

TARIFF BATTLE AROUND SUGAR AND SHOES SEEN

Washington (UP)—Sugar and shoes, two items which affect every man, woman and child in the country, are to be made the center of the senate tariff contest, it was indicated as the various forces were organizing for what may be the biggest senate fight since the league of nations dispute.

The independent republican and democratic group has asked the Peoples Legislative service to dig up all favorable facts about these two subjects and other rates in which they are to be primarily interested.

Hearings on both schedules are open Monday in the senate finance sub-committees.

The basic sugar rate provided by the house is three cents a pound with a 20 per cent discount allowed to Cuban sugar. This rate compares with 2.20 cents in the existing law. The increase would necessarily increase the price of sugar.

The basic shoe duty is 20 per cent, with 35 per cent against certain high grade shoes from Czechoslovakia, used mostly by women. This increase would also increase shoe prices materially, as shoes now are on the free list.

The Peoples Legislative service will figure out what these two items and others would cost the consumers in millions of dollars and gather such other data as will be of assistance to those who intend to fight the schedules when the tariff bill is brought before the senate August 19.

It is considered likely the sugar schedule will be changed by the finance committee before the bill is reported. A sliding scale, designed to be more moderate in its effect than the flat rate, is being worked out by some of the experts and may be offered in the bill. The independents however will fight any increase.

Capital Journal and Theater Prepare To Greet "Miss Salem"

From Fanchon and Marco, well-known stage producers, comes word that the "Opportunity Idea," which will feature Miss Salem, known locally as Dorothy Beyerl, will be offered at the Elsinore theater early in July.

Salem theater-goers will recall Miss Beyerl as having been selected to represent Salem in a contest conducted by the Capital Journal to select Salem's most popular and versatile girl to represent the city in this big Fanchon and Marco stage presentation.

In this presentation, according to advices received here from the Los Angeles office of Fanchon and Marco, will be 16 of the prettiest and cleverest girls on the Pacific coast. All these girls will represent their respective cities, the act having been elaborately staged and artistically devised.

The Opportunity girls have been pronounced by Marco Wolf, male member of Fanchon and Marco, as being one of the finest groups of girls ever turned out in a production—a group which will win the hearts and admiration of audiences throughout the country where the act is scheduled to play.

The theater and the Capital Journal are planning a very elaborate welcome for Miss Beyerl when she arrives in Salem.

BOSTONIAN HEAD OF SCHEME FOR FERTILE SARAH

London, (AP)—Dwight Braman, Boston engineer, has convinced the French government that he can make the arid Sahara desert blossom like a new garden of Eden. With this hurdle overcome England is watching his further moves with great interest because of its immense irrigation projects in the Sudan and Egypt.

Braman's plans call for one of the most stupendous engineering feats ever performed in securing an inland sea in the heart of the Sahara. This sea, fed by canals from the Mediterranean, will furnish water for evaporation and thus increase the amount of rainfall. Irrigation water will be obtained by tapping 166 rivers and two underground streams, the flow of which will be augmented by the increased rainfall.

The canal from the sea feeding the artificial inland super-lake will be large enough to handle heavy ships providing cheap transportation for the newly developed land in the Sahara.

At the mouth of the canal, which will be in the Gulf of Gabes, Braman plans to construct a harbor by throwing up a large breakwater. The harbor will be made one of the ports of calls for Mediterranean vessels.

The site of the inland sea is salty land, for the most part below sea level, and is southwest of Tunisia and west of the Gulf of Gabes. The sole purpose of the inland sea is to provide moisture to increase the rainfall thereby augmenting the flow of the rivers in the Aures and Atlas mountains.

A series of dams will control the water in these rivers, while three or

Shoes and Hose Lost in Street

Cambridge, Mass., (AP)—Miss Bessie Baker and Mrs. Cella Myers have asked the Cambridge City Council to buy them new shoes and stockings.

It was like this: They were crossing a street which was under construction when they became stuck in a heavy coating of fresh tar. They stepped out of their shoes, but before they could reach the nearby sidewalk, they again became stranded and had to abandon their stockings, as well. They finally got to the sidewalk in their bare feet.

Lozere, Italy (AP)—When excavating to lower the principal square here, workmen uncovered three pre-Roman tombs containing weapons and kitchen utensils. Prof. Patroni, archaeologist of the Royal university of Milan, decided that the tombs had also been used for burials in the Roman period itself.

four canals will carry it to the land susceptible of being cultivated. The climate and soil, according to Braman, will produce excellent wheat, maize, cotton and sugar corn. It will be the future granary of France and perhaps of the world.

The Compagnie Sahara already has been formed under French law to carry out the project and in a short time the entire project will be submitted to the Parliament of Tunisia for approval.

MARY PICKFORD HERE IN TALKIE

A new Mary Pickford in a powerful story directed by Sam Taylor is coming to Bligh's Capitol theater this Sunday for a run of one week, when "Coquette," Miss Pickford's all-talking version of the Broadway stage success, opens its engagement.

The charming Mary, who will be seen in this story of a gay little flirt, modern daughter of an old-fashioned father, whose dancing feet led her into grim complications, will make her new place for herself in the heart of the world.

One of the famous Pickford curls gone are the childish pout and little girl mannerisms of America's Sweetheart and in their place is a smartly-bobbed chic, ultra-modern young woman, the epitome of today's spirit of youth, culture and the sheer joy of living.

Four Vitaphone vaudeville acts and the Fox Movietone news will complete the bill.

JUNKS CAR AVOIDS TERM Hartford, Conn., (AP)—When an accused man, charged with operating an automobile with defective brakes told Judge John L. Bonee in Police court here he had been "thinking of junking the old car," his honor replied "that's a great idea." The court suspended sentence upon the promise that the car would be relegated to a "graveyard."
