New Snowdrift cans
New convenient sizes

New—fresh and inviting in a blue and white can with an interesting modern design that somehow makes you think of the curl of Snowdrift on a spoon.

Convenient—new three and six pound buckets that are just about as wide as they are tall and which permit you to scoop out even the last spoonful without rubbing your fingers on the sides of the can.

And air-tight of course, with the Snowdrift inside the can always fresh and creamy and ready to mix with flour or sugar with just a few stirs of the spoon.

If you have never tried Snowdrift you'll be delighted with the convenience offered by its creamy consistency—if you've been using Snowdrift you'll welcome the convenience of the new sizes.
