G. F. Sherwood, resident of Salem for the past 50 years, died at a local hospital Saturday afternoon at the age of 73 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Hattie Sherwood. Funeral announcements will be made later from Clough-Huston's.

Announcements and introductions were made by Dr. Henry Morris, secretary of the Marion county federation of friends of the county, at the fourth contest of the series of five will be held next Friday evening at the Elsinore. The names of communities competing have not as yet been announced.

Edward Alexander, 14, and Sam Bryan, 16, working on a tip of a farmer who had sold two of the highwaymen a quart of milk, found George Norman, and George Livingston, members of a gang who abducted W. B. Kline, lieutenant governor of Idaho, and two other men after shooting and mistreating one of them.

Norman and Livingston, exhausted after a day and a night of skulking through country patrolled by enraged citizens, were asleep when the boys spied them. The lads gave the alarm and the men were arrested. Within a few hours Tailbot Reynolds, Frank Lans and Emros Snoyland, other members of the gang, were rounded up.

After leading officers to the desperadoes, the two boys ran away and it was several hours before their identities were learned. They admitted that they were "scared stiff."

Called from his home at Orofino, Kline identified four of the men as those who had attacked him, wrecking his car and shot Paul Klidde, who with W. L. Tribbey, attempted to rescue the official.

Clifford Lenz, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lenz of this city, missing from his home here since February 18, 1928, has been working under an assumed name on a farm near Harrisburg all that time, his parents have discovered.

Clifford was located through a tip furnished by a friend of his family who saw and recognized him.

At the time of his disappearance the boy was a carrier for the Capital Journal. He left his home one Saturday afternoon to make collections on his paper route and disappeared out of sight so effectively that a nationwide search revealed no trace of him.

The lad will continue to work for the elderly couple by whom he has been employed, but has arranged to visit his parents here.

Chicago. (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick today lost her contest in circuit court to be appointed sole conservator of the person of her husband, Stanley H. McCormick, incompetent because of senility, dismissed for want of jurisdiction, her petition appealing from an adverse decision of the probate court.

Newton D. Baker, counsel for Mrs. McCormick, noted exceptions to the circuit court ruling and indications that the McCormick family controversy would be taken to higher courts.

Probate Judge Henry Horner several months ago declined to name Mrs. McCormick her husband's personal conservator, holding that conservators had already been appointed in his resident state of California. Her petition was opposed by Harold and Cyrus McCormick and Mrs. Emma's Blaine, brothers and sister of Stanley McCormick.

The number of June brides was augmented by six Saturday when licenses for the marriage of that number of couples were granted by the county clerk, Benoit McCroskey, a high school graduate of Salem and debater of the University of Oregon, secured a license to wed Doris J. Camstock and Polle of Monmouth were awarded the contract for a one-room addition to the Speedie school when bids were opened in the office of Architect Frank H. Struble, Bank of Commerce building, Saturday. The low bid was for $2511.15 and included painting the old structure and several repairs. The district voted a bond levy of $2200 for the job.

QUARTETTE OF SILVERTON WINS STAGE CONTEST

The girls' quartet of Silverton including Beatrice Booth, first soprano; Hazel Goyette, second soprano; Frances Nelson, first alto; and Anna Dreiler, second alto; with Fay Sparks as accompanist and director, was awarded first place in the third community talent series program sponsored by the Marion county federation of community clubs Friday evening at the Elsinore theater.

Four community clubs, Mill City, Silverton, Aurora and Mt. Angel, competed on the program for the silver cup and the right to enter the fifth and last of the series for the grand championship.

A group of members of the Aurora community club were second place winners Friday evening. Their program feature was a one-act comedy, "The Doctor's Office," presented by the following members: Mrs. B. W. Stoner, Mrs. M. E. Manock, Mrs. E. M. Hurst, Miss Elizabeth Fry, Mrs. J. Snyder, Mrs. Zeno Schwab, Mrs. L. Weber and children, Mrs. Percy Ottaway, Mrs. Diana Snyder and Mrs. Fred Schneider.

Little Lovie Lindsey, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nate Lindsey, represented the Mill City Woman's club in the contest, and was awarded third place Friday evening. She sang a popular song and responded with an encore number.

Mt. Angel was represented by Joe Schmidt who played a fife solo, with Mrs. Schmidt playing his accompaniment.

FARMER LADS TRACKED GANG OF KIDNAPERS

Juliaette, Idaho (AP)—Two farmer lads, who admitted that they were "scared stiff" and then ran away, were this village's heroes Saturday—they tracked a gang of desperadoes to their "jungle" after several thousand possumen, including deputy sheriffs of three states, skilled Indian woodmen and farmers, were nearly ready to admit that their quarry had eluded them.

Edward Alexander, 14, and Sam Bryan, 16, working on a tip of a farmer who had sold two of the highwaymen a quart of milk, found George Norman, and George Livingston, members of a gang who abducted W. CHIROPRACTICS PICK MEDFORD FOR NEXT MEET

With the selection of Medford as the convention city for next year, and a vote to continue their affiliation with the American Chiropractic association, the 22nd annual convention of the Oregon Chiropractic association adjourned here shortly after noon Saturday, after a four day session.

New officers elected included Dr. Chester Easter, of Portland, president; Dr. Roy Reynolds, Bend, vice president; Dr. C. W. Hinkley, Portland, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Hans Peterson, Portland, re-elected chaplain for third term.

Members of the executive committee include Dr. George J. Kenagy, Albany; Dr. Chester F. Easter, Portland; Dr. J. E. Long, Salem; Dr. G. H. Thomas, Astoria; Dr. O. H. Mather, Klamath Falls; Dr. Maud H. Flyler, Roseburg; Dr. C. R. Bloyd, Coos Bay; Dr. R. D. Ketchum, Bend; and Dr. E. Woodell, LaGrand.

Although the constitution of the association had been amended by vote of the convention only a short time before without any apparent discord, a hard fight was waged just before adjournment to nullify the intent of the amendment, by one or two delegates who wished to retain their independence of the national group. The matter was turned over to the executive board for final determination as to whether membership in the state association would carry compulsory affiliation with the national body, or whether the latter should be optional.

The resolutions committee failed to report out on the story of an accidental death which occurred in Salem Thursday evening as the result of a dive made by Archie B. Graham, 20, in 18 inches of water. Graham was paralyzed, and an effort to save his life through an operation proved futile.

Advices that were current Friday to the effect that a strong stand would be taken by the convention on the death of the Graham boy, proved fruitless when the committee squashed the resolution, without reporting it back to the floor.

LEGION TO NAME CITY'S AIRPORT

Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, because of its activity in sponsoring and campaigning for the establishment of an adequate airport, will be invited to name and formally dedicate the city's new flying field during the annual state convention of the legion here in August, if a resolution to be laid before the city council Monday evening is adopted.

The resolution is to be presented by Alderman Watson Townsend, who, as chairman of the council's airport committee, has been working actively with the legionnaires and has had an opportunity to witness the time and effort the ex-service men have spent to bring the airport project to completion.

Under the resolution the mayor would be instructed to invite the legion post to name the field and conduct the dedication ceremonies.

MAN EATING BEASTS TERRORIZE CHINESE

Hong Kong. (AP)—Dispatches to the Hong Kong telegraph from Kwangtung, Saturday said that for the first time in many years man eating beasts had terrorized districts within a 100-mile radius of that city.

"In the past week," the dispatch said, "beasts have mauled or eaten ten persons. One girl was sent to a hospital as a result, one tiger has been slain and posses are being organized to hunt for the marauders."
