Butteville, was the head of navigation in the Willamette river for years, the speaker said, and through negotiations of the state board of control, may be increased to nearly 25 acres by the purchase of an additional 10 acres. With 4802 vehicles passing over the Pacific highway at Aurora in a single day in June of this year, against 1157 in a single day in 1922, the need of another highway is rapidly becoming a necessity, Miller said. Nearly 65,000 people visited the park this year, against 54,369 in 1926, while a great many organizations will hold reunions and celebrations there next year, having already applied for a date.

"Hope, pray and trust that the chamber of commerce and capital city will back the highway at the next legislature and empower the board of control to authorize its construction," Albert Tozier thundered in a few remarks as the meeting closed.

... to add prestige to an already Famous Name

FIFTY years is a long time. Especially when applied to business. For more than fifty years WALK-OVER has been adding to the fame of its products. The fact that WALK-OVER is the biggest selling trade-marked shoe in the world is due to the unvaryingly high standard of quality in material, design, and workmanship, which has been adhered to. The continuous popularity of WALK-OVER the world over, is definite assurance that WALK-OVER is a famous name. We, at the WALK-OVER store, realize this. We realize our responsibility in keeping this reputation. But we are a determined group. We are going to render a service that will not only conform to the high levels represented by the name WALK-OVER, but we mean even to add to the prestige of that name.

REV. GRANNIS' FUNERAL TO BE ON WEDNESDAY

In compliance with one of his last requests, funeral services for Rev. G. W. Grannis, who served as pastor of the First Methodist church of Salem from 1883 to 1899, and who died at Turlock, Calif., Friday, will be held from First church Wednesday afternoon at 1:30. He will be buried by the side of his first wife.

Reverend Grannis spent most of the 80 years of his life in evangelistic work, but always repeated that Salem was his favorite spot and the place where he wished to be buried. Rev. and Mrs. Grannis spent a week in August of this year in Salem at the H. H. Vandevort home. On one Sunday during his stay he occupied the pulpit at First church.

In 1893 George Grannis was called to the pastorate here from a post in eastern Oregon. In 1899 he went to McMinnville where he held the pastorate for several years, resigning to return to Salem as financial secretary of Willamette university. He held this position for several years and then resigned to go east. Into national evangelistic work. For nearly eight years he went about New York state giving talks on the observance of the Sabbath. From New York he went to California.

Turlock was his home for more than 10 years and although he held no permanent pastorate he occupied the pulpit from time to time. He was also interested in O. A. R. work. Mrs. Grannis died in the early 1900s and in 1910 he married again. He is survived by his wife and one son, Frank, who is principal of the high school at Cottage Grove, Ore. He left two grandchildren. Mrs. G. W. Cady of Salem is a niece of Reverend Grannis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grannis will arrive from Cottage Grove tomorrow and will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Vandevort until after the funeral.

A community chest for Salem will be considered tonight by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting in the manager's office at 7 o'clock. The directors will confer with representatives of interested organizations on the matter of chamber approval of a community chest campaign.

... to add prestige to an already Famous Name

FIFTY years is a long time. Especially when applied to business. For more than fifty years WALK-OVER has been adding to the fame of its products. The fact that WALK-OVER is the biggest selling trade-marked shoe in the world is due to the unvaryingly high standard of quality in material, design, and workmanship, which has been adhered to. The continuous popularity of WALK-OVER the world over, is definite assurance that WALK-OVER is a famous name. We, at the WALK-OVER store, realize this. We realize our responsibility in keeping this reputation. But we are a determined group. We are going to render a service that will not only conform to the high levels represented by the name WALK-OVER, but we mean even to add to the prestige of that name.
