

MT. ANGEL MEN HOST TO CREAMERY MEMBERS

POWDERED MILK OUTLOOK GOOD, BERNING SAYS

MT. ANGEL—The annual patron's meeting and opening day of the new milk drying plant of the Mt. Angel Cooperative Creamery, was held Thursday in the school auditorium and attended by about 600 patrons, who came from the vicinities of Hubbard, Molalla, Scio, Jordan and intervening territory.

The meeting opened with an address of welcome by the president R. J. Berning. In his address he spoke about the new milk drying plant and the milk business in general. The creamery is now getting more than 8000 pounds of milk a day, more than they ever dreamed of getting. They dry the buttermilk and skimmed milk, and use the cream for butter. It takes 100 pounds of milk for nine pounds of powdered milk, which is used for both feed and human consumption, as well as in bakeries, candy and ice cream factories. He also pointed out that in the last month's government report more powdered milk was used than manufactured, which showed that the powdered milk outlook is good. The various Portland concerns tested the creamery's powdered milk and claimed it to be the best ever received.

The creamery officials heard that C. L. Mitchell, production manager of the Challenge Cream and Butter association of Los Angeles was north and invited him to tell the patrons about his experiences in cooperative marketing. He told how well his concern has flourished by successful cooperative marketing.

At noon a free dinner was served in the dining room by the creamery company. The Mt. Angel business men waited table for about 600 dairymen. Following dinner everyone inspected the new milk drying plant while in operation. This plant was just completed and is free of debt, the creamery paying for the plant out of the past earnings of the company.

At 2 o'clock, R. H. Kipp of the Portland chamber of commerce gave a very interesting talk on cooperation.

The creamery was organized 16 years ago and is considered one of the most successful cooperative creameries in this part of the country.

Frank Hettwer is the present manager of the creamery. R. J. Berning is president; Martin Root-vold, vice-president, and the directors are J. D. Erntson, Charles Borchler and Joseph Berni.

The meeting, which was very successful from every standpoint, closed with musical selections and songs by the Mt. Angel academy and normal school of music.

The program included a piano duet by Doris Cannon and Edith Hannon; vocal solo, by Pauline Saalfeld; reading, by Blanche Compeau; vocal solo, by Mary McGrath; guitar and mandolin duet, by Dorothy and Martha Buchtmann; recitation, by Mabel Schwab; vocal duet, by Grace Smith and Rose Schwab; recitation, by Pauline Saalfeld; vocal solo, by Alphonse Braun; recitation, by Grace Smith and a chorus by the students.

HE LOST HIS JOB; BLAMES TALKIES

Jiggs, famous orang-utan of the films has been forced to retire at the San Diego zoo because of untidiness of his voice for the talking movies. Hence the downcast expression. The trained orang-utan was brought to Hollywood from Borneo five years ago.

ROAD BOOSTER MEETING HELD STAYTON HALL

Stayton—The Cascade highway meeting at the Star theater was called to order by the chairman, W. A. Weddle, who explained that on account of fog some of the people expected to be a distance would not be able to attend.

Dr. P. A. Lear of Silverton, president of the Cascade highway committee, was then introduced and emphasized the saving of about 20 miles, in building, in travel, in upkeep, between the southern end of the Willamette valley and Portland, in addition to opening up a new territory along the foothills of the Cascades. He said the object of these meetings is to get the state to establish a permanent survey of this road that time and money may be considered in the future building of roads through which it passes; Marion and Clackamas counties now have some very crooked roads. These are a menace to travel and a useless expense in upkeep. He said Portland men were very enthusiastic at the meeting held there last week.

Mayor George Keech of Stayton was then introduced and emphasized the fact that the association is working on an industrial highway into Portland and that the immediate program of survey would not create additional taxes.

"We are not in competition with established tourist highways, but we want to build a highway to take care of the heavy traffic from the foothills of the Cascades, thereby relieving the central tourist highways," he said. His slogan "Straight as the crow flies from Columbia river to Eugene" brought hearty applause.

