Demanding that the public service commission fix a minimum rate that will afford a reasonable return on investment, the Portland-Corvallis Auto Franchise, Inc. may file a complaint with the commission against the Oregon Motor Express, the Farmers & Merchants Motor Transport, Inc., and the Star Freight line, competing organizations. The plaintiffs claim they started in business in 1919 and made reasonable return until 1927 when the defendants began competing with them and cut rates to the point where an adequate return is no longer possible.

George Thompson, successful candidate for the city council in a recent election, was the first councilman to file a report on campaign expenses. He spent $3.50 in winning the councilmanic post over George Wendroth, according to the report. While this is considerably above two percent of Thompson's salary as councilman, there will be no investigation made, it is understood. Members of the council receive no salary and it has been in dispute whether non-salaried officials are required to file campaign expense reports. The practice has been, however, to file them.

STEWART LOSES TRIAL APPEAL

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, lost today his attempt to nullify the senate contempt indictment against him. He must go to trial here later.

Justice F. L. Siddons, in District of Columbia supreme court upheld a government demurrer to Stewart's "plea in bar" against the indictment. Stewart contended primarily in his plea that he purged himself of the contempt charge by a later appearance before the senate Teapot Dome committee, at which he testified fully and answered all the questions he previously refused to answer.

The government contended that Stewart's testimony in April was not given until after he was indicted; that his action in "squaring himself" with the senate committee could not settle his account with the law, which demanded punishment for his recalcitrance at his February appearance before the senate committee.

If convicted, Stewart must serve from one month to one year in jail.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD CAMP AT SITE NEAR SCIO

Boy Scouts of Cascade county probably will hold their annual summer camp at the Benlincourt summit of Corvallis, according to Scout Executive Payne. O. P. West, scout executive at Corvallis, will be in Salem Tuesday to discuss the proposal with local scouting officials.

In the event of a camp merger, West will serve as camp director, with Payne as his assistant, and the Corvallis camp sit in the mountains near Scio will be used instead of Cascade. The local council will furnish the equipment which it now has stored at Cascade. It consists of some 14 tents and a new camp range.

Scout Executive Payne and Rex Sanford, Eagle scout, inspected the proposed camp on the middle fork of the Santiam last week and decided that it would require too much development to be considered as a site this summer. If the camp is not held with Corvallis, Cascade will be used again.

The annual Boy Scout field meet is scheduled for Saturday on Sweetland field. A feature of this meet will be the awarding of a gold medal to the boy showing the finest scouting efficiency during the rally. The judges, unknown to the boys, will circulate around the field during the rally. Later, they will compare notes, look over the results in the different events, and then announce their choice. The medal will be engraved with the winning scout's name and will be a much prized honor among scouts. Major Waller has been invited to act as judge during troop drill and camp inspection.

CHANG APPEALS FOR UNITY OF ALL CHINESE

Peking, May 21 (AP)—Declaring that Japan means China and that only the unity of the southern government prevented a Chinese unity, Chang Tse-Lin today made another appeal for peace in the Chinese civil situation.

The appeal was made through a statement of the northern government's foreign office.

The variety of the Nanking government and General Feng Yu Hsiang's determination to fight, are preventing a Chinese unity, the statement said.

"The Japanese memorandum (on a refusal to permit the Chinese civil strife to extend to Manchuria) is fraught with far-reaching consequences," the foreign office appeal said.

"While we are militarily prepared to meet the southerners, authorities here still hope that an enlightened opinion may lead them to see the futility of continuing a doubtful campaign and only augmenting the international difficulties."

Meanwhile, it was understood that General Chang was preparing for a decisive battle against General Feng Yu Hsiang at Paoingfu.
