

DAIRY PRODUCE STEADY; VEAL MARKET FIRM

Portland, Ore. (AP)—The same easy tone for lower grade eggs held here Saturday that was apparent the previous day. There has been some decrease of quality within the past week, but production is holding up surprisingly well. Receipts here are said to be considerably heavier than normal.

The situation in butter is practically unchanged. There seems to be more butter on hand now than a month ago. Dealers are moving some into storage but the present prices quoted are considerably higher than normal for this season of the year.

Wild blackberries were being sold to the trade at 25 cents. This was the first offering of any considerable amount.

Red currants are nearing the end of the season. Dealers report Saturday that the supply was getting short. Quotations remained unchanged at $1.50.

Veal quotations, on first quality country killed offerings, continue to hold steady at 21 to 22 cents a pound. The supply barely meets the demand for the quality stuff.

Good quality country killed hogs were active on the front street market Saturday. Quotations were firm at 17 to 17 1/2.

Heavy hogs had a stronger market Saturday. Quotations were 25 to 26 cents a pound. Colored springers were quoted 23 cents, almost a cent higher. Ducks were fully steady.