Mr. Eugene Coburg was introduced and went over the history of efforts that had been made by the highway on the east side of the river from Harrisburg south. He heartily endorsed the Cascade highway association and their work.

Gordon T. Tapp, of Molalla, was introduced as the "Father of the Cascade highway" and from his talk all knew he was proud of the child. He referred to the roads built in Rome centuries ago over which he had traveled, and said roads are the best monuments civilized people can leave to future generations, and new comers refuse to settle away from highways.

Musical numbers were given by Ernest Aegeter, violin, accompanied by Quenton Gehlen; Mrs. Marcella Mayo, accompanied by Mrs. Besie Korinek, vocal solos and Mrs. William Swift, accompanied by Mrs. Korinek, violin selections.

Several delegates from Junction City, Molalla and Silverton and different parts of the country were present. Other meetings are planned to be held soon at different points.

Frances Reed, 18, of Veeburg, Ind., won girls leadership honors in 4H rural club work at the meeting of farm clubs in Chicago. She is a freshman at Purdue university.

CHANCE RITES HELD THURSDAY AT MILL CITY

Mill City—Funeral services were held Thursday for Mrs. P. E. Chance, 36, at the Christian church, Rev. A. C. Bates officiated. Mrs. Chance was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carter and was born in Midland county, Mich., June 6, 1892, moving to Oregon with her parents in 1902, settling at Gates.

She was married to Percy Chance at the age of 17, locating at Berry and later moving to Mill City where she had lived ever since. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, Frances and one son, Frank; her parents, of Mill City; five sisters, Mrs. C. L. Miller, Portland; Mrs. E. Achison, Brawley, Calif.; Mrs. W. B. Brown, Moundsville, W. Va.; Mrs. E. Billinger, Riddle, Ore., and Mrs. Ray Plymouth of Mill City.

Mrs. Chance was a past president of the W. B. A. and past noble grand of the Rebekahs. The funeral rites of the Rebekahs were conferred at the church and grave.

SEASONAL RELIEF CALL IS ISSUED

Woodburn—A call has been made by Mayor W. H. Broyles for cooked food, clothing, vegetables or money to fill Christmas boxes for the worthy poor of the city. The committee will be at the city hall at 10 o'clock on Monday morning to distribute the articles contributed and it is requested that donations be left at the council room before 10 o'clock on Monday if possible.

There are many needy families in the city whose Christmas will be a cheerless one unless the public responds with a generous amount of cash or other needed articles.

PUZZLING QUESTION BEFORE COMMISSION

The state industrial accident commission has a puzzling question to solve in the claim for compensation presented by the widow of the late J. P. Hunter, Brwnsville chief of police, who was accidentally killed while hunting deer. The accident happened near Grants Pass, and the claim is set up that Hunter went to that place on official business and that the hunting was incidental, therefore that the widow should receive compensation from the state.

DECORATED STREETS PLEASE STAYTONITES

Stayton—Stayton streets present a festive appearance with the green trees placed all along the main street. The Mountain States Power company has a large lighted tree at the end of the street. Windows are decorated in a fitting way for the season. The First National bank has a very attractive window.

MRS. BLAKLEY ILL

Stayton—Mrs. Frank Blakley has been quite ill the past few days with an attack of lumbago. Mr. Blakley is janitor at the school.

DRAMATIC CLUB OF SCIO GIVES COMEDY

Scio—Fifteen members of the dramatic club of the Scio schools acquitted themselves creditably Tuesday night at the high school auditorium in the presentation of the one-act comedy, "One Gift Above Another." Considering the brief period devoted to preparation, the cast did remarkably well and the spectators showed appreciation by frequent applause and encore.

In addition to the play, a splendid vocal and literary program was given. The proceeds are to be used in meeting a financial obligation assumed by the school several months ago in connection with Near East relief.

