

DAIRY LIST PRICES STEADY BUT NO CHANGES

Portland, Ore., Aug. 21 (UP)—Butter and egg prices were unchanged and firm on the dairy division of the merchants' exchange today. Egg prices seemed in a better situation than butter and as the movement towards stronger prices is not only local, it is considered probable that advances will be noted shortly.

The strength of eggs is rather shown by the advance of Pacific coast whites on the New York market. The best prices quoted on that exchange is not in white although that grade brought 45 cents on Monday's market. Seattle market also showed an advance in egg prices Monday.

Butter prices are considerably higher than they were a month ago, and it is possible that they may have reached the peak of the present movement.

The temporary shortage of peaches in the local wholesale market continued sufficiently acute to stop quotations at present. The falling off of California shipments and the scarcity of northern shipments has served to firm up the price. The few arrivals here are mostly from The Dalles with infrequent shipments from Washington points.

The first straight car load of grapes of the season, from the Sacramento valley, was being distributed by the Pacific Fruit company today. They were Tokays.

WOMEN PEELING AND HALVING 99 MILLION PEARS

Mrs. Housewife, how would you like to start in on the job of peeling 99,000,000 pears and then cutting them into 198,000,000 halves, with a good share of these to be cut into quarters? That is the job being undertaken by some 3,000 women in Salem canneries. For it is estimated over 7000 tons of pears will go through the seven canneries here this fall. It is figured these will pass out around 100,000,000 pears for the women to peel or around 30,000 pears apiece, during the season.

The pears come principally from southern Oregon and according to reports here the big pear crop there is practically sold, the canneries taking a heavy share of it. Some pears were shipped east and stored to be sold a little later when it is hoped prices will be better. California made heavy pear shipments earlier but the market broke on them and as a result the Oregon pears are being held up.

SCHUNKE ELECTED TO CITY COUNCIL

one and Pope gained one, making the result Eiker six, Pope five and Schunke one.

Pope lost his one gain to Schunke on the third ballot, when the count showed Eiker six, Pope four and Schunke two.

The fourth ballot was the same as the third.

There was a damaging Eiker defection at the fifth ballot in favor of Schunke. Result—Eiker three, Pope four, Schunke five.

At the sixth ballot all of Eiker's remaining three went over to Schunke and elected him with eight votes to four for Pope and none for Eiker.

Schunke said today that he would accept the election.

Schunke served as a member of the council during the administrations of Mayors C. E. Albin, Otto J. Wilson and George E. Halvorsen. During the last two years of his service he was chairman of the ways and means committee and the committee on accounts and current expenses.

Alderman Thompson did not offer any clear statement as to why he resigned. After adjournment he mentioned some disagreements with the other members of the bridge committee. Also he said the Capital Journal had been flaying him and he was disposed "to let it have full sway."

The Capital Journal recently criticized Thompson for accepting lucrative employment with the city as foreman of a sewer crew. The Journal put him in the same boat with Aldermen Rosebraugh, Patton and Armistead, who have furnished the city with certain supplies. The Journal took the position that this was a violation of the city charter which prohibits council members from selling supplies or services to the city, and an injunction suit started by the Journal is now pending in the circuit court to restrain payment of claims of the aldermen.

MOTHER CHAINED SON TO FLOOR OF CABIN

the aging mother could no longer carry on and reported "all wasn't well" in the Beeler cabin.

Deputies found Beeler, nude, in a room filled with filth. He had been so shackled that he could move only in a four or five foot space. One chain was about his leg and another around his waist.

The prisoner made no protest when a blanket was thrown about him. He indicated the light hurt his eyes but could not hold a coherent conversation.

"He resembled an ape more than a man," Sheriff Fred L. Richards said. "He had not worn clothes since he had been chained. If his health is good despite his long imprisonment in a room filled with filth."

DALLAS MAN TO JUDGE GOATS AT NEXT SHOW

U. S. Grant has been selected by the Pacific International Livestock exposition management to judge Angora goats at the November show.

Mr. Grant has been for 35 years a breeder of registered mohair producers at Dallas. He has judged Texas shows and was official inspector for registration in the American Angora Goat Breeders association when it was organizing 28 years ago to record the pure-bred lines of Angora goats in America. Registrations now exceed 132,000 goats.

In connection with the fall show at Portland, exhibits of wool and mohair will be judged on the basis of market value for shorn fleeces. Last year George T. Willingmyre, who established the grades of wool for United States standards in the bureau of agricultural economics at Washington, placed the awards. John B. Stump, William Riddell and other pulp county growers are entering exhibits for this year. According to A. C. Gage, publisher of the Angora Journal at Portland, interest in the state fair and the livestock exposition is increasing in Oregon, as Angoras become more numerous.

Tasters Believe Cross Of Cherry And Plum Found

Did a plum wed a Royal Anne cherry in the secret recesses of W. G. Allen's orchard on his farm and produce a little bunch of progeny that is something new under the sun?

