

Vacation Trips Empty Salem Homes

The annual search for pleasure, rest and recreation in favorite haunts at the beaches or in the mountains is being made by dozens and scores of Salem families making life for the left-at-homes a quiet, if not a dull, procedure.

For the stay-at-homes, the weather has for the most part been so delightfully cool that even picnics and swimming parties are less numerous than is usual at this time of year.

So far as formal entertainment is concerned, there has been practically none during the past week, nor are very many affairs planned for the coming week.
