

BUTTER DEMAND KEEN, COOLERS TAKE TOP EGGS

Portland, Ore. (AP)—There appears a very keen demand for butter to go into storage even though the undertone of the market is more or less wobbly.

Stronger demand is indicated for eggs in the local trade. While fresh consumption is reported as highly satisfactory, the bulk of the lay is going into coolers.

Liberal increase in the local supply of peas has created a temporary surplus here with resulting decline in the price list.

Asbury Park, N. J. (AP)—E. M. Bron, patron of Grand chapter 106, order of Eastern Star, of Atlantic City, Tuesday announced that 22 chapters had resolved to withdraw from the organization and form a new order.

Bron said 200 officers, past and present, of the 22 chapters met here Sunday in secret session to organize the "all around social club."

The withdrawal, he said, was the result of the adoption three years ago of a ritual requirement which made the order of Eastern Star "strictly Christian instead of non-sectarian."

The thousand members in New Jersey who profess the Jewish and other faiths, he added, "can have no other alternative than to withdraw from the order."

Word was received here Monday of the death of G. L. Baskett, 58, native of Rickreall and one time Salem druggist, at his home at Elk City, Idaho.

Baskett was born at Rickreall January 10, 1871, and spent his early life around Salem.

He operated a drug store on North Commercial street opposite the present Fry drug company. He attended Willamette university.

Besides his wife and daughter, both of Elk City, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. H. C. Fox of 165 North 13th street, Salem; three nieces, Mrs. W. Byrd, Mrs. Herman Brown and Mrs. O. H. Hendrick, all of Salem; and three nephews, Curtis B. Cross of Salem, Clay Fox and Vern Fox of Portland. Funeral services will be held in Elk City.

The 700 represented all but a few of the Cook county blind, eligible for quarterly checks. It is a party-mass of the blind, said Joseph Moss, director of the office, that they collect their checks in pairs, not even depending upon the mails.

Being blind, they seem to want to do themselves all that they can. Each check was for $90; one dollar a day, paid half by the county and half by the state to every blind person whose annual income is less than $465.

Some pensioners have been receiving checks since 1903, though only within the year has it been $90 a quarter. It formerly was $20.

Cook county's pocketbook has been thin for many months; but Monday it did not neglect to have $65,000 ready for those who walk in darkness.

POOR HIDING PLACE St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—After hiding under a counter in a drug store until it was locked for the night, Clarence Davis, 40, a chauffeur, helped himself to money and cigars and then found he couldn't get out. He was discovered by a policeman and arrested.

STOCKS REGAIN EARLY LOSSES, TRADING LIGHT

New York (AP)—Coincident with stronger wheat and cotton markets, the New York stock exchange made another rally Tuesday.

Earlier declines had predominated, but shortly after noon the rise set in, led by food shares. Late in the day utilities snatched the front rank with Commonwealth Power soaring several points to a new high on the recovery.

Trading, while more active than Monday, was still restricted. Call money held at 8 per cent, higher than for some time, but below expectations of many traders, with approximately 2,000,000 shares turned.

Leading issues such as Allied Chemical, American General Motors, U. S. Steel and the like progressed on the upside. The entire steel group was strong; coppers were firmer; oils held well; rails were quiet but strong, and special issues advanced sharply in several instances.

The most severe losses included Burroughs Adding Machine, Radio, Sparks Withington and Commercial Solvents.

WIFE'S READING BRINGS DIVORCE

While the invention of printing has been hailed as the greatest factor in civilization, books have assumed a new role as serpents in the Tracy Eden, according to a divorce complaint filed by James Tracy against Pearl Tracy in which the husband alleges that reading has been the foundation of their family troubles.

The complaint states that Tracy is a day laborer while his wife is a good, virtuous, intelligent, self-educated woman. But, he asserts, that by reading she has become completely possessed of the idea that the plaintiff is an ignoramus.

As a result, he says, she has called him a "low brow" and even relegated him to the status of the abysmal brute.

"Get an old Irish washerwoman, she will be more suitable to your lowbrow ideas," he alleges she wrote to him from southern Oregon. This couple was married in April, 1923.

Midred E. Tangemann is also seeking a divorce from Otto C. Tangemann. They were married in Salem in 1925. She charges cruelty that he struck her, cursed at her and has an ungovernable temper.

COLLEGE REGENT MERGER ATTACKED

That the act attempts to prohibit appearance before the legislature of subordinate officials in violation of their constitutional rights. That the senate attempted to confirm by secret ballot the appointments of the governor on the board in violation of the constitution.

That the appointments are inoperative for the reason that the act is a revenue measure with the emergency clause illegally attached, which would make anything done under the act before June 4 invalid.

That it makes interim appointments by the governor confirmatory by a special senate committee, while the constitution gives the governor the exclusive power of appointment.

That the act is indefinite, incomprehensible and meaningless.

Boy of 21 Is Fatally Wounded by Bullet From Gun of Officer

Detroit (AP)—Archibald Eugster, 21, was probably fatally wounded early Tuesday by a bullet said to have been fired by Jonah Cox, a customs border patrol inspector who was guarding a rum runner's motorboat on the River Rouge.