He discovered a seedling tree growing in the brush on his farm with fruit on it the shape and color of a well ripened Royal Anne cherry, but with the flavor of a plum and a pit which has a similarity in appearance both to a plum and a cherry pit. The flavor is distinctly that of a plum but some who have eaten it say they can detect a cherry flavor.

Mr. Allen himself is making no assertions about his find.

"There it is, look at it," he says when he is asked as to what it is.

PICK WHITING FOR CABINET JOB

The Republican national convention in 1920, 1924 and 1928. He is about 65 years of age.

President Coolidge accepted Secretary Hoover's resignation by telegram, addressed to Washington, in which he praised the commerce secretary's effort in promoting the commercial and business activities of the nation. The knowledge acquired by Mr. Hoover of business and government while in the cabinet was "unsurpassed," President Coolidge said.

SMITH REPLIES TO WM. ALLEN WHITE

"openly associating itself" with a matter be regarded as personal.

He aimed the rejoinder principally at the Kansas editor, but he intended it to apply to his other critics, including Dr. John Roach Straton, New York Baptist minister, who has charged the governor with being the greatest foe of the forces of moral progress in the country today.

After taking up each bill covered by White, the nominee denounced the whole thing as "unfair, unmanly, and un-American," and added, "I have the satisfaction, however, of knowing that it is not concurred in by the people of my own state who have year after year expressed confidence in me, notwithstanding that a large part of this matter herein referred to was laid before them in the past by agents of my political enemies."

"I am sure that I am right," he continued, "when I say it is not concurred in by the fairminded intelligentsia, thinking people of the country."

PURELY POLITICAL

He said he was "glad to have this matter out of the whispering stage and put in the open." He regarded it as "purely political," and said "when the campaign begins I do not propose to have the issue of that campaign befogged by controversy over irrelevant things, such as the disqualification of a legislator some 20 or more years ago."

"No one in all of the 25 years of my public life has ever dared to make the vile suggestions which emanated from Mr. White, with the approval of Henry J. Allen, publicity director of the republican national committee," the reply continued.

Then, referring to White's cabogram from Europe denying he had "retracted" his charges as to gambling and commercialized vice, and which Governor Smith said was given to the newspapers by the committee as an "official release," it went on:

"What a cowardly course the republican national committee pursued! It issued a slanderous statement through its official publicity bureau and then after its general publication in the press, attempted to evade responsibility by the claim that it had been given out by accident. That is not fair play."

EXPLAINS VOTE

Tackling first White's charges dealing with liquor measures, Governor Smith said there had been "a deliberate attempt" to show that "my votes dealt with a far greater number of so-called liquor bills than in fact they did," that the intent of many had been misrepresented, and that almost invariably republican leaders had voted as he did on them.

Referring to the claim that he had voted to allow saloons within 200 feet of a church or state school any place on Manhattan Island south of 59th street, he asserted this was unfair as the bill in question applied only to the Hotel Gotham which, while within 200 feet of a church, was permitted under court order to serve liquor to its guests by the device of renting a house outside the 200 foot limit, having a hotel employ purchase the liquor in this house and then carry it to the guests in the hotel itself.

HOTEL GIVEN LICENSE

"Fair minded men," he said, "were confronted with the decision as between a license for the sale within the premises of the hotel and the spectacle of bellboys walking through the streets with cocktail shakers and wine baskets in their hands."

"I chose to end the hypocrisy of such a procedure, and in view of the high character of the hotel, I was entirely satisfied that if liquor was to be consumed within the hotel it might just as well be sold in it."

As to commercialized vice the governor took up his vote against a bill introduced first in 1919 and which proposed to regulate the renting of rooms in hotels. In this measure, he contended, was "unquestionably unconstitutional and unworkable."

"On this bill, and this single bill alone," he said, "William Allen White would have my wife, my children and my friends believe that in my long public career I was a friend of public prostitution."

RACE TRACK BILLS

All of the gambling measures referred to by White had to do with

1200 PICKERS GATHERING FOR LIVESLEY HOPS

The Lakebrook hop ranch of T. A. Livesley will become a good sized town this week-end when 1200 pickers with their baggage will take up their abode there for a stay of about six weeks. The pickers come from all parts of the Willamette valley, with a good percentage coming from Portland. A great many families make hop picking on the Lakebrook ranch their annual outing and go home with their pocket-books fattened, instead of being deflated as the usual vacationists find at the end of a two weeks' jaunt.

Picking will start next Monday and will continue for an indefinite period. The picking this year will be up to average, according to employees.

Amusement and recreation in various forms will be provided by the management as usual this year. This work will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Anderson. Anderson is high school coach and has been in charge of the playgrounds this summer. Dwight Adams will take charge of the playgrounds for the remainder of the season.

