

TURNER YOUTH ON HOOD CLIMB HAS CLOSE CALL

Turner, July 21.—A party composed of 29 ministers who had been in attendance at the state Christian conference, with several others, climbed the ascent to Mt. Hood peak recently. The group included the Rev. Earl Conner, pastor of the Turner Christian church. The party scaled the mountain until they reached the top peak in eight hours. When they reached the summit house the storm clouds were so thick that they were unable to see the mountain. Several were forced to turn back when they reached higher altitudes. One of them descending was the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jesse of Turner who had a narrow escape from death. While still in full view of the other climbers the youth crossed the glacier and had just reached the other side when an avalanche came hurtling down the mountain past him. The onlookers were powerless to help young Jesse, and could only await results. Had the avalanche struck him he would have been knocked over one of the many deep precipices far below.

Reverend Conner relates the trip a most wonderful one, and of beauty unsurpassed. This was the largest group that had ever made the ascent in such a short time, and they then descended Mt. Hood in four hours. Mrs. Conner walked with a group of others, who naturally worried until the climbers returned 12 hours later.