According to two of the wounded youth's companions, Raymond Malicki, 21, and Joseph Lakatos, 20, they were on their way to fish in the Detroit river when they were attracted by shots.

The youths left their motor boat and went to investigate. Malicki said he was walking behind Eugster when the youth was shot and saw a man wearing a customs officer's cap appear from behind a bush.

Patrolman Clayton Fleming, who questioned Cox, said the customs agent refused to admit he had shot Eugster but did not deny he had fired several shots in the air when he saw the youths pass in a motorboat.

Cox was guarding a motorboat and a quantity of liquor which had been abandoned by rum runners surprised by the officers.

Police are holding Eugster's two companions.

DEMOCRATS HOLD HARMONY MEETING

(Continued from page 1) ent, working, constructive organization" in the national headquarters which would not lend its influence to the candidacy of any of the various men who may aspire to the next presidential nomination.

The dinner, which was given by the Jefferson association of the District of Columbia, was made the occasion by Mr. Rasbok to "set at rest all doubt about my continuing" as chairman of the national committee.

Mr. Rasbok's participation in the campaign to elect a president who has taken charge of the new executive committee of the national committee, had been the basis of predictions that a large number of southern democrats in congress would absent themselves in an expression of opposition to continuation of the "Smith-Rasbok leadership."

Mr. Rasbok not only made it clear that he had no intention of withdrawing from the chairmanship, but announced that Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, would become a member of the executive committee to assist Mr. Shouse by taking charge of women's activities, and that Charles Greenhouse of Indiana, would continue as secretary and James W. Gerard as treasurer.

Direct and indirect references to Alfred E. Smith, the 1929 presidential nominee, brought vigorous applause during the dinner. One such reference was made by Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, who charged that the republican party was lacking in policies for dealing with many problems confronting the nation.

Chairman Rasbok assailed republican policies as leading toward a concentration of authority in Washington which he thought was threatening the establishment of a "poorly organized and unworkable and incapable of administration" and ultimately might "well result in revolution."

WHEAT HIGHER ON REPORTS OF EXPORT TRADE

Chicago (AP)—While opposition over removal of the debenture clause was making the senate's acceptance of the conference farm relief bill doubtful, a strong Winnipeg market was adding wheat futures to climb over 3 1/2 cents from the day's opening. Rumors of export business with China contributed to the late strength. July corn advanced above the September in the final trade. Oats followed other grains.

At the close wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents higher; corn was up 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents and oats were 1/2 to 1 cent higher. Provisions were sharply higher.

Favorable growing weather in Canada and reports that the farm bill would meet with strong opposition in the senate caused a sharp drop in wheat early. Cash prices were unchanged. Receipts were 71 cars.

Corn was without any news of special interests and in sympathy with wheat advanced during the morning in a narrow trade. Early shipping sales were 81,000 bushels. Cash prices were unchanged. Receipts were 65 cars.

July oats was as much down as 1 1/2 cents at the opening and although good rallies followed the restoration of strength in wheat, they held fractionally lower until near noon. Cash prices were unchanged. Receipts were 24 cars.

Made in Genoa, Italy." Giovanni Taolo Maggini was born in Italy in 1581 and died in 1628. He was considered one of the five best violin makers in the world, and he had only two dozen violins and less than two dozen violin-cellos. This, and their great age, makes his violins very valuable.

One played over a decade recently was valued at $12,000. Four of the Maggini violins are found in the Willamette valley. One in Hopewell is 237 years old; one in Halem, 256; one in Falls City, 285; and another, the oldest of all reported, owned by a Salem man, is 312 years old. It is said that a Maggini violin might bring $20,000. Miss Finney had a letter from Rickreall, Ore., dated June 10, 1929, telling of the discovery of a violin, made by Connor, which is 281 years old. It has a remarkable history, being found in the Philippine Islands by a soldier dying to make a campfire who struck and broke the box not injuring the violin.

Mrs. A. N. Pearson and her children of Kelso, Wash., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McKenzie. The McKenzies and their guests will spend the week end in Eugene and will return to Salem early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Boyer motored to Portland early in the week to attend the rose festival.

The Ladies' Aid society of Christ Lutheran church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church social rooms. Hostesses will be Mrs. A. Propp, Mrs. L. Propp and Mrs. Selbens.

BURIAL OF WAX DOLL LANDS POLE IN JAIL

Dzialowski, Poland (AP)—Hugo Klein buried a huge wax doll with great ceremony—and landed in jail.

Klein wanted to cash in on his life insurance policy, so he arranged his own funeral and interred the doll as his own corpse. Impersonating his own brother, he sought to collect his insurance, but the company became suspicious and dug up the coffin.

1800 conversations at once through a cable less than 3 inches thick

The earth beneath our great cities is so crowded with pipes, cables, etc., that any further additions create serious engineering problems. Yet the number of telephone calls that must flash underground is steadily increasing.

The challenge to the scientific minds of the Bell System was to find a way for more conversations in existing conduits. Today, by many improvements, cables of 1800 pairs of wires have been perfected. Eighteen hundred conversations at once—600 more than before—can pulse through them.