TORNADO SWEEPS SOUTH MINNESOTA

started after a night of darkness, due to failure of power lines.

Fifteen of the persons injured at Austin required hospital treatment, and three are not expected to recover.

The Minnesota tornado apparently started in the vicinity of Emmons, in Freeborn county, near the Iowa line. It swung northward, missing Glenville and working its way into Austin and then turned to enter Iowa.

As the tornado swept on toward Austin, farm buildings and crops were crushed. A heavy rain followed and roads were flooded and some pavement washed away. More than 50 automobiles were wrecked in Austin by the storm which seemed to pick out and follow Main street, the principal thoroughfare through the city. Starting at 4:55 p. m., the tornado in less than eight minutes had covered a path two miles wide and about two miles long in Austin, where the damage was estimated at $500,000.

All the buildings at the county fair grounds, where the fair was to have opened today, were wrecked.

Doctors at the hospital were overwhelmed by the injured under several handicaps, because of lack of lights and electric power.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Silverton, Aug. 21—Little Colleen Bowen was given a lively party by her grandmother, Mrs. Ed Heald, Saturday afternoon in honor of her thirteenth birthday. Fifteen little guests were present and a fine time was had by all of them. The large tempting looking birthday cake with the three lighted candles formed a most artistic centerpiece on the table around which the guests were seated. Miss Colleen was the recipient of many gifts from her many friends.

JUNE EDWARDS VISITS

Silverton, Aug. 21—Miss Ardith Drake, who has been visiting at the Forest Edward's home near Salem, returned home Sunday evening accompanied by June Edwards, who will spend a week or two visiting at the J. D. Drake home.

"How impossible such a statute was of administration I need not say."

"Declaring he would define in no 'uncertain language' his attitude toward the saloon in his acceptance speech tomorrow night, the governor fired this parting shot:

"I have been called by my party to do for the people of this country what I have accomplished for the betterment of the government of my own state, and from now on I shall refuse to be drawn into any further discussion of these matters."

and then stepped out onto the back porch, which overlooks a small garden in the rear, and near where is a cistern and pump furnishing the water supply in dry weather. Some distance away Hoover saw the well from which, as a boy, he drew water.

Hoover wore a doublebreasted suit of his favorite color, navy blue. Mrs. Hoover had on a white dress with a black crepe de chine coat with a cape collar and a small black hat. Mrs. Carran, who rode with the Hoovers from the station, also was in black with a black bonnet. Mrs. Scollers had on a black and white figured summer dress.

Sen. Smith W. Brookhart called at the Scollers home to greet the candidate, to whom he has pledged support. A number of Iowa congressmen as well as party leaders also were on hand.

$100,000 BLOCK BRIDGE BONDS BRING PREMIUM

The firm of George H. Burr, Conrad and Broom was highest bidder at the city council meeting last night for a $100,000 issue of Salem bridge bonds. The successful bidder was $1002.51 for each $1000 of the issue.

There were five bidders, as follows: Security Savings & Trust company, $1000.99; George H. Burr, Conrad & Broom, $1002.51; A. B. Wakeman company, $97.07; Harris Trust & Savings bank of Chicago, a premium of $77 on the entire issue, all or none; Freeman, Smith & Camp, $1000.53.

When the Wakeman bid was read City Recorder Poulsen stated that the bid would not be considered because it was below par. Since the Wakeman company was the successful bidder on a previous issue the bid was something of a surprise to members of the council.

A representative of the company later said that Wakeman had purposely bid low for the reason that he had "got stuck" on an issue of Eugene bonds.

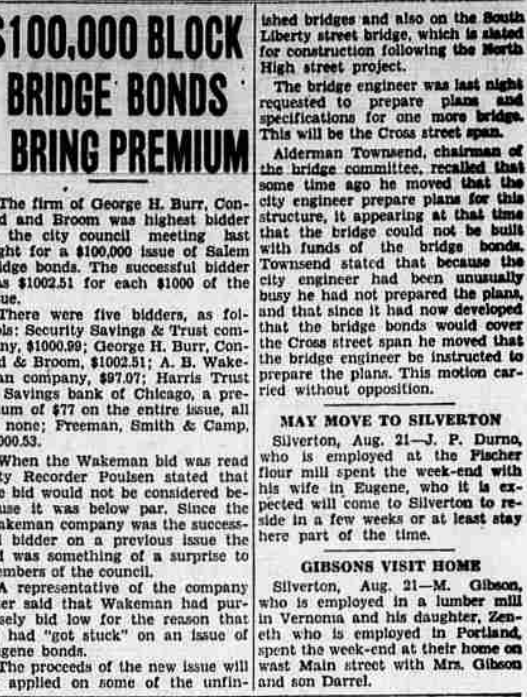

The proceeds of the new issue will be applied on some of the unfinished bridges and also on the South Liberty street bridge, which is slated for construction following the World High street project.
