VETERANS SEEK $371,000 REFUND

plate any such restriction of its benefits.

Admitting that the legislature was authorized by the language of the constitutional amendment to enact such legislation as was deemed necessary to execute and carry the act into effect, the plaintiffs will contend that the amendment itself sets up definitely the qualifications of those who are to receive its benefits, that the refund of previous benefits received from the state is not included in these explicit qualifications, and that the legislature and the bonus commission have exceeded the authority vested in them by the enabling act in attempting to construe the language of the amendment which, the courts have held, is not subject to any construction other than which is explicitly stated.

The qualifications set up for eligibility to the benefits of both the education aid and the bonus acts are practically identical and it is pointed out that all of those who have received educational aid are also qualified to receive either a loan or cash bonus under the constitutional amendment.

Since 1922 a total of $371,163.57 has been refunded by applicants for cash bonuses and loans, and has been returned to the state's general fund, from which it was originally expended under the provisions of the educational aid act of the legislature in 1919.

WOULD INCREASE DEFICIT

Should the contention of the plainiff-veterans that these refunds are illegal and should be returned to those required to make them be sustained, repayment of this $371,000 would come out of the general fund of the state at a time when T. B. Kay, state treasurer, estimates the state deficit for the biennium will be around $1,000,000, and Sam Kozer, secretary of state, forsees a shortage of at least $1,500,000.

Some state officials do not take the threat of the state being compelled to make good on this $371,000 seriously, however, taking the position that even though the court should declare the protested refunds illegal the state would not be required to pay the money back, but would be required to refund only that money collected from persons who had received bonus payments since the court decision.

Woodburn, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Frank Waldorf and daughters, Ellen and Fay, of Eugene spent a week at the home of Mayor and Mrs. W. H. Broyles. They were joined on Sunday by Mrs. Waldorf and returned home in the evening.