SCIO MASONS PICK OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Scio—Election of officers for the ensuing year took place at the Scio Masonic hall Saturday evening, with the following result:

Roy L. Hixon, W. M.; Jack Brock, S. W.; Ed. Holland, J. W.; J. S. Sticha, secretary; E. D. Myers, treasurer. Public installation will take place at the hall on the evening of St. John's day, Dec. 27. J. T. Brock was re-elected trustee, the secretary and the treasurer also being elected. Rolla Shelton is the retiring presiding officer, and he is also chairman of the committee on arrangements for the installation ceremonies. The appointive officers will be named by the new master within a few days in order that they may be installed next Thursday evening.

The Master Mason's degree was conferred on W. J. Kelly of lower Thomas creek, James Johnson, of the Jefferson lodge, presiding during the ceremonies. George Marlat, district deputy grand master, also assisted in the work.

STORES TO REMAIN OPEN LATER HOURS

Silverton—The Silverton Credit League at its last meeting decided to keep the stores open on Friday, Saturday, and Monday nights.

There will be a call meeting of this league after the holidays at which time all business people running a credit business will be asked to attend. There will be a dinner. The meeting will be held for the purpose of presenting plans for all credit stores to go on record as stores to be run on a strictly cash basis.

Julius Allen, Sr., is president and Rex Albright is secretary of this league.

FINE POULTRY AT SILVERTON TAKEN

Silverton—Clyde Ramesey, who resides in south Silverton, had the misfortune to have all of his full blood Minorca chickens, 20 in all, stolen a few nights ago. He has no idea who the culprit or culprits may be. All of the scrub chickens were left. Mr. Ramesey had just started with these chickens and was going to make a business of raising them.

BAIRD TRANSFERRED

Silverton—John Baird, who has been employed for the Union Oil company here, has been transferred to Newberg and with his wife will leave for his new position in a few days.

HOSPITAL INSPECTED

Jefferson—Federal inspection of hospital company No. 167 was held at Lebanon Wednesday evening. Those attending from Jefferson were Capt. J. O. Van Winkle, Sergeant Gilbert Spragg, Privates first class, Ned Stephenson and Charles Rockhill, and Private Verdo Harris.

SEVERAL ARE ILL

Silverton—Lawrence Austin, proprietor of the Austin shoe shop, is ill at his home and his shop is closed. He has an attack of flu. O. L. Drenner, assistant at the Economy cleaners is very ill at his home. Tim Allen is reported as being seriously ill at his home.

BEAVERS TRAPPED ON STREAMS NEAR SCIO

Scio—A fine, large beaver in the Lettermers and Pruitts car attracted attention on the streets of Scio a few days ago. The boys trapped the animal in Crabtree creek near Riverside, and disposed of the hide to a local dealer.

Three of the animals were caught last week, but one was stolen from the trap, the boys reported. George Brook caught a fine beaver in Thomas creek near Scio a few days ago.

BURGLARIES AT SCIO WORRY MERCHANTS

Scio—Thievery continues on a scale that is alarming to merchants and others in Scio and vicinity. Robbery of the Gill general store here last week was followed Friday night by burglaries in which the Armour cream station lost two 10 gallon cans of cream. Entrance was gained by way of the Mountain States Power company's workshop and warehouse, which adjoins the cream station. Nothing was molested in the power company's building, so far as has been ascertained. The front door of the building was jammed by force.

On the same night the Morrison hardware store was entered from the side and rear doors, which were broken open by the prowler. A canvas bag containing three or four dollars was taken from the cash register by the robber, who also appropriated a large flashlight which lay on the counter near the register. Dim fingerprints were obtained at the hardware store and are being used in an effort to find the guilty party.

SURPRISED OFFERED

Silverton—A surprise shower was given Mrs. Earl Hartman at her home in south Silverton Wednesday. About 20 ladies were in attendance. A splendid lunch was served by the guests. Mrs. Hartman was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts.

SCIO MAN TREATED

Scio—Operation on an injured leg was performed on Julius Hrudka at the General hospital in Salem Saturday. The leg was injured while Hrudka was logging several weeks ago and has given him much trouble. An attack of influenza had delayed surgical treatment of the member.

The queen of Spain did much of her Christmas shopping in London this season.
